Argentina Says New Plot To Kill Peron Uncovered

Scores Seized; Gas, Water Rout Demonstrators

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Argentine government declared today it had uncovered another plot to assassinate President Juan D. Peron.

Government officials said about 100 persons had been arrested by late afternoon, but there was no sign of unusual precautions to protect the President's life.

The announcement climaxed a day of demonstrations, police raids and clashes between state police and milling throngs of students and sympathizers of the Roman Catholic Church.

Demonstrators Routed

Police and firemen used tear gas and fire hoses tonight to rout several hundred demonstrators who were chorusing, "Liberty, liberty," in front of the metropolitan cathedral. The demonstrators dispersed shouting, "Gestapo," as they ran.

The announcement could signal a new wave of arrests of Peron's political enemies, and an end to the policy of pacification he started after the bloody but abortive June 16 naval air revolt.

The Argentine government has announced several plots against Peron and members of his government in the nine years of his presidency. The announcements usually preceded widespread arrests and imprisonments.

Today's announcement said assassins intended to kill top government officials and commanders of army garrisons including Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, minister of the army who quashed the June 16 revolt in a sixhour battle.

Planned Wave Of Terror

It said the assassins had plotted to shoot Peron from a rented apartment as he drove by. Then, the announcement said, the plotters planned to launch a wave of terror by disrupting power lines and communications and attacking radio stations and vital public works.

The government statement said the Catholic clergy, army officers, members of the Democratic party (Conservatives), Nationalists and even Communists were implicated in the plot.

It said they were organized into armed cells and two Catholic schools were used to stockpile weapons. The statement said some arms caches had been seized.

Demos Charge Hoover 'Stacked' His Task Forces

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee today charged that former President Herbert Hoover had "stacked" government reorganization task forces in an effort to "turn back the clock" of government policy.

In an article in its monthly Democratic Digest, the committee accused Hoover of "flagrant abuse" of his authority as head of the Commission on Government Reorganization. It accused him of excluding public power advocates from a resource task force of 16 members.

GOP Termed Anti-Labor

In another article, the Digest contended the Republican party has launched a "one-two punch" attack on organized labor to restrict unions' political activities.

The committee said President Eisenhower "has carefully tried to avoid placing his stamp of approval directly on any specific recommendation of the Hoover Commission," adding:

"As a matter of fact, now that protests against these proposals are pouring into Washington from every section of the country, the administration is trying to detach itself from the commission.

"Only recently Atty. Gen. Brownell ruled that the Hoover Commission is a part of the Congress (now that the Congress is in Democratic hands) not a part of the administration."

Demos Promise Battle

Congress failed to act, in the session just ended, on any major Hoover Commission recommendations. The Democratic committee said the battle over these recommendations will be resumed when Congress reconvenes in January.

In its attack on what it called anti-labor activities of the Republicans the Democratic publication said the GOP is lining up support in state legislatures in efforts "to curb the political activities of labor unions and make state labor laws more stringent than the national Taft-Hartley Labor Act."

Portuguese Kill Score Of Indian Demonstrators

BOMBAY, Aug. 15 (AP)—Several thousand "non-violent" Indian nationalist demonstrators marched into Portuguese India at a half dozen points today, and 20 were reported killed by Portuguese guards.

K. M. Jedhe, president of the "Goa Liberation Committee," which takes its name from the largest of three Portuguese colonies, said 44 marchers were wounded, and scores were missing in the jungles. He added an undetermined number were detained by Portuguese at their three centers—Goa, Damao, and Diu. India wants to take over these areas.

Goan sources said Portuguese troops opened fire on the marchers at Goa and Damao but confined themselves to beating off with clubs those who hoisted an Indian flag at Diu.

Among those who died today was G. Harave, secretary of the Bombay state teachers association.

No casualties were announced by the Portuguese.

Reports of the number of marchers varied. One report said 5,000 demonstrators had marched across the border and that "more are awaiting their turn." Other reports said there were only 2,000 demonstrators.

Jedhe said further infiltration had been suspended to devise a "new strategy."

The demonstration came on the eighth anniversary of India's independence from Britain. Its sponsors originally said 100,000 nationalists would march into Portugal's tiny colonies on the west coast to demand their merger with India. However, Prime Minister Nehru frowned on such a mass showing, saying he did not object to demonstrations by smaller groups.

The gunfire started shortly after batches of Indians began penetrating Goa, south of Bombay, at several points. The marchers carried India's saffron, white, and green flag and shouted: "Quit Goa" and "Goa and India are one!"

Big 4 Consider Making Public Details Of Talks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States is discussing with Britain, France and Russia whether to make public a detailed account of last month's Big Four talks at Geneva. Britain was reported cool to the idea.

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer, emphasized in telling reporters of the discussions today that only the formal conferences were involved. The proposed public account would not be similar to the voluminous report released last March on the World War II Yalta meetings of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Britain's Winston Churchill and Russia's Joseph Stalin.

This means the public would not be given a peek into the informal talks among the leaders at Geneva. Nor would they be told what was said in the lengthy private conversations between President Eisenhower and his wartime friend, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Faure and Russian Premier Bulganin and their aides have said they achieved much of their success at Geneva in off-the-record discussions and social gatherings.

The public apparently would learn little that it does not already know. Most of the speeches in the formal meetings were released in full at the time, and newsmen were given detailed accounts of the sessions by briefing officers.

Schmidt Plans To Seek Divorce

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP)—Airman Daniel C. Schmidt conferred today in Sacramento with an attorney who said the young returned prisoner of war has "flatly made up his mind" to divorce his re-wed wife, Una.

The attorney, Howard P. Welch said he was in conference with Schmidt for over two hours. After the meeting Welch said:

"Daniel has made up his mind. He wants to divorce Una. The grounds will be general—probably extreme cruelty. We don't know where the action will be filed or when."

Welch said Schmidt, 23, decided on the divorce as the "best solution for the whole mess."

No decision has yet been reached, Welch said, on whether Schmidt will seek custody of his 2½ - year - old son Daniel Jr. whom he met for the first time late Friday night.

Schmidt returned Friday from 32 months in Chinese Communist prison camp and faced his wife at a secret huddle in Nevada City, about 50 miles from here.

The slim, auburn-haired girl says she married logger Alford Fine, 21, in the belief Schmidt was dead.

Scientists Say Radiation Poses Heredity Problem

GENEVA, Aug. 15 (AP) — The atoms-for-peace conference heard a solemn warning today that hereditary damage from radiation is potentially the most dangerous of all problems accompanying the extensive use of atomic energy.

Leading experts in the field of genetics agreed that the present danger is not serious, but they declared that precautions must be taken to prevent a threatening increase of radiation as the world finds more uses for this new energy.

Dr. Gunnar Randers, special adviser to Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary general, told a news conference later in the day that "technically there is nothing to fear."

He said everybody agreed that safeguards and controls are necessary, but this should not present any serious problem.

"It can be done very easily, if we want to do it," he said.

Prof. Tage Kemp of Denmark, chairman of a session on the effects of radiation on heredity, said there is no doubt that radiation causes changes in hereditary processes and that the effect will increase in the future as human beings are exposed to larger doses of radiation.

If radiation goes beyond a certain intensity — which is at present undefined, he said — it would present a "potential hazard to the human race as well as to plant and animal life."

He was not referring to direct damages to the persons exposed, but to hereditary changes which would produce a race or a nation "composed of hereditary deficiencies, abnormalities and diseases."

Actor Blasts Probe, Others Defy Inquiry

Polan Denounces Red Hunt As Move To Censor Theater

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A hearing on Red activity in show business was thrown into a brief uproar today when an actor cut loose with a denunciation of the probe as a "star chamber procedure."

"It's a lawless effort to censor the legitimate theater or control the entertainment field," actor Lou Polan declaimed loudly as the House committee chairman vainly banged his gavel for silence.

Spectators chimed in with loud applause.

The outburst was the climax of a day-long parade of stage and screen actors, all of whom balked at answering questions about Communist activity, and berated the hearing as an attempt to muzzle the arts.

"I think the purpose of this committee is to throw fear into the theater," declared Martin Wolfson, 51, a veteran Broadway actor and player in recent hits such as "Guys and Dolls" and "South Pacific."

Committee Challenged

Altogether, six actors and an actress, most of them long-time performers, took the stand, and bluntly challenged the right of the House subcommittee on Unamerican Activities to ask about their associations.

"The committee is intruding up on my privacy as an American citizen," said actor Phil Leeds, 39, a player in the recent stage hit, "Can Can," and on several TV shows.

"In America you can believe in anything," he said, "You can believe in Yogi Berra or that lanolin will save the world."

Like the others, Wolfson brushed aside questions about Communist associations.

"It's no accident," he accused the probers, "that you come here at a time when plays are being cast for the fall."

First Act In 5-Day Probe

The scene was the opening act in a scheduled five-day public inquiry into the entertainment world, and the committee ran into resistance all down the line.

"This is an attack on the theater," said Stanley Prager, 38, a comedian now appearing in the current Broadway hit, "Pajama Game."

Rebuffing questions about Communist membership and related matters, he said: "I believe that what I think and say and with whom I associate is not this committee's concern."

George Tyne, 38, a radio-TV, stage and screen actor, declared there was no "legislative purpose" in the probe.

The committee, he charged, is "trying to control and censor what should appear on the stage of America."

Reds Ask Talks To Unify Korea

SEOUL, Tuesday, Aug. 16 (AP)—Communist Chinese and North Korean leaders yesterday called for a Far East conference to unify Korea, and proposed a nonaggression deal between North and South Korea.

South Korea has rejected similar overtures in the past. A bristling speech by President Syngman Rhee Sunday showed that such measures are out the window as far as South Korea is concerned.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said at a North Korea reception in Peiping that a far eastern conference on Korea should be held and all foreign troops withdrawn from the divided Asian nation.

He accused South Korea of stirring up trouble just as "world tension has been eased to a certain extent." He said the United States had an "inescapable responsibility" to defend truce teams in Korea which are the object of angry South Korean demonstrations.

Premier Kim Il Sung in the Communist North Korean capital of Pyongyang told a rally celebrating the 10th anniversary of the end of Japanese rule:

"We hope that a Far Eastern conference of all the countries concerned with the broad participation of Asian countries will be held to work out a program for the peaceful unification of Korea."

Donald Quarles Takes Over As Air Force Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Donald A. Quarles was sworn in as secretary of the Air Force today in a ceremony particularly enjoyed by Mrs. Quarles.

After Quarles took the oath, his wife rushed up and he kissed her. For the benefit of photographers, he kissed her a total of five times.

Laughing, Mrs. Quarles commented "I haven't been kissed that often in a long time."

She added she thought secretaries should be resworn in at intervals.

Wilson At Quarles' Side

Quarles, who has been assistant secretary of defense in charge of development of new weapons for the last two years, took the oath from Wilber Brucker, secretary of the Army and former chief counsel for the Defense Department.

Secretary of Defense Wilson stood with Quarles at the ceremony. It was Wilson who recommended that President Eisenhower name Quarles as the successor to Harold E. Talbott.

Talbott left office last week, having resigned in the aftermath of a disclosure that he had promoted a firm in which he holds a partnership, by telephone calls from his Pentagon office and on Air Force stationery. Some of the firm's clients were defense contractors.

Impropriety Denied

Talbott denied any impropriety, and said he doubted he had devoted 2½ days to the firm during the 2½ years he was secretary. However, Eisenhower said a question of ethics had been raised. Talbott resigned, saying he did not want to embarrass the President.

Quarles and Talbott both have corporation backgrounds, Quarles having been vice president of the Bell Telephone laboratories. He said when it was announced that he would be secretary that he would dispose of any stocks that might represent a conflict of interest with his new job.

The nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Radioactive Cobalt Theft Still Unsolved

GENEVA, Aug. 15 (AP)—Geneva police said today they were still without trace of a bit of radioactive cobalt one inch square and a quarter of an inch thick which disappeared from the atoms for peace exhibit Saturday—despite an announcement that the person who "borrowed" it would not be prosecuted.

The cobalt was used to demonstrate geiger counters on the stand of a French manufacturing firm. It is not regarded as "extremely dangerous," a police official said, though anyone who carries it about with him for a long period might have trouble with his blood corpuscles.

"Diane" Forces Delay In Trials Of Supercarrier

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 15 (AP)—Builders' trials for the giant carrier Forrestal have been cancelled because of the threat of Hurricane Diane, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. announced today.

A shipyard spokesman said the cancellation of the two-day trials, scheduled to start at 4 a.m. tomorrow, was due to uncertain conditions posed by Diane off the Virginia shore.

The shipyard spokesman said any tests planned by the yard for the trials will be incorporated in the Navy's preliminary acceptance trials Aug. 29-Sept. 1. The Navy's tests may be extended beyond Sept. 1, the spokesman said.

Home Building Drops Sharply

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The government today reported a sharp drop in home building during July.

Non-farm housing starts in the nation fell off more than seasonally last month to 115,000 units—11 per cent under June—the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced. It attributed the decline to a voluntary tightening up of housing credit money.

The number of units started compared with 129,000 in June and 116,000 in July last year.

A bureau official said the seasonal decline from June to July usually is estimated at less than 1 per cent. It was the first month since the beginning of this year that the number of starts fell below the same month the previous year.

In attributing the decline to a voluntary tightening of housing credit funds, the bureau said the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration insured housing mortgage regulation changes announced July 30 could not have affected units started in July.

Disabled Blimp Drifts 10 Miles, Lands In Cornfield

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—A Navy blimp, which drifted out of control for 10 miles after crashing into a runway here, landed in a cornfield near Cassville an hour and half later. All three crewmen were safe.

A Navy spokesman said the 350-foot ship was let down after its helium was valved out.

The airship crashed into this naval base while undergoing acceptance tests. She smashed her landing gear and both propellers.

As a precautionary measure, her crew dumped its gasoline and water supply. This made the ship too light to remain aground and she started free ballooning before ground crews could tie her down, the Navy said.

The Navy immediately sent two helicopters and another airship to follow the disabled blimp. Truck crash crews trailed her by land.

The base here kept in touch with one of the helicopters by radio which in turn flew close enough to the damaged ship to give her instructions with a chalk and blackboard.

The blimp was flown here from the Goodyear plant at Akron, Ohio, and she was undergoing tests prior to acceptance by the Navy.

The names of the crewmen, civilian personnel employed by Goodyear, were not immediately available.

Sgt. Gallagher Denies Killing Fellow Captives

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Nervously clasping and unclasping his hands, red-haired Sgt. James C. Gallagher today denied he murdered three fellow prisoners of war in Korea by throwing them out of a hut in freezing weather.

Gallagher is being tried by an Army court-martial for the murder of Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa, Cpl. John William Jones of Detroit and an unnamed soldier.

A score of Army witnesses had testified that Gallagher had curried favor with his Chinese captors, parrotted the Communist line, and arrogantly dumped the men out of the hut to freeze. Were these witnesses lying? He was asked.

"They're not lying—they're just not remembering," Gallagher said. "That happened years ago (in 1951) —if their memory isn't as good as mine, I can't help that."

Gallagher said he never put Baxter out of the squalid hut where his squad of POWS were forced to live.

Gallagher said he and another POW named Rogers put Jones out on the porch with his sleeping bag, but brought him in again in 15 minutes when others in the squad objected.

As to Baxter, Gallagher said he had seen him walking in the compound and later noticed he was lying on the ground. Gallagher said he brought Baxter into the hut.

Gallagher also denied other witnesses' stories that he had slapped and beaten another prisoner and hung him on a peg on the wall.

Gallagher said that man, whom he said was named Dunn, had just recovered from pneumonia and Gallagher was trying to help him exercise because an English doctor in the camp had said it would help him.

Gallagher said "He was too heavy for me and I couldn't hold him," so he tied him to the peg with a scarf.

Forecasters Warn Storm To Hit Today

Hurricane Flags Flying; Carolinas Directly In Path

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 15 (AP)—Hurricane Diane, packing winds of 115 miles per hour over a small area around the center, barreled toward the Carolina coast tonight.

At 8 p.m. EST the season's fourth hurricane was about 400 miles east southeast of Charleston, S. C., moving west northwest at 15 m.p.h.

Hurricane warnings flew from Brunswick, Ga., to Wilmington, N. C., and storm warnings fluttered in the wind from St. Augustine, Fla., to the Virginia Capes.

"All interests should rush preparations for dangerous winds and tides in the areas where warnings are displayed," the Weather Bureau said.

"If the present course and speed is continued winds and tides in the area where warnings are displayed will begin to increase considerably by Tuesday morning and winds will be increasing to hurricane force Tuesday afternoon."

Tides Above Normal

The Weather Bureau said tides are already one to as much as three feet above normal along the coast and will continue to increase to abnormally high levels over a considerable area bordering the hurricane's path Tuesday.

Hurricane force winds extend out 125 miles to the north and east of center and 70 miles to the southwest. Gales range out as far as 350 miles to the north and east and 170 miles southwest of the center.

Much of the area under warning was hit only last week by Hurricane Connie, which moved to the North Carolina shoreline and drenched the Middle Atlantic states with rains, causing 42 deaths.

Aircraft Evacuated

Diane was threatening an area slightly to the south of Connie's path. Forecasters had expected the year's fourth storm to take a slightly more northerly course today but later found it was blocked off by a high pressure area over Virginia.

As Diane swept toward the coast, military installations, which only last week were alerted for Connie, were again making preparations.

Aircraft based at Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Corps Air Station were evacuated to safer fields further inland. They will remain until Diane either passes or subsides.

The navy at Norfolk, Va., called off a ceremony scheduled Wednesday in which Adm. Arleigh Burke will relieve Adm. Robert Carney as chief of naval operations.

Father Denies He Plans To Bury Car In Cemetery

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 15 (AP)—A father who has had workmen digging a large hole in a cemetery here, denied today rumors that he planned to bury an automobile.

Raynardo Garcia was quoted by the cemetery supervisor as saying that he was preparing four burial vaults for future use of his family.

Reports swept this island city yesterday and last night that Garcia was planning to buy a car owned by his son, Raynardo Garcia Jr., 24, who was killed in an auto wreck about a year ago.

Garcia refused to talk to newsmen yesterday and again today. Robert Dean, supervisor of Catholic Cemetery where the hole was being dug, talked to Garcia at a reporter's request.

Dean said Garcia told him he had never considered burying the automobile. He said Garcia was unable to account for how the story originated.

He said everybody agreed that safeguards and controls are necessary, but this should not present any serious problem.

"It can be done very easily, if we want to do it," he said.

Prof. Tage Kemp of Denmark, chairman of a session on the effects of radiation on heredity, said there is no doubt that radiation causes changes in hereditary processes and that the effect will increase in the future as human beings are exposed to larger doses of radiation.

If radiation goes beyond a certain intensity — which is at present undefined, he said — it would present a "potential hazard to the human race as well as to plant and animal life."

He was not referring to direct damages to the persons exposed, but to hereditary changes which would produce a race or a nation "composed of hereditary deficiencies, abnormalities and diseases."

Actor Blasts Probe, Others Defy Inquiry

Polan Denounces Red Hunt As Move To Censor Theater

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A hearing on Red activity in show business was thrown into a brief uproar today when an actor cut loose with a denunciation of the probe as a "star chamber procedure."

"It's a lawless effort to censor the legitimate theater or control the entertainment field," actor Lou Polan declaimed loudly as the House committee chairman vainly banged his gavel for silence.

Spectators chimed in with loud applause.

The outburst was the climax of a day-long parade of stage and screen actors, all of whom balked at answering questions about Communist activity, and berated the hearing as an attempt to muzzle the arts.

"I think the purpose of this committee is to throw fear into the theater," declared Martin Wolfson, 51, a veteran Broadway actor and player in recent hits such as "Guys and Dolls" and "South Pacific."

Committee Challenged

Altogether, six actors and an actress, most of them long-time performers, took the stand, and bluntly challenged the right of the House subcommittee on Unamerican Activities to ask about their associations.

"The committee is intruding up on my privacy as an American citizen," said actor Phil Leeds, 39, a player in the recent stage hit, "Can Can," and on several TV shows.

"In America you can believe in anything," he said, "You can believe in Yogi Berra or that lanolin will save the world."

Like the others, Wolfson brushed aside questions about Communist associations.

"It's no accident," he accused the probers, "that you come here at a time when plays are being cast for the fall."

First Act In 5-Day Probe

The scene was the opening act in a scheduled five-day public inquiry into the entertainment world, and the committee ran into resistance all down the line.

"This is an attack on the theater," said Stanley Prager, 38, a comedian now appearing in the current Broadway hit, "Pajama Game."

Rebuffing questions about Communist membership and related matters, he said: "I believe that what I think and say and with whom I associate is not this committee's concern."

George Tyne, 38, a radio-TV, stage and screen actor, declared there was no "legislative purpose" in the probe.

The committee, he charged, is "trying to control and censor what should appear on the stage of America."

Reds Ask Talks To Unify Korea

SEOUL, Tuesday, Aug. 16 (AP)—Communist Chinese and North Korean leaders yesterday called for a Far East conference to unify Korea, and proposed a nonaggression deal between North and South Korea.

South Korea has rejected similar overtures in the past. A bristling speech by President Syngman Rhee Sunday showed that such measures are out the window as far as South Korea is concerned.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said at a North Korea reception in Peiping that a far eastern conference on Korea should be held and all foreign troops withdrawn from the divided Asian nation.

He accused South Korea of stirring up trouble just as "world tension has been eased to a certain extent." He said the United States had an "inescapable responsibility" to defend truce teams in Korea which are the object of angry South Korean demonstrations.

Premier Kim Il Sung in the Communist North Korean capital of Pyongyang told a rally celebrating the 10th anniversary of the end of Japanese rule:

"We hope that a Far Eastern conference of all the countries concerned with the broad participation of Asian countries will be held to work out a program for the peaceful unification of Korea."

Donald Quarles Takes Over As Air Force Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Donald A. Quarles was sworn in as secretary of the Air Force today in a ceremony particularly enjoyed by Mrs. Quarles.

After Quarles took the oath, his wife rushed up and he kissed her. For the benefit of photographers, he kissed her a total of five times.

Laughing, Mrs. Quarles commented "I haven't been kissed that often in a long time."

She added she thought secretaries should be resworn in at intervals.

Wilson At Quarles' Side

Quarles, who has been assistant secretary of defense in charge of development of new weapons for the last two years, took the oath from Wilber Brucker, secretary of the Army and former chief counsel for the Defense Department.

Secretary of Defense Wilson stood with Quarles at the ceremony. It was Wilson who recommended that President Eisenhower name Quarles as the successor to Harold E. Talbott.

Talbott left office last week, having resigned in the aftermath of a disclosure that he had promoted a firm in which he holds a partnership, by telephone calls from his Pentagon office and on Air Force stationery. Some of the firm's clients were defense contractors.

Impropriety Denied

Talbott denied any impropriety, and said he doubted he had devoted 2½ days to the firm during the 2½ years he was secretary. However, Eisenhower said a question of ethics had been raised. Talbott resigned, saying he did not want to embarrass the President.

Quarles and Talbott both have corporation backgrounds, Quarles having been vice president of the Bell Telephone laboratories. He said when it was announced that he would be secretary that he would dispose of any stocks that might represent a conflict of interest with his new job.

The nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Radioactive Cobalt Theft Still Unsolved

GENEVA, Aug. 15 (AP)—Geneva police said today they were still without trace of a bit of radioactive cobalt one inch square and a quarter of an inch thick which disappeared from the atoms for peace exhibit Saturday—despite an announcement that the person who "borrowed" it would not be prosecuted.

The cobalt was used to demonstrate geiger counters on the stand of a French manufacturing firm. It is not regarded as "extremely dangerous," a police official said, though anyone who carries it about with him for a long period might have trouble with his blood corpuscles.

"Diane" Forces Delay In Trials Of Supercarrier

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 15 (AP)—Builders' trials for the giant carrier Forrestal have been cancelled because of the threat of Hurricane Diane, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. announced today.

A shipyard spokesman said the cancellation of the two-day trials, scheduled to start at 4 a.m. tomorrow, was due to uncertain conditions posed by Diane off the Virginia shore.

The shipyard spokesman said any tests planned by the yard for the trials will be incorporated in the Navy's preliminary acceptance trials Aug. 29-Sept. 1. The Navy's tests may be extended beyond Sept. 1, the spokesman said.

Home Building Drops Sharply

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The government today reported a sharp drop in home building during July.

Non-farm housing starts in the nation fell off more than seasonally last month to 115,000 units—11 per cent under June—the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced. It attributed the decline to a voluntary tightening up of housing credit money.

The number of units started compared with 129,000 in June and 116,000 in July last year.

A bureau official said the seasonal decline from June to July usually is estimated at less than 1 per cent. It was the first month since the beginning of this year that the number of starts fell below the same month the previous year.

In attributing the decline to a voluntary tightening of housing credit funds, the bureau said the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration insured housing mortgage regulation changes announced July 30 could not have affected units started in July.

Disabled Blimp Drifts 10 Miles, Lands In Cornfield

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 15 (AP)—A Navy blimp, which drifted out of control for 10 miles after crashing into a runway here, landed in a cornfield near Cassville an hour and half later. All three crewmen were safe.

A Navy spokesman said the 350-foot ship was let down after its helium was valved out.

The airship crashed into this naval base while undergoing acceptance tests. She smashed her landing gear and both propellers.

As a precautionary measure, her crew dumped its gasoline and water supply. This made the ship too light to remain aground and she started free ballooning before ground crews could tie her down, the Navy said.

The Navy immediately sent two helicopters and another airship to follow the disabled blimp. Truck crash crews trailed her by land.

The base here kept in touch with one of the helicopters by radio which in turn flew close enough to the damaged ship to give her instructions with a chalk and blackboard.

The blimp was flown here from the Goodyear plant at Akron, Ohio, and she was undergoing tests prior to acceptance by the Navy.

The names of the crewmen, civilian personnel employed by Goodyear, were not immediately available.

Sgt. Gallagher Denies Killing Fellow Captives

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Nervously clasping and unclasping his hands, red-haired Sgt. James C. Gallagher today denied he murdered three fellow prisoners of war in Korea by throwing them out of a hut in freezing weather.

Gallagher is being tried by an Army court-martial for the murder of Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa, Cpl. John William Jones of Detroit and an unnamed soldier.

A score of Army witnesses had testified that Gallagher had curried favor with his Chinese captors, parrotted the Communist line, and arrogantly dumped the men out of the hut to freeze. Were these witnesses lying? He was asked.

"They're not lying—they're just not remembering," Gallagher said. "That happened years ago (in 1951) —if their memory isn't as good as mine, I can't help that."

Gallagher said he never put Baxter out of the squalid hut where his squad of POWS were forced to live.

Gallagher said he and another POW named Rogers put Jones out on the porch with his sleeping bag, but brought him in again in 15 minutes when others in the squad objected.

As to Baxter, Gallagher said he had seen him walking in the compound and later noticed he was lying on the ground. Gallagher said he brought Baxter into the hut.

Gallagher also denied other witnesses' stories that he had slapped and beaten another prisoner and hung him on a peg on the wall.

Gallagher said that man, whom he said was named Dunn, had just recovered from pneumonia and Gallagher was trying to help him exercise because an English doctor in the camp had said it would help him.

Gallagher said "He was too heavy for me and I couldn't hold him," so he tied him to the peg with a scarf.

Forecasters Warn Storm To Hit Today

Hurricane Flags Flying; Carolinas Directly In Path

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 15 (AP)—Hurricane Diane, packing winds of 115 miles per hour over a small area around the center, barreled toward the Carolina coast tonight.

At 8 p.m. EST the season's fourth hurricane was about 400 miles east southeast of Charleston, S. C., moving west northwest at 15 m.p.h.

Hurricane warnings flew from Brunswick, Ga., to Wilmington, N. C., and storm warnings fluttered in the wind from St. Augustine, Fla., to the Virginia Capes.

"All interests should rush preparations for dangerous winds and tides in the areas where warnings are displayed," the Weather Bureau said.

"If the present course and speed is continued winds and tides in the area where warnings are displayed will begin to increase considerably by Tuesday morning and winds will be increasing to hurricane force Tuesday afternoon."

Tides Above Normal

The Weather Bureau said tides are already one to as much as three feet above normal along the coast and will continue to increase to abnormally high levels over a considerable area bordering the hurricane's path Tuesday.

Hurricane force winds extend out 125 miles to the north and east of center and 70 miles to the southwest. Gales range out as far as 350 miles to the north and east and 170 miles southwest of the center.

Much of the area under warning was hit only last week by Hurricane Connie, which moved to the North Carolina shoreline and drenched the Middle Atlantic states with rains, causing 42 deaths.

Aircraft Evacuated

Diane was threatening an area slightly to the south of Connie's path. Forecasters had expected the year's fourth storm to take a slightly more northerly course today but later found it was blocked off by a high pressure area over Virginia.

As Diane swept toward the coast, military installations, which only last week were alerted for Connie, were again making preparations.

Aircraft based at Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Corps Air Station were evacuated to safer fields further inland. They will remain until Diane either passes or subsides.

The navy at Norfolk, Va., called off a ceremony scheduled Wednesday in which Adm. Arleigh Burke will relieve Adm. Robert Carney as chief of naval operations.

Father Denies He Plans To Bury Car In Cemetery

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 15 (AP)—A father who has had workmen digging a large hole in a cemetery here, denied today rumors that he planned to bury an automobile.

Raynardo Garcia was quoted by the cemetery supervisor as saying that he was preparing four burial vaults for future use of his family.

Reports swept this island city yesterday and last night that Garcia was planning to buy a car owned by his son, Raynardo Garcia Jr., 24, who was killed in an auto wreck about a year ago.

Garcia refused to talk to newsmen yesterday and again today. Robert Dean, supervisor of Catholic Cemetery where the hole was being dug, talked to Garcia at a reporter's request.

Dean said Garcia told him he had never considered burying the automobile. He said Garcia was unable to account for how the story originated.

'Father' Of Congress Library Dies At 93

FALMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP)—Dr. Herbert Putnam, 93, the first trained librarian placed in charge of the Library of Congress, died last night in a rest home.

He came here July 1 for a vacation and broke his hip a few weeks ago in a fall. He made his home at Washington.

Dr. Putnam retired as librarian emeritus in 1939 after holding the post for 40 years. He was credited with transforming the library into one of the world's foremost literary collections.

A native of New York City he was the son of George Palmer Putnam, the publisher. He was graduated from Harvard in 1883 and studied at Columbia.

Raiders, Defying British Alert, Attack Army Post

Attempt To Grab Weapons Fails

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Masked gunmen defying Britain's all-out security alert against the outlawed Irish Republican Army attacked a British army post today in the second arms raid within 48 hours.

The raiders—five men in civilian clothes carrying revolvers—broke into the royal artillery training camp near Rhyl, Wales, a few minutes after midnight.

The daring band overpowered a sentry but failed in their effort to grab guns from the armory, and fled in a speeding car when another guard sounded an alarm.

The attack suggested Britain might be facing a wave of terrorism by fanatical Nationalists of the IRA who are trying to force merger of British North Ireland with the Irish Republic.

Police increased guards around public buildings after Scotland Yard got a telephone call from a man—possibly a crackpot—threatening to blow up the houses of Parliament. Security was tightened around Balmoral Castle in Scotland where Queen Elizabeth II and the royal family are vacationing.

Prime Minister Eden's Cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing St. heard a report from Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George on the emergency measures against any new outbreak of IRA violence.

The Cabinet was reported to be considering the possibility that the IRA might again resort to bloody bomb attacks in support of its cause like those it staged before World War II. This could lead to the reintroduction of the Prevention of Violence Act which lapsed last year.

This law gave the home secretary special powers to deal with anyone instigating violence "designed to influence public opinion or government policy with respect to Irish affairs."

The IRA is banned in Ireland itself.

The IRA is "an army and it will take the field against the British army when the time is ripe," Danny Ryan, IRA recruiting officer in Britain, told a London crowd yesterday.

The 32-year-old Irishman ignored the presence of Scotland Yard inspectors and shouted that as the fight for unification of Ireland goes on the "the casualties will be greater."

No arrests were made after the rally but police took the names of IRA officials present.

Georgia School Board Rescinds Two Resolutions

ATLANTA, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Georgia State Board of Education today rescinded its resolutions aimed at teachers who favor racial integration of classes in public schools.

In backing down on two resolutions adopted at recent meetings, the board tossed the matter of teachers' beliefs on segregation into the laps of local school authorities.

The action was taken after Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook told the board existing Georgia laws "go much further in accomplishing this purpose than any resolution that you now have before you."

One of the resolutions, adopted at an Aug. 2 meeting, provided revocation of the license of any teacher holding membership in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People after Sept. 15.

In his statement to the board today, Cook said it is his understanding that the board's objective is to see "that any teacher who subscribes to or teaches any theory of social relations which is contrary to the constitution and law of Georgia will not be employed in the public schools of Georgia."

Cook cited a code section which requires teachers to take an annual oath to "uphold, support and defend the constitution and the laws of this state and of the United States and to refrain from directly or indirectly subscribing to or teaching any theory of government or economics or of social relations which is inconsistent with the fundamental principles of patriotism and high ideals of Americanism."

After a long and involved parliamentary wrangle, the board voted to rescind the two previous resolutions.

Heroic Boy Killed By Circus Wagon

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 15 (AP)—A 12-year-old Superior boy was killed today when he was struck by a truck-drawn circus wagon, apparently as he tried to rescue another boy in danger of the same thing.

David Coon, whose arms were crushed by the wheels of the wagon, died at a hospital shortly after the accident.

A witness, Mrs. Stella Sickler, said that a group of boys tried to jump on the wagon as it rounded a corner, and eight-year-old James Laga apparently was caught somehow on the vehicle.

David then pushed him to safety, but fell under the wheels himself.

Woman Jilted By Duce's Grandson Slashes Wrists

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 15 (AP)—The green-eyed fiancee of Mussolini's grandson, Count Fabrizio Ciano, was still unconscious tonight in a Naples hospital where she was rushed after being found in a hotel room with slashed wrists Sunday.

Hospital officials said Nadia Haenni, 30-year-old daughter of a Swiss father and a noble Russian refugee mother, had also taken sleeping pills.

Police said it was clearly a case of attempted suicide.

Miss Haenni, an Istanbul-born brunette, and Ciano became engaged last month, close friends said. The private church wedding was scheduled for this month.

Yesterday Ciano, who is now with a Milan industrial combine, and two lawyers called on the pretty woman.

Close friends of the couple said the visit was made to end the engagement because of "incompatibility."

Sharett's Israeli Cabinet Resigns

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Izhak Ben-Zvi today accepted the resignation of Premier Moshe Sharett's Cabinet.

The resignation came as Israel's third Knesset (Parliament) convened. Sharett told that body his government will continue in a caretaker status until a new Cabinet is approved.

Lie Tests In Boy's Slaying Fruitless

MUSKEGON, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Lie-detector tests failed today to produce developments in the search for the killer of 12-year-old Peter Gorham.

State Police Capt. Leroy Hunt had ordered the tests for personnel at Camp Wabaningo, a Boy Scout camp at nearby Duck Lake from which the Evanston, Ill., youth disappeared July 5.

The boy's body, reduced to a skeleton, was found yesterday in a desolate woods, 12 miles northwest of here. Examination revealed Peter had been shot in back of the head.

Hunt said the tests were creeping along at a "turtle's pace."

He declined to say how many persons already had been tested but said the polygraph results had produced no new developments. Meanwhile, he said pathology reports from the state police laboratory are expected tomorrow.

46 Seamen Rescued

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Coast Guard reported tonight that its cutter Mendota had picked up all 46 crewmen from a burning Portugese fishing schooner 860 miles off Nova Scotia in the Atlantic.

The men took to lifeboats after the 128-foot schooner Ilhavense Segundo sent out a distress call at 6:25 a.m. EDT today.

Vacationing Ike Tries Golf Game

DENVER, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower swung into vacation rhythm with a round of golf today and looked forward to teaching his 7-year-old grandson how to cast a dry fly for trout.

This was the first full day of the president's 1955 Colorado visit and he spent 2½ hours at his Lowry Air Force Base office before going out to Cherry Hills Country Club for golf. His announced partners were former Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado and Ralph (Rip) Arnold, the club pro.

Eisenhower arrived at Lowry at 8:05 a.m. from the nearby home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud. He was wearing a gaudy sport shirt of blue and watermelon shade, gray sports coat and slacks. He had a cheery "good morning" for the base commander, Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague.

Tomorrow afternoon Eisenhower will travel about 70 miles northwest to Fraser, Colo., to Nielsen's ranch high in the Rocky Mountains for about five days of trout fishing in well-stocked St. Louis Creek.

He will be joined Wednesday by grandson David Eisenhower, who has been vacationing the last two weeks at a boys camp at Estes Park, Colo., about 50 miles northeast of Fraser.

David, whose home is at Ft. Belvoir, Va., near Washington, never has done any trout fishing but his grandfather is generally regarded as an expert. So the youngster, who calls the President "Ike" probably will learn the tricks of the wily trout in a hurry.

Americans consume an estimated 250 million pounds of meat derived from wild game annually.

Archbishop Backs K. Of C. Office Strikers' Demand

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 15 (AP)—More than 200 AFL office workers struck the Knights of Columbus today and the Roman Catholic archbishop of Connecticut backed them up in their principal demand.

Msgr. Joseph F. Donnelly, diocesan labor director, said he had been authorized by Archbishop Henry J. O'Brien to ask the K of C delegates at a national convention in Philadelphia to approve "arbitration of those issues which have not been settled through negotiations with the union."

The union said it had turned turned down a K of C offer for a wage increase and a job study plan because the knights refused to arbitrate other issues, such as union security.

Msgr. Donnelly, who is also chairman of the state board of mediation and arbitration, said he had sent the request by telegram to supreme knight Luke E. Hart at the national convention.

He said the strike "is a matter of serious embarrassment to the church in the archdiocese of Hartford."

The workers went on strike today despite the K of C statement that it would replace them by tomorrow.

About 50 pickets, mostly women, walked an orderly picket line. The order's printing plant, which puts out national publications, was closed down because members of the AFL International Typographical Union refused to cross the picket line.

Drive Launched To End Capital Transit Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — Armed with new congressional authority, the city fathers began fresh efforts today to restore public transportation to Washington.

The District of Columbia commissioners sought an end to a strike of 2,400 street car and bus workers which has dragged on for 46 days and given the capital's working population a 'full course in hitch-hiking. In the hottest kind of weather, too.

Hopes for a settlement were based on a bill signed by President Eisenhower yesterday giving the commissioners, as administrators of Washington's municipal affairs, authority to negotiate a new one-year wage contract with the striking AFL Transit Workers Union.

The union and the Capital Transit Co., controlled by financier Louis Wolfson, have been unable to agree on workers' demands for a 25 cent an hour wage increase, bigger pensions and other benefits.

In addition to providing for municipal wage negotiations, Congress canceled the transit company's franchise effective one year from now. Meantime, the district commissioners are authorized to contract with Capital Transit Co. or some other firm for transportation service.

Since the strike began on July 1, Washington's 400,000 daily riders have been strictly on their own. Those with automobiles took them to work, parking them aslant the idle street car tracks downtown. Taxi drivers and used car dealers have been doing a rushing business, and car pools reminiscent of wartime congestion have been formed.

Today the commissioners opened a series of new conferences with federal mediators, union and company officials. They said they were going over details of recent bargaining conferences, looking for an area of agreement.

There was guarded optimism on all sides but nothing definite about getting the street cars running again.

K. OF C. HEADQUARTERS PICKETED—Some of the more than 200 AFL office workers who struck the national headquarters of the Knights of Columbus picket the office at New Haven, Conn. The walkout came in a dispute with the Roman Catholic men's fraternal order over wages. K. of C. officials said workers not back at their jobs today would be replaced. (AP Photofax)

Production Record Established In July

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board said today that output from the nation's factories and mines hung up another new record in July and was 14 per cent higher than a year earlier.

The reserve board's monthly report on industrial production said output in July pushed its industrial production index, based on average production in 1947, 1948 and 1949, to a new record of 140.

That was one index point higher than the previouss record of 139 in June. July was the third month in a row in which the index rose to a new high. It touched 138 in May—a point higher than the 1953 peak of 137 reached during July of that year.

In July and August last year, the index was at its low point of the 1954 recession, at 123.

Plans To Entomb W.W. II Unknown Soldier Revived

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Department of Defense is reviving plans postponed in 1950 to entomb and honor an unknown serviceman killed in World War II.

Congress authorized the project, but it was laid aside because of the Korean War.

The Army has been given the responsibility of studying the five-year-old plans to see whether they should be used or new ones made.

Under the original plan six bodies of unidentified servicemen were to be brought to the United States from overseas military cemeteries.

One of the six was to have been selected at a ceremony in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, May 26, 1951, and on Memorial Day, four days later, entombed with the unknown soldier of World War I in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va.

The five other bodies were to be returned to the overseas theaters under military escort.

The pyramids were the royal tombs of Egyptian kings.

Two Women Fatally Injured In Car Crash

FT. MEADE, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—Two unidentified women died today in the Army post hospital and five other persons were hospitalized with serious injuries after a head-on automobile collision.

The dead women were in a car with another woman and two men. Two Army officers were in the other auto. They met on Route 175 which forms the Northern boundary of the Army post.

The Army officers, stationed at a nearby anti-aircraft post, were identified as Lt. Col. John Underwood, 42, of Laurel and Maj. David Case, 39, of Gambrills.

Convicts Free Hostages After Abortive Revolt

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 15 (AP)—Rebellious convicts at Washington State Penitentiary grudgingly gave up their hostages and a cache of knives and razors today after an abortive 6-hour uprising was broken up by tear gas and telephone persuasion.

"Everything is quiet and breakfast passed without incident," reported Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr., who led guards in smashing the second inmate rebellion here in six weeks.

Twelve tough inmates grabbed 14 guards at dinner time Sunday, herded them into cells and a room near the mess hall. They made a vain attempt to free 15 leaders of a 26-hour revolt staged July 5, but tear gas turned them back.

Then Delmore contacted them by telephone in the small area they controlled, told them to "use a little common sense," and warned they would be held strictly responsible for the welfare of the hostages.

Thirty minutes after he hung up, shortly after midnight, the convicts released their hostages and surrendered. The hostages were not injured.

"They gave me the weapons as they walked out," Delmore said. "We recovered two home-made knives, a three-cornered file and three straight razors from the barbershop."

Delmore said he made no concessions today except to agree to meet with the men individually and hear their complaints.

Raiders, Defying British Alert, Attack Army Post

Attempt To Grab Weapons Fails

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Masked gunmen defying Britain's all-out security alert against the outlawed Irish Republican Army attacked a British army post today in the second arms raid within 48 hours.

The raiders—five men in civilian clothes carrying revolvers—broke into the royal artillery training camp near Rhyl, Wales, a few minutes after midnight.

The daring band overpowered a sentry but failed in their effort to grab guns from the armory, and fled in a speeding car when another guard sounded an alarm.

The attack suggested Britain might be facing a wave of terrorism by fanatical Nationalists of the IRA who are trying to force merger of British North Ireland with the Irish Republic.

Police increased guards around public buildings after Scotland Yard got a telephone call from a man—possibly a crackpot—threatening to blow up the houses of Parliament. Security was tightened around Balmoral Castle in Scotland where Queen Elizabeth II and the royal family are vacationing.

Prime Minister Eden's Cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing St. heard a report from Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George on the emergency measures against any new outbreak of IRA violence.

The Cabinet was reported to be considering the possibility that the IRA might again resort to bloody bomb attacks in support of its cause like those it staged before World War II. This could lead to the reintroduction of the Prevention of Violence Act which lapsed last year.

This law gave the home secretary special powers to deal with anyone instigating violence "designed to influence public opinion or government policy with respect to Irish affairs."

The IRA is banned in Ireland itself.

The IRA is "an army and it will take the field against the British army when the time is ripe," Danny Ryan, IRA recruiting officer in Britain, told a London crowd yesterday.

The 32-year-old Irishman ignored the presence of Scotland Yard inspectors and shouted that as the fight for unification of Ireland goes on the "the casualties will be greater."

No arrests were made after the rally but police took the names of IRA officials present.

Georgia School Board Rescinds Two Resolutions

ATLANTA, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Georgia State Board of Education today rescinded its resolutions aimed at teachers who favor racial integration of classes in public schools.

In backing down on two resolutions adopted at recent meetings, the board tossed the matter of teachers' beliefs on segregation into the laps of local school authorities.

The action was taken after Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook told the board existing Georgia laws "go much further in accomplishing this purpose than any resolution that you now have before you."

One of the resolutions, adopted at an Aug. 2 meeting, provided revocation of the license of any teacher holding membership in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People after Sept. 15.

In his statement to the board today, Cook said it is his understanding that the board's objective is to see "that any teacher who subscribes to or teaches any theory of social relations which is contrary to the constitution and law of Georgia will not be employed in the public schools of Georgia."

Cook cited a code section which requires teachers to take an annual oath to "uphold, support and defend the constitution and the laws of this state and of the United States and to refrain from directly or indirectly subscribing to or teaching any theory of government or economics or of social relations which is inconsistent with the fundamental principles of patriotism and high ideals of Americanism."

After a long and involved parliamentary wrangle, the board voted to rescind the two previous resolutions.

Vacationing Ike Tries Golf Game

DENVER, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower swung into vacation rhythm with a round of golf today and looked forward to teaching his 7-year-old grandson how to cast a dry fly for trout.

This was the first full day of the president's 1955 Colorado visit and he spent 2½ hours at his Lowry Air Force Base office before going out to Cherry Hills Country Club for golf. His announced partners were former Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado and Ralph (Rip) Arnold, the club pro.

Eisenhower arrived at Lowry at 8:05 a.m. from the nearby home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud. He was wearing a gaudy sport shirt of blue and watermelon shade, gray sports coat and slacks. He had a cheery "good morning" for the base commander, Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague.

Tomorrow afternoon Eisenhower will travel about 70 miles northwest to Fraser, Colo., to Nielsen's ranch high in the Rocky Mountains for about five days of trout fishing in well-stocked St. Louis Creek.

He will be joined Wednesday by grandson David Eisenhower, who has been vacationing the last two weeks at a boys camp at Estes Park, Colo., about 50 miles northeast of Fraser.

David, whose home is at Ft. Belvoir, Va., near Washington, never has done any trout fishing but his grandfather is generally regarded as an expert. So the youngster, who calls the President "Ike" probably will learn the tricks of the wily trout in a hurry.

Americans consume an estimated 250 million pounds of meat derived from wild game annually.

Archbishop Backs K. Of C. Office Strikers' Demand

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 15 (AP)—More than 200 AFL office workers struck the Knights of Columbus today and the Roman Catholic archbishop of Connecticut backed them up in their principal demand.

Msgr. Joseph F. Donnelly, diocesan labor director, said he had been authorized by Archbishop Henry J. O'Brien to ask the K of C delegates at a national convention in Philadelphia to approve "arbitration of those issues which have not been settled through negotiations with the union."

The union said it had turned turned down a K of C offer for a wage increase and a job study plan because the knights refused to arbitrate other issues, such as union security.

Msgr. Donnelly, who is also chairman of the state board of mediation and arbitration, said he had sent the request by telegram to supreme knight Luke E. Hart at the national convention.

He said the strike "is a matter of serious embarrassment to the church in the archdiocese of Hartford."

The workers went on strike today despite the K of C statement that it would replace them by tomorrow.

About 50 pickets, mostly women, walked an orderly picket line. The order's printing plant, which puts out national publications, was closed down because members of the AFL International Typographical Union refused to cross the picket line.

Woman Jilted By Duce's Grandson Slashes Wrists

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 15 (AP)—The green-eyed fiancee of Mussolini's grandson, Count Fabrizio Ciano, was still unconscious tonight in a Naples hospital where she was rushed after being found in a hotel room with slashed wrists Sunday.

Hospital officials said Nadia Haenni, 30-year-old daughter of a Swiss father and a noble Russian refugee mother, had also taken sleeping pills.

Police said it was clearly a case of attempted suicide.

Miss Haenni, an Istanbul-born brunette, and Ciano became engaged last month, close friends said. The private church wedding was scheduled for this month.

Yesterday Ciano, who is now with a Milan industrial combine, and two lawyers called on the pretty woman.

Close friends of the couple said the visit was made to end the engagement because of "incompatibility."

Sharett's Israeli Cabinet Resigns

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Izhak Ben-Zvi today accepted the resignation of Premier Moshe Sharett's Cabinet.

The resignation came as Israel's third Knesset (Parliament) convened. Sharett told that body his government will continue in a caretaker status until a new Cabinet is approved.

David Ben-Gurion, Israel's first Premier who left his place of retirement on a Negev desert farm to become Sharett's defense minister, is expected to head the new government. Ben-Gurion and Sharett are members of the Mapai (Labor) party, which won only 40 seats, a loss of five, in the 120-member Knesset in the July 26 elections.

Heroic Boy Killed By Circus Wagon

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 15 (AP)—A 12-year-old Superior boy was killed today when he was struck by a truck-drawn circus wagon, apparently as he tried to rescue another boy in danger of the same thing.

David Coon, whose arms were crushed by the wheels of the wagon, died at a hospital shortly after the accident.

A witness, Mrs. Stella Sickler, said that a group of boys tried to jump on the wagon as it rounded a corner, and eight-year-old James Laga apparently was caught somehow on the vehicle.

David then pushed him to safety, but fell under the wheels himself.

Drive Launched To End Capital Transit Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — Armed with new congressional authority, the city fathers began fresh efforts today to restore public transportation to Washington.

The District of Columbia commissioners sought an end to a strike of 2,400 street car and bus workers which has dragged on for 46 days and given the capital's working population a 'full course in hitch-hiking. In the hottest kind of weather, too.

Hopes for a settlement were based on a bill signed by President Eisenhower yesterday giving the commissioners, as administrators of Washington's municipal affairs, authority to negotiate a new one-year wage contract with the striking AFL Transit Workers Union.

The union and the Capital Transit Co., controlled by financier Louis Wolfson, have been unable to agree on workers' demands for a 25 cent an hour wage increase, bigger pensions and other benefits.

In addition to providing for municipal wage negotiations, Congress canceled the transit company's franchise effective one year from now. Meantime, the district commissioners are authorized to contract with Capital Transit Co. or some other firm for transportation service.

Since the strike began on July 1, Washington's 400,000 daily riders have been strictly on their own. Those with automobiles took them to work, parking them aslant the idle street car tracks downtown. Taxi drivers and used car dealers have been doing a rushing business, and car pools reminiscent of wartime congestion have been formed.

Today the commissioners opened a series of new conferences with federal mediators, union and company officials. They said they were going over details of recent bargaining conferences, looking for an area of agreement.

There was guarded optimism on all sides but nothing definite about getting the street cars running again.

Lie Tests In Boy's Slaying Fruitless

MUSKEGON, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Lie-detector tests failed today to produce developments in the search for the killer of 12-year-old Peter Gorham.

State Police Capt. Leroy Hunt had ordered the tests for personnel at Camp Wabaningo, a Boy Scout camp at nearby Duck Lake from which the Evanston, Ill., youth disappeared July 5.

The boy's body, reduced to a skeleton, was found yesterday in a desolate woods, 12 miles northwest of here. Examination revealed Peter had been shot in back of the head.

Hunt said the tests were creeping along at a "turtle's pace."

He declined to say how many persons already had been tested but said the polygraph results had produced no new developments. Meanwhile, he said pathology reports from the state police laboratory are expected tomorrow.

46 Seamen Rescued

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Coast Guard reported tonight that its cutter Mendota had picked up all 46 crewmen from a burning Portugese fishing schooner 860 miles off Nova Scotia in the Atlantic.

The men took to lifeboats after the 123-foot schooner Ilhavense Segundo sent out a distress call at 6:25 a.m. EDT today.

K. OF C. HEADQUARTERS PICKETED—Some of the more than 200 AFL office workers who struck the national headquarters of the Knights of Columbus picket the office at New Haven, Conn. Production Record Established In July

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board said today that output from the nation's factories and mines hung up another new record in July and was 14 per cent higher than a year earlier.

The reserve board's monthly report on industrial production said output in July pushed its industrial production index, based on average production in 1947, 1948 and 1949, to a new record of 140.

That was one index point higher than the previouss record of 139 in June. July was the third month in a row in which the index rose to a new high. It touched 138 in May—a point higher than the 1953 peak of 137 reached during July of that year.

In July and August last year, the index was at its low point of the 1954 recession, at 123.

Emil Jannings won the first movie Oscar for his performance in The Way of All Flesh.

Plans To Entomb W.W. II Unknown Soldier Revived

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Department of Defense is reviving plans postponed in 1950 to entomb and honor an unknown serviceman killed in World War II.

Congress authorized the project, but it was laid aside because of the Korean War.

The Army has been given the responsibility of studying the five-year-old plans to see whether they should be used or new ones made.

Under the original plan six bodies of unidentified servicemen were to be brought to the United States from overseas military cemeteries.

One of the six was to have been selected at a ceremony in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, May 26, 1951, and on Memorial Day, four days later, entombed with the unknown soldier of World War I in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va.

The five other bodies were to be returned to the overseas theaters under military escort.

The pyramids were the royal tombs of Egyptian kings.

Two Women Fatally Injured In Car Crash

FT. MEADE, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—Two unidentified women died today in the Army post hospital and five other persons were hospitalized with serious injuries after a head-on automobile collision.

The dead women were in a car with another woman and two men. Two Army officers were in the other auto. They met on Route 175 which forms the Northern boundary of the Army post.

The Army officers, stationed at a nearby anti-aircraft post, were identified as Lt. Col. John Underwood, 42, of Laurel and Maj. David Case, 39, of Gambrills.

Convicts Free Hostages After Abortive Revolt

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 15 (AP)—Rebellious convicts at Washington State Penitentiary grudgingly gave up their hostages and a cache of knives and razors today after an abortive 6-hour uprising was broken up by tear gas and telephone persuasion.

"Everything is quiet and breakfast passed without incident," reported Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr., who led guards in smashing the second inmate rebellion here in six weeks.

Twelve tough inmates grabbed 14 guards at dinner time Sunday, herded them into cells and a room near the mess hall. They made a vain attempt to free 15 leaders of a 26-hour revolt staged July 5, but tear gas turned them back.

Then Delmore contacted them by telephone in the small area they controlled, told them to "use a little common sense," and warned they would be held strictly responsible for the welfare of the hostages.

Thirty minutes after he hung up, shortly after midnight, the convicts released their hostages and surrendered. The hostages were not injured.

"They gave me the weapons as they walked out," Delmore said. "We recovered two home-made knives, a three-cornered file and three straight razors from the barbershop."

Delmore said he made no concessions today except to agree to meet with the men individually and hear their complaints.

Gov. McKeldin was among the last of the 174 persons registered by 4:30 p. m.

Governor McKeldin, with Mayor Roy W. Eves, yesterday afternoon inspected the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge at Riverside Park.

"Is Lovely Bridge"

"A lovely bridge," was his comment to Mayor Eves as they walked across the incompleted span which will replace the present Blue Bridge.

The official inspection of the bridge is scheduled tomorrow afternoon as part of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial festivities.

On his way to the bridge, he stopped on North Liberty Street to greet a number of Bicentennial celebrants, presenting a supply of candy and peanuts to the children and hearty handshakes to adults.

To one of his youthful listeners, Danny McMullen, he presented a plaque made from a fallen limb of the Wye Oak, one of Maryland's most historic trees.

Jury Visits Beach Site During Trial

A jury trial of a condemnation suit involving some 57 acres of beach front on Deep Creek Lake, now in its second day, is expected to wind up today in Garrett County Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Yesterday afternoon the State Department of Forests and Parks, which brought suit against Fulcher P. Smith, completed its testimony after a visit to the lake front was taken by Judge Harris, members of the jury and others.

While on the scene, Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the state agency, explained the use to which the state wished to put the property. The site of the land is on the shore opposite the Cabin Lodge area along Route 219.

The state agency wishes to develop the area into a camping area. During testimony heard yesterday for the state, D. C. Goodfellow, local realtor, and John Swain, realtor of Hagerstown, valued the property at about $50,000.

Kaylor also testified during yesterday's trial. Also brought in as evidence was a plat prepared by Robert Corliss, an engineer of the Swanton area.

He was recalled by the state. Carl Schmutz, local realtor, estimated the value of the property at about $110,000. The defendant also recalled Corliss concerning some other plats and locations.

About eight additional witnesses for the defendant are expected to be heard today before the trial comes to a close. The stretch of land being sought covers about a mile of water front adjacent to a hillside which the state owns.

Smith is being represented by Attorney William C. Walsh while the state's case is being presented by Attorney William J. Gunter.

Bedford Attorney Killed By Son While Hunting

BEDFORD, Pa., Aug. 15 (AP)—A bullet from his son's rifle killed a prominent Bedford County Attorney today while they were hunting groundhogs at nearby Sulphur Springs, State Police said.

The victim was Richard W. Lins Sr., 60.

His son, Richard Jr., 21, told police they were hunting on a ridge and had separated about dusk. The shaken youth declared:

"I saw a dark object on top of the ridge. I looked through my telescopic sight and it looked like a groundhog. I fired and the object dropped down."

The older man died instantly. Young Lins said he and his father hunted in the area frequently.

Coroner Vernon Geisel of Bedford County deferred a verdict until further investigation, but said he was reasonably certain the death will be ruled accidental.

Visitors Here For Bicentennial From 14 States

Registration Will Continue Daily

Registration of former residents and visitors here to help this city celebrate the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial got underway yesterday at City Hall.

The early registrants included celebrants from 14 states and the District of Columbia.

States represented included Alabama, Florida, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Arizona, Colorado, Michigan, New Jersey, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Illinois, Wisconsin and Maryland.

Registration is to continue each day this week, beginning at 10 a. m., in the rotunda of City Hall.

Yesterday's official hostesses were Mrs. William L. Wilson Jr., Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum II and Mrs. Norman E. Goldblatt, all dressed in Colonial costumes.

Visitors Are Greeted

Official visitors' badges, programs and other information of interest to visitors are being presented to each of the people who come here to help celebrate the Bicentennial.

Among the visitors who registered was Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

He was presented a black eyed susan, the official state flower found growing wild in this area.

Gov. McKeldin was among the last of the 174 persons registered by 4:30 p. m.

Governor McKeldin, with Mayor Roy W. Eves, yesterday afternoon inspected the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge at Riverside Park.

"Is Lovely Bridge"

"A lovely bridge," was his comment to Mayor Eves as they walked across the incompleted span which will replace the present Blue Bridge.

The official inspection of the bridge is scheduled tomorrow afternoon as part of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial festivities.

On his way to the bridge, he stopped on North Liberty Street to greet a number of Bicentennial celebrants, presenting a supply of candy and peanuts to the children and hearty handshakes to adults.

To one of his youthful listeners, Danny McMullen, he presented a plaque made from a fallen limb of the Wye Oak, one of Maryland's most historic trees.

K Of C Meeting Slated Tonight

Members of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will meet today at 8:30 p. m. in the council room.

One of the future activities of the council will be the annual corn and wiener roast which will be held on September 4 at Minke's.

Ray Wempe, general chairman, announces that the event will get underway at 6:30 p. m. and will continue until 9:30 p. m. Following the corn and weiner roast a dance will be held at Minke's Cottage Inn from 10 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Opening Day Bicentennial Activities

Jury Visits Beach Site During Trial

A jury trial of a condemnation suit involving some 57 acres of beach front on Deep Creek Lake, now in its second day, is expected to wind up today in Garrett County Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Yesterday afternoon the State Department of Forests and Parks, which brought suit against Fulcher P. Smith, completed its testimony after a visit to the lake front was taken by Judge Harris, members of the jury and others.

While on the scene, Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the state agency, explained the use to which the state wished to put the property. The site of the land is on the shore opposite the Cabin Lodge area along Route 219.

The state agency wishes to develop the area into a camping area. During testimony heard yesterday for the state, D. C. Goodfellow, local realtor, and John Swain, realtor of Hagerstown, valued the property at about $50,000.

Kaylor also testified during yesterday's trial. Also brought in as evidence was a plat prepared by Robert Corliss, an engineer of the Swanton area.

He was recalled by the state. Carl Schmutz, local realtor, estimated the value of the property at about $110,000. The defendant also recalled Corliss concerning some other plats and locations.

About eight additional witnesses for the defendant are expected to be heard today before the trial comes to a close. The stretch of land being sought covers about a mile of water front adjacent to a hillside which the state owns.

Smith is being represented by Attorney William C. Walsh while the state's case is being presented by Attorney William J. Gunter.

Bedford Attorney Killed By Son While Hunting

BEDFORD, Pa., Aug. 15 (AP)—A bullet from his son's rifle killed a prominent Bedford County Attorney today while they were hunting groundhogs at nearby Sulphur Springs, State Police said.

The victim was Richard W. Lins Sr., 60.

His son, Richard Jr., 21, told police they were hunting on a ridge and had separated about dusk. The shaken youth declared:

"I saw a dark object on top of the ridge. I looked through my telescopic sight and it looked like a groundhog. I fired and the object dropped down."

The older man died instantly. Young Lins said he and his father hunted in the area frequently.

Coroner Vernon Geisel of Bedford County deferred a verdict until further investigation, but said he was reasonably certain the death will be ruled accidental.

(1) Notice to property owners on Ridgewood and Warwick Avenues of proposed curbing and guttering plans; and

(2) Provided for advertisement of a public meeting by the Mayor and Council on recommendations for zoning changes in the South End at which protests if any will be heard. This will occur at the regular council session September 12.

The curbing and guttering ordinance provides for a hearing of interested parties at 10 a. m. on August 29 in the council chamber. It involves Ridgewood Avenue from its intersection with Kent Avenue to the intersection with Williams Street; and Warwick from Memorial Avenue to Greenway Avenue.

The zoning ordinance is the result of council's approval of recommendations made by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission. The commission already has held a public hearing on changes and council is required by code to do so.

Principal aspects of the program are:

That beginning at Evitts Creek at the city line east and running the proposed Industrial Boulevard be zoned for industrial purposes.

That the section between the two lanes of the boulevard from Ontario Street to Thomas Street be made a business zone.

That the north side of the highway about 225 feet parallel to and concentric with the north limits of the right of way be zoned for business use from Evitts Creek to Thomas Street.

That when the 225 foot line of demarcation for business use runs through a lot, the whole lot shall be zoned for business.

New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify the Constitution of the United States, which meant its adoption.

96-Year Old Native Of City Returns For Bicentennial

Probably the oldest former resident here for the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial celebration is John Randolph Willison, of Huntington, W. Va.

He was 96 years old yesterday.

Another unique fact about the elderly man is that he was born in the county jail on Prospect Square on August 15, 1859 while his father, Hanson Willison, was sheriff. His mother was Mary Gertrude (Hobrock) Willison.

Willison met Mayor Roy W. Eves when he registered at City Hall rotunda and told him about being born in the county jail. "I didn't need a key to get out though."

Worked At Hotel

Willison worked at the old American Hotel, which his father later operated on Baltimore Street, until he was about 40 years of age. He then went to New York City where he was floor manager for a wholesale toy company. In 1919 he moved to Madison, Wis., where he was employed with a firm which manufactured electric light bulbs.

In 1921 he moved to Huntington, W. Va., where he was employed as manager of perishable freight for the C&O Railroad for the next 18 years. He retired in 1939.

Willison was twice married, his first wife was Annie Griminger. She was the aunt of the late Samual Griminger, who was city clerk for many years. The couple was married May 26, 1882. She died in 1907 and is buried in Rose Hill Cemetery.

For the past 15 years Willison has been visiting Cumberland once every year or so. He said he doesn't know very many people here now, except for a cousin, John R. Willison, 908 Maryland Avenue, and a nephew, Edward Willison, 118 North Centre Street, a brother, Arch Willison, and a niece, Miss Dorothy Willison, both of 201 Fayette Street, and a few other members of the Willison family in this area.

Pioneer Family

The Willison family was a pioneer of this area. Sheriff Hanson Willison was born in the Flintstone section and his father and mother, Jasper and Anna Willison, were also natives of that section.

The Willison family was founded in this section by two brothers, Cornelius and Jeremiah Willison, both of whom came to this area before Gen. Braddock assumed command of Fort Cumberland in 1755.

An uncle of John Randolph Willison was Asa Willison, for many years the Democratic political leader in this section. It was also learned that the elderly visitor's father was at one time a stagecoach driver in the early 1800's.

Willison was married the second time in 1922 to Mrs. Jessie (Toothman) Willison of Kentucky. She did not make the trip here as she is ill. Mrs. Willison is in her 80's.

Willison has one son, John A. of Madison, a retired Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad worker. He has two granddaughters, both graduates of Northwestern University.

Willison said he remembers the Civil War Days in Cumberland. "My family were Southern sympathizers," he added with a grin, "and when Lee surrendered it was a sad day around the house."

Local Man Gets New Army Post

Major Charles T. Mewshaw, son of Mrs. Harry D. Schmidt, 814 Camden Avenue, has been named executive officer of the Galveston (Texas) District, U. S. Corps of Army Engineers. His father was the late Edward Mewshaw, who was master mechanic at the local B&O Railroad shops.

Mewshaw, a 38-year-old veteran of 12 years service in the Army Engineers is second in command of the Galveston District office. Mewshaw and his wife and six children are residing in Galveston.

A graduate of LaSalle High School and Johns Hopkins University, Major Mewshaw served in North Africa and Sicily during World War II. He worked for the B&O in Baltimore, for several years before being recalled to active duty in February of 1947. He served almost four years in Stuttgart, Germany as executive officer with the Seventh Army Engineer Section.

State Accepts New Highway

The State Roads Commission has formally accepted the third phase of the Bloomington-Swanton highway modernization program, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said the third part of the project was the section which started at the top of Backbone Mountain and was completed to a point near the B&O Railroad tracks at the edge of Swanton. A short section inside Swanton has also been paved and widened.

Nothing was done to the section on either side of the railroad tracks as it may be decided to erect an overhead bridge later, Chaires commented.

The final phase of the program on the highway will be from Bloomington to the top of Backbone Mountain. Bids for an overhead bridge across the B&O tracks in Bloomington will be asked by the SRC within the next few months.

Four Teenagers Hurt In Auto Accident

Four teenagers from the Georges Creek section were hospitalized for observation following an accident Saturday night on U. S. Route 220 near Keyser.

Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, were John W. Kamauff, 18, and Harold B. Morris, 19, both of Lonaconing, and Mary S. Kidwell, 18, and Margaret Bayless, 16, both of Frostburg. All but the Bayless girl suffered lacerations and bruises. They were released yesterday.

West Virginia State Trooper Richard Long, who investigated, said Kamauff was proceeding north on the highway when his vehicle failed to negotiate a curve and turned over. Kamauff was pinned beneath the car for nearly a half-hour before he could be extricated.

Trooper Long attributed the accident to excessive speed and said reckless driving charges would be preferred against Kamauff.

Gibraltar is the only place in Europe where wild monkeys are found.

City Will Ask Alternate Bids On New Span

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz was authorized yesterday to advertise for bids for construction of the Market Street Bridge across Wills Creek.

The bridge, estimated to cost $233,000, has been planned by the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore consulting engineers.

The order, approved by the Mayor and Council also authorizes City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum to proceed with acquisition of options on property which will be subject to approval of council.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the city will ask alternate bids on the span, the first for construction to begin in November and the second for next April.

He said alternate bids will be sought to see if there will be any difference in cost if construction is to begin in the fall or spring.

The work can be fitted into the program of the Corps of Engineers at either date, he said.

In other actions, council granted Western Maryland Safety Council and the Western Maryland Division of the Maryland Women's Traffic Groups permission to string a banner across Baltimore Avenue at Central YMCA from Aguust 15-26. The banner will carry the legend "Maryland Traffic Safety Commission—Slow Down and Live" and is in conjunction with the National Traffic Safety Program.

Payments Authorized

Checks were ordered issued as follows: $10 refund on an unused building permit to Joseph H. Reinhart; $40 to the B&O Railroad for preparation of an agreement and first year rental ($10) for the right-of-way for the 18-inch pipe line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; and $440 to R. Z. Shipp, director of field operations for Associated Display Corporation, for decorating the City Hall, Police Station, Central Fire Station, Allegany County League for Crippled Children buildings and reviewing stand in front of City Hall for the bicentennial.

Council acknowledged an invitation to attend dedication of the AFL Labor Temple here Friday in connection with the bicentennial.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was authorized to issue checks to city employes today.

Parking meter Inspector Harry Whisner reported collections of $716.45 the week of August 7 compared to $720.35 for July 31 or a decrease of $3.90.

Flood Control Funds Paid

Payment of $85,000 to the Treasurer of the U. S. was approved as the city's partial payment of its share of construction funds for the flood control project.

Property acquisitions in Ridgeley for flood control were approved as follows: Homer C. James and Emma Smith (this property had been headed for condemnation proceedings but was settled in the meantime); James and Emma Smith; James S. and Rosemary L. Hutton. Several other orders involving payments for legal services in connection with flood control were approved.

Henry F. Miller, 115 Potomac Street, was granted a license to operate a business to buy and sell used scrap metals at 1760 Ford Avenue.

Local Student Graduates

Ronald F. Schoenadel, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoenadel, was graduated from Strayer College of Accountancy, Washington, on Saturday. Schoenadel is employed as a junior accountant by L. C. Grossberg, certified public accountant.

Promotion Of Two Firemen Approved By City Council

Two members of the Fire Department were promoted to lieutenant yesterday.

An order introduced by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan and approved by the Mayor and Council, elevates William Hartung and Charles F. Neus to lieutenancies.

In connection with affairs of the department, Raymond Leidinger, representing the Police and Firemens' Walfare Association, appeared before council to ask what benefits would be given police and firemen if other city employes are brought under Social Security.

Leidinger said since the two departments are prevented by law from coming under the act, he asked if the difference would be made up in pension benefit increases or differential in salary.

Mayor Roy E. Eves told Leidinger no decision on Social Security had been made; council is aware police and firemen are prohibited by law from joining and that in event the plan is adopted by the city some adjustment would have to be made.

He said further consideration of plans will be undertaken at the next budget meeting. The levy must be set by August 25.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said nothing officially can be done for about a year in bringing employes under Social Security. He said he understood that an official of the state of Maryland would conduct an election to see if employes of the city want to come under the act.

Since that is the case, he said it would be a good thing if the association made "a real effort" to contact the U. S. Senators and Congressmen from Maryland. He said he believed two states had been exempted from the exclusion clauses of Social Security and that there might be a good chance to get federal legislation to that effect for Maryland if enough interest is shown.

The city attorney added he did not see how the city alone can afford to give police and firemen comparable benefits to Social Security.

Leidinger asked if the city couldn't increase payments to the State Pension Fund. Finan replied he did not think it could and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson added "It is entirely a state proposition."

Leidinger pointed out there are only two fully-paid fire departments in Maryland — Cumberland and Baltimore—with the latter having a pension setup of its own.

Mayor Eves suggested that Leidinger attempted to get Baltimore to go along with the local department in seeking federal legislation to include them in the Social Security Act.

Cumberland Valley Firemen's Association Opens 54th Convention At Keyser Thursday

Three-Day Affair Includes Gigantic Street Parade Saturday Afternoon

KEYSER—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the 54th annual convention of the Cumberland Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association in Keyser, this week, starting Thursday and running through Saturday. Headquarters for the convention will be in the Keyser Fire Hall, Center Street at North Mineral Street.

POTENTIAL CANDIDATE — Joe F. Burdett of Point Pleasant has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor of West Virginia in next year's Democratic primary. In leaving the Marland administration after six years as president of the Board of Control, Burdett said Gov. Marland wanted him to make a commitment that he wouldn't run as a condition for his continuing in the board office.

Keyser was host to the convention two years ago, and last year the convention voted to return to Keyser again this year. Volunteer firemen from four states, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia form the association, that has, for its motto, "We Labor To Protect, Educate and Prevent Fires."

This year's program is dedicated to the memory of two deceased veteran members of the local department who have died since the last convention. Those whose memory will be honored at this session, are C. E. "Crickett" Leary Sr., 50-year member and local president at the time of his death on August 31, 1954, and Burzy F. Zacot, past president and a 50-year member of the local department, who died November 24, 1954.

A feature of the souvenir program prepared for the convention shows an excellent picture of the large fire hall, as seen from the end of the Keyser-McCoole Potomac River Bridge, in addition to statements of praise for the department from business and professional men.

Directing arrangements for this year's convention are R. D. Diehl, general chairman; J. G. Briley, assistant chairman; J. R. Haines in charge of publicity; H. S. Hartman Jr., invitations; J. G. Briley, program; F. E. Mott, history; J. Keplinger, memorial; M. Hixenbaugh ,housing; W. A. Miers, registration; W. J. Cross, parade; E. B. Kimble, entertainment; Kenneth Rice, decorations, William Carpenter, concessions; Page Entler, banquet, and Karl Welsh Jr., floats.

Delegates will register at 8:30 a. m. in the local fire hall and the opening of the first session is scheduled for 10 a. m. each of the three mornings of the convention. A memorial service for deceased members will be held at 11 a. m. opening day and a dinner will be held at 12:15 p. m. for delegates and members. All meetings will be in the fire hall.

Franklin County Murder Trial Gets Under Way

Vandevander Pleas Self Defense

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—The state rested its case yesterday afternoon and defense called witnesses, in the first degree murder trial of Willie Vandevander, 41 of Cherry Grove, about 21 miles west of here on Route 28.

Vandevander is accused of slaying his brother, Adam Vandevander, 42, also of Cherry Grove.

Being tried in Pendleton County Court before a jury, with Judge Harlan M. Calhoun presiding, Vandevander is pleading self defense. He is represented by Sen. Ralph Bean and Charles Bean, attorneys from Moorefield.

About 15 witnesses were called by County Prosecutor George Sponaugle in the presentation of the state's murder charge against Vandevander. Sponaugle is asking the jury for a verdict of murder in the first degree and the death penalty.

Cpl. O. G. Webley, of the Franklin detachment of the West Virginia State Police is principal witness for the state. He made the arrest and investigated the slaying. Other state witnesses included neighbors and others familiar with the happening and the background of the family involved.

Vandevander father of 11 children was on the stand and described how his brother Adam had broken into his home about 2 a. m. on Sunday, June 4 and stole some provisions from the refrigerator. Adam returned to his brother's home about 6 a. m. at which time a heated argument followed. The defendant told the jury he feared his brother was going to kill him, and he shot in self defense. The defendant's wife was also on the stand, as the only other eye witness to the shooting.

The defense plans to call several character witnesses and attorneys of both sides believe the case will go to the jury some time today.

At the conclusion of this case, probably on Wednesday, George Wattzel, 40, is to be tried on a charge of incest.

Franklin County Murder Trial Gets Under Way

Vandevander Pleas Self Defense

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—The state rested its case yesterday afternoon and defense called witnesses, in the first degree murder trial of Willie Vandevander, 41 of Cherry Grove, about 21 miles west of here on Route 28.

Vandevander is accused of slaying his brother, Adam Vandevander, 42, also of Cherry Grove.

Being tried in Pendleton County Court before a jury, with Judge Harlan M. Calhoun presiding, Vandevander is pleading self defense. He is represented by Sen. Ralph Bean and Charles Bean, attorneys from Moorefield.

About 15 witnesses were called by County Prosecutor George Sponaugle in the presentation of the state's murder charge against Vandevander. Sponaugle is asking the jury for a verdict of murder in the first degree and the death penalty.

Cpl. O. G. Webley, of the Franklin detachment of the West Virginia State Police is principal witness for the state. He made the arrest and investigated the slaying. Other state witnesses included neighbors and others familiar with the happening and the background of the family involved.

Vandevander father of 11 children was on the stand and described how his brother Adam had broken into his home about 2 a. m. on Sunday, June 4 and stole some provisions from the refrigerator. Adam returned to his brother's home about 6 a. m. at which time a heated argument followed. The defendant told the jury he feared his brother was going to kill him, and he shot in self defense. The defendant's wife was also on the stand, as the only other eye witness to the shooting.

The defense plans to call several character witnesses and attorneys of both sides believe the case will go to the jury some time today.

At the conclusion of this case, probably on Wednesday, George Wattzel, 40, is to be tried on a charge of incest.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15 (INS) — It's possible that that chase Marlon Brando gave the press through the court house the other day is in preparation for his first western, a "he went thataway" yarn which marks Marlon's debut in "Boots and Saddles."

Brando has bought for his first independent production for his newly formed Pennebaker company "To Tame a Land." The book, by Louis L'Amour, author of "Hondo" and "Burning Hills," was purchased from the gallyproofs.

With "Guys and Dolls" behind him and "Teahouse of the August Moon" ahead, Marlon as a cowboy will be a switch indeed.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, humanitarian and famed Negro mediator for the United Nations, has given permission to Dick Powell, Charles Boyer, David Niven and Don Sharpe, owners of Four Star TV productions, to do a television program based on his childhood.

The warm, human story of the boy who was orphaned at the age of twelve and of his grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Johnson, who raised him, is now being scripted under the guidance of Producer Warren Lewis.

It will be one of the first important shows of the TV season for the duPont Cavalcade Theatre.

Marilyn Monroe may blow her beautiful blonde top when she hears this: Milly Vitale, the Italian doll, has not only done the Italian version of "The Brothers Karamazov" (Marilyn's favorite project) but will do the English version of the Dostoevsky classic when she finishes "War and Peace."

In fact, Milly is getting time off her current film to make the trip to London to see Producer Raymond Dayton who will make "Brothers" in England.

USA fans know Milly best for her heartwarming performance with Bob Hope in "Seven Little Foys."

Hollywood in shorts:

Everything okay in the marriage of former child star Cora Sue Collins and wealthy Jim McKay — or isn't it?

Frances Heflin leaves today or tomorrow to join Van in New York and swelter out with him his rehearsals in "View From the Bridge" scheduled for September 28 opening.

Now that Vivian Blaine and Manny Frank are no longer making an attempt to reconcile, isn't her new interest Clark Reynolds, a writer?

Joan Crawford, dining at Lucey's with her director Bob Aldrich and others on her "The Way We Are" movie, was very much the lady executive—all business, few laughs.

Sammy Davis, Jr's voice will be in "Meet Me in Las Vegas" but he won't. Talented Sammy sings the narration to the "Frankie and Johnny" dance routine performed by CYD Charisse and Dan Dailey.

If Joan Collins goes through with her plan to hire a L.A. attorney and divorce Maxwell Reed here, it still won't be legal in her native country, England.

Mona Freeman and her new romance Bill Burch, TV producer, double-dating at the Cocoanut Grove with Elyse Knox and Tom Harmon.

Did you know that Michael Rennie used to sing with a band in England? Which makes his possible acceptance of Broadway musical "Shangri La" not as surprising as it might be.

That's all today.

Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, said in a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday, that water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 86,840,000 gallons compared to 97,900,000 the same period a year ago.

A girl most-likely-to-succeed doesn't skip lightly over the word "charm."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A girl seeking a career has to be on her toes every minute from the minute she enters the personnel director's door. Opportunities may be unlimited, but competition is greater.

When a girl applies for a job, no matter what her training, she wants to take along more than just a smart appearance and fastidious grooming. She wants as much charm as she can tote. Charm plays a major role in big success and advancement. An employer immediately senses the attitude and personal attraction of an applicant. My booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career" (send 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me at this newspaper), is an investment in charm for every girl starting a career. Send for it today.

In the meantime, here is a general yardstick to rate your preparation for an interview — a few questions that the Powers School worked out for a big industry executive. He used them to grade his applicants.

1—Does she have a pleasant voice and speech? 2—Does she show the consideration needed for harmonious association with business associates? 3—Does her conversation indicate wide interests and an awareness of the world around her? Does she seem to recognize and accept her responsibilities as a member of her community, nation, and world? 4—Is she well-groomed from head to toe (neatness carries over into work . . . if her hair is neat, her letters are neat). 5—Does she have a happy, positive attitude and a pleasant personality? Happy people are best liked by their associates. 6—Is her bearing graceful? Gracefulness indicates self-assurance and poise—important assets. 7—Is she predictable under pressure? 8—If her figure reflects health and beauty routine—you can be sure she is self-disciplined and probably reliable. 9—Is her appearance one of good taste and fitness?

Tomorrow—Waiting for someone?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15 (INS) — It's possible that that chase Marlon Brando gave the press through the court house the other day is in preparation for his first western, a "he went thataway" yarn which marks Marlon's debut in "Boots and Saddles."

Brando has bought for his first independent production for his newly formed Pennebaker company "To Tame a Land." The book, by Louis L'Amour, author of "Hondo" and "Burning Hills," was purchased from the gallyproofs.

With "Guys and Dolls" behind him and "Teahouse of the August Moon" ahead, Marlon as a cowboy will be a switch indeed.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, humanitarian and famed Negro mediator for the United Nations, has given permission to Dick Powell, Charles Boyer, David Niven and Don Sharpe, owners of Four Star TV productions, to do a television program based on his childhood.

The warm, human story of the boy who was orphaned at the age of twelve and of his grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Johnson, who raised him, is now being scripted under the guidance of Producer Warren Lewis.

It will be one of the first important shows of the TV season for the duPont Cavalcade Theatre.

Marilyn Monroe may blow her beautiful blonde top when she hears this: Milly Vitale, the Italian doll, has not only done the Italian version of "The Brothers Karamazov" (Marilyn's favorite project) but will do the English version of the Dostoevsky classic when she finishes "War and Peace."

In fact, Milly is getting time off her current film to make the trip to London to see Producer Raymond Dayton who will make "Brothers" in England.

USA fans know Milly best for her heartwarming performance with Bob Hope in "Seven Little Foys."

Hollywood in shorts:

Everything okay in the marriage of former child star Cora Sue Collins and wealthy Jim McKay — or isn't it?

Frances Heflin leaves today or tomorrow to join Van in New York and swelter out with him his rehearsals in "View From the Bridge" scheduled for September 28 opening.

Now that Vivian Blaine and Manny Frank are no longer making an attempt to reconcile, isn't her new interest Clark Reynolds, a writer?

Joan Crawford, dining at Lucey's with her director Bob Aldrich and others on her "The Way We Are" movie, was very much the lady executive—all business, few laughs.

Sammy Davis, Jr's voice will be in "Meet Me in Las Vegas" but he won't. Talented Sammy sings the narration to the "Frankie and Johnny" dance routine performed by CYD Charisse and Dan Dailey.

If Joan Collins goes through with her plan to hire a L.A. attorney and divorce Maxwell Reed here, it still won't be legal in her native country, England.

Mona Freeman and her new romance Bill Burch, TV producer, double-dating at the Cocoanut Grove with Elyse Knox and Tom Harmon.

Did you know that Michael Rennie used to sing with a band in England? Which makes his possible acceptance of Broadway musical "Shangri La" not as surprising as it might be.

That's all today.

Lakes Below Spillway

Lake Gordon is one foot three inches below the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon two feet two inches below, C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, said in a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday, that water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 86,840,000 gallons compared to 97,900,000 the same period a year ago.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Sewing needles that stick may be rusty. If so, give them new life by pressing them in soap.

A girl most-likely-to-succeed doesn't skip lightly over the word "charm."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A girl seeking a career has to be on her toes every minute from the minute she enters the personnel director's door. Opportunities may be unlimited, but competition is greater.

When a girl applies for a job, no matter what her training, she wants to take along more than just a smart appearance and fastidious grooming. She wants as much charm as she can tote. Charm plays a major role in big success and advancement. An employer immediately senses the attitude and personal attraction of an applicant. My booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career" (send 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me at this newspaper), is an investment in charm for every girl starting a career. Send for it today.

In the meantime, here is a general yardstick to rate your preparation for an interview — a few questions that the Powers School worked out for a big industry executive. He used them to grade his applicants.

1—Does she have a pleasant voice and speech? 2—Does she show the consideration needed for harmonious association with business associates? 3—Does her conversation indicate wide interests and an awareness of the world around her? Does she seem to recognize and accept her responsibilities as a member of her community, nation, and world? 4—Is she well-groomed from head to toe (neatness carries over into work . . . if her hair is neat, her letters are neat). 5—Does she have a happy, positive attitude and a pleasant personality? Happy people are best liked by their associates. 6—Is her bearing graceful? Gracefulness indicates self-assurance and poise—important assets. 7—Is she predictable under pressure? 8—If her figure reflects health and beauty routine—you can be sure she is self-disciplined and probably reliable. 9—Is her appearance one of good taste and fitness?

Tomorrow—Waiting for someone?

Robert E. Delaplaine, 70, Frederick Publisher, Dies

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP) — Robert E. Delaplaine, co-publisher of the Frederick, Md., News and Post and head of Western Maryland's largest bank, died today at Johns Hopkins Hospital where he had been a patient since suffering a stroke two months ago.

Delaplaine, 70, was president of the Farmers and Mechanics-Citizens National Bank of Frederick and had a number of other business interests.

He suffered a sudden paralytic stroke in mid-June. He rallied at first but various organic impairments developed and he had been critically ill for several weeks.

He had returned in the spring from a trip around the world with his wife and appeared in fine health. He was 70 April 19.

It was under Delaplaine's leadership in 1953 that the Citizens National bank and the Farmers and Mechanics Bank were consolidated to form the largest bank in Western Maryland.

His father, William Theodore Delaplaine, founded The News in 1883. In 1909 Delaplaine left the Farmers and Mechanics Bank as head bookkeeper to assume active management of The News. In 1916 The News absorbed The Post and Delaplaine and his brother, William T. Delaplaine, became co-publishers.

Street Broken Up To Rescue Dog

BLADENSBURG, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—Workmen broke up a street today and rescued a small black cocker spaniel who had been trapped at least 18 hours in an underground drainage pipe.

The dog was rushed by police escort to an animal hospital. It was reported in a weakened condition but otherwise all right.

The dog entered the pipe some time Sunday evening and became stuck at a narrow point under Edmonston Road in nearby Rogers Heights. Its howls of distress were heard first about midnight but police were unable to reach it.

Connie Erases Rain Deficit In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Hurricane Connie, almost thoroughly bad, brought more than 12 billion gallons of goodness to Baltimore.

Overseers of the city's often-precarious water supply said the three big reservoirs had shown a gain of 12,107,000,000 gallons during Connie's weekend spree.

At the average consumption of 200 million gallons a day, that would be a 60-day supply.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the Baltimore area got 1.16 inches of rainfall during the weekend.

In all, said the bureau, the rainfall associated with Connie changed an August rainfall deficit of 7.45 inches for the Baltimore area to a 9.03 inch excess. The bureau does not keep up-to-date statewide figures.

Burglar Gets 15 Years

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Prison sentences totaling 15 years for burglary were imposed today on a 46-year-old Negro, Earl Trust.

Elderly Farmer Kills Two, Turns Gun On Himself

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 15 (AP) — An elderly farmer shot and killed his sister-in-law and nephew today at their farm home on U. S. 40, a few miles east of here, and then turned the gun on himself.

State's Atty. Thomas Kaylor identified the dead as Carl Chaney, about 48, Mrs. Sadie Chaney, about 70, and David Henry Chaney, about 75.

All three lived on a tenant farm at a spot called "Death's Curve" and worked as milkers at the dairy farm of their landlord, Austin Moser.

Kaylor said the elderly Chaney shot Mrs. Chaney and his nephew and then drove to the Moser farm, about two miles distant.

Moser said the man told him he had just killed two people and was going back home to kill himself. He said Chaney had been drinking and that he told him he was "too drunk to drive."

Moser said he took the car keys away from Chaney. The older man, he said, walked away from him and pulled another key from his pocket. He got in the car and drove away.

Moser followed Chaney in his own car, he said, but when the older man reached home he ran into the house, grabbed a revolver and shot himself through the heart.

Kaylor said Chaney's body was in the kitchen. Mrs. Chaney, he said, had been shot while sitting at the kitchen table.

The younger Chaney also had been shot in the kitchen but apparently had staggered into the living room. His body was found on a couch.

Kaylor said investigation officers could find no motive immediately for the shootings.

Thief Exchanges Car Wheels, Tires

QUEENSTOWN, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—Harvey Williams asked Officer J. E. Fludd whether police would mind if he drove his car with mixed up wheels.

The Queenstown Negro explained to the Anne Arundel County policeman that a thief had taken his snow tires and wheels from his car, parked beside his home. In their place, he said, the thief had left wheels equipped with tires.

Williams said he was satisfied with the trade, but didn't know if police would mind the different wheels. Fludd told him if he was satisfied so were police.

The airways over the United States are now numbered like highway routes. Odd-numbered airways run north and south while even numbers designate east-west routes.

All Of Shipwreck Victims' Bodies Are Recovered

FAIRHAVEN, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—The body of 13-year-old Hillard R. Nevin Jr., fourth member of his family and last of the 14 who perished in the shipwrecking of the Levin J. Marvel, was recovered today.

The boy's body was found in Chesapeake Bay near Broadwater Point. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Hillard R. Nevin Sr. and 9-year-old sister, Hilary Ciel, also died in the wreck last Friday. The Nevins were from Brooklyn, N.Y.

Wreckage of the three-masted schooner on which there were 23 vacationists and a crew of four is in 21 feet of water off Fairhaven, a summer resort.

The schooner was caught in Hurricane Connie gales while returning to Annapolis from a five-day cruise cross the bay.

Sobeloff To Aid Commission On State Programs

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—U.S. Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff will appear before the Commission on State Programs, Organization and Finance when it meets to organize Wednesday to help it map plans.

The commission was given $19,000 by Gov. McKeldin, shortly after he named its members, to make a study of the State Roads Commission. The plan rankled members of the Legislative Council, who would have preferred to do the investigating themselves.

Chairman Harry J. Green said Sobeloff headed a commission in 1951 which studied methods of streamlining the State government. The solicitor general is expected to outline some of the procedures his group followed.

Green said a subcommittee assigned the task of setting up a commission staff also will report at Wednesday's meeting. This group, headed by Sen. Turnbull (D-Baltimore), has held one meeting and expects to meet again before Wednesday.

Green said the subcommittee will set up two staffs, one to handle regular work of the commission and the other to work on the roads commission study.

Meanwhile, Chairman Russell H. McCain of the roads commission has said he "would reserve" comment on a Legislative Council request.

At a meeting in Cumberland last week, the council passed a resolution asking the SRC to make a budgetary amendment providing $25,000 to $50,000 for a council investigation of its business.

A majority of the council members said that if the commission turns them down, they will give their own council salaries to start a fund for an investigation.

Last Trip Made By Constellation

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP) — For the first time in many years the frigate Constellation dipped her bow in the waters of Baltimore Harbor today. The short trip was her last salt water voyage.

The Constellation, launched here in 1797, will soon be placed in a berth of gravel beside the harbor at historic Ft. McHenry.

After rotting for years in Boston Harbor, the old warship was brought here last week in a floating drydock to be made a memorial. She was the first ship of the U.S. Navy built specifically to be a warship. Those before her were converted merchantmen.

This morning the drydock, berthed at the Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., was flooded. The Constellation lifted slowly, then floated free.

After thorough testing to assure that she was taking no water, the Constellation started toward Ft. McHenry in the company of two tugs.

The 500-mile long Kagtra river system, rising in hills southwest of Lake Victoria, is recognized as the Nile river's true headstream.

Moser followed Chaney in his own car, he said, but when the older man reached home he ran into the house, grabbed a revolver and shot himself through the heart.

Kaylor said Chaney's body was in the kitchen. Mrs. Chaney, he said, had been shot while sitting at the kitchen table.

The younger Chaney also had been shot in the kitchen but apparently had staggered into the living room. His body was found on a couch.

Kaylor said investigation officers could find no motive immediately for the shootings.

Thief Exchanges Car Wheels, Tires

QUEENSTOWN, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—Harvey Williams asked Officer J. E. Fludd whether police would mind if he drove his car with mixed up wheels.

The Queenstown Negro explained to the Anne Arundel County policeman that a thief had taken his snow tires and wheels from his car, parked beside his home. In their place, he said, the thief had left wheels equipped with tires.

Williams said he was satisfied with the trade, but didn't know if police would mind the different wheels. Fludd told him if he was satisfied so were police.

The airways over the United States are now numbered like highway routes. Odd-numbered airways run north and south while even numbers designate east-west routes.

All Of Shipwreck Victims' Bodies Are Recovered

FAIRHAVEN, Md., Aug. 15 (AP)—The body of 13-year-old Hillard R. Nevin Jr., fourth member of his family and last of the 14 who perished in the shipwrecking of the Levin J. Marvel, was recovered today.

The boy's body was found in Chesapeake Bay near Broadwater Point. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Hillard R. Nevin Sr. and 9-year-old sister, Hilary Ciel, also died in the wreck last Friday. The Nevins were from Brooklyn, N.Y.

Wreckage of the three-masted schooner on which there were 23 vacationists and a crew of four is in 21 feet of water off Fairhaven, a summer resort.

The schooner was caught in Hurricane Connie gales while returning to Annapolis from a five-day cruise cross the bay. .

Sobeloff To Aid Commission On State Programs

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—U.S. Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff will appear before the Commission on State Programs, Organization and Finance when it meets to organize Wednesday to help it map plans.

The commission was given $19,000 by Gov. McKeldin, shortly after he named its members, to make a study of the State Roads Commission. The plan rankled members of the Legislative Council, who would have preferred to do the investigating themselves.

Chairman Harry J. Green said Sobeloff headed a commission in 1951 which studied methods of streamlining the State government. The solicitor general is expected to outline some of the procedures his group followed.

Green said a subcommittee assigned the task of setting up a commission staff also will report at Wednesday's meeting. This group, headed by Sen. Turnbull (D-Baltimore), has held one meeting and expects to meet again before Wednesday.

Green said the subcommittee will set up two staffs, one to handle regular work of the commission and the other to work on the roads commission study.

Meanwhile, Chairman Russell H. McCain of the roads commission has said he "would reserve" comment on a Legislative Council request.

At a meeting in Cumberland last week, the council passed a resolution asking the SRC to make a budgetary amendment providing $25,000 to $50,000 for a council investigation of its business.

A majority of the council members said that if the commission turns them down, they will give their own council salaries to start a fund for an investigation.

Last Trip Made By Constellation

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP) — For the first time in many years the frigate Constellation dipped her bow in the waters of Baltimore Harbor today. The short trip was her last salt water voyage.

The Constellation, launched here in 1797, will soon be placed in a berth of gravel beside the harbor at historic Ft. McHenry.

After rotting for years in Boston Harbor, the old warship was brought here last week in a floating drydock to be made a memorial. She was the first ship of the U.S. Navy built specifically to be a warship. Those before her were converted merchantmen.

This morning the drydock, berthed at the Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., was flooded. The Constellation lifted slowly, then floated free.

After thorough testing to assure that she was taking no water, the Constellation started toward Ft. McHenry in the company of two tugs.

New Air Force Head Is Well Qualified

It came as a surprise when President Eisenhower announced that he had appointed Donald A. Quarles to be the new secretary of the Air Force. A number of names had been mentioned as possibilities for the post left vacant by the resignation of former Secretary Talbott, but his hadn't been among them.

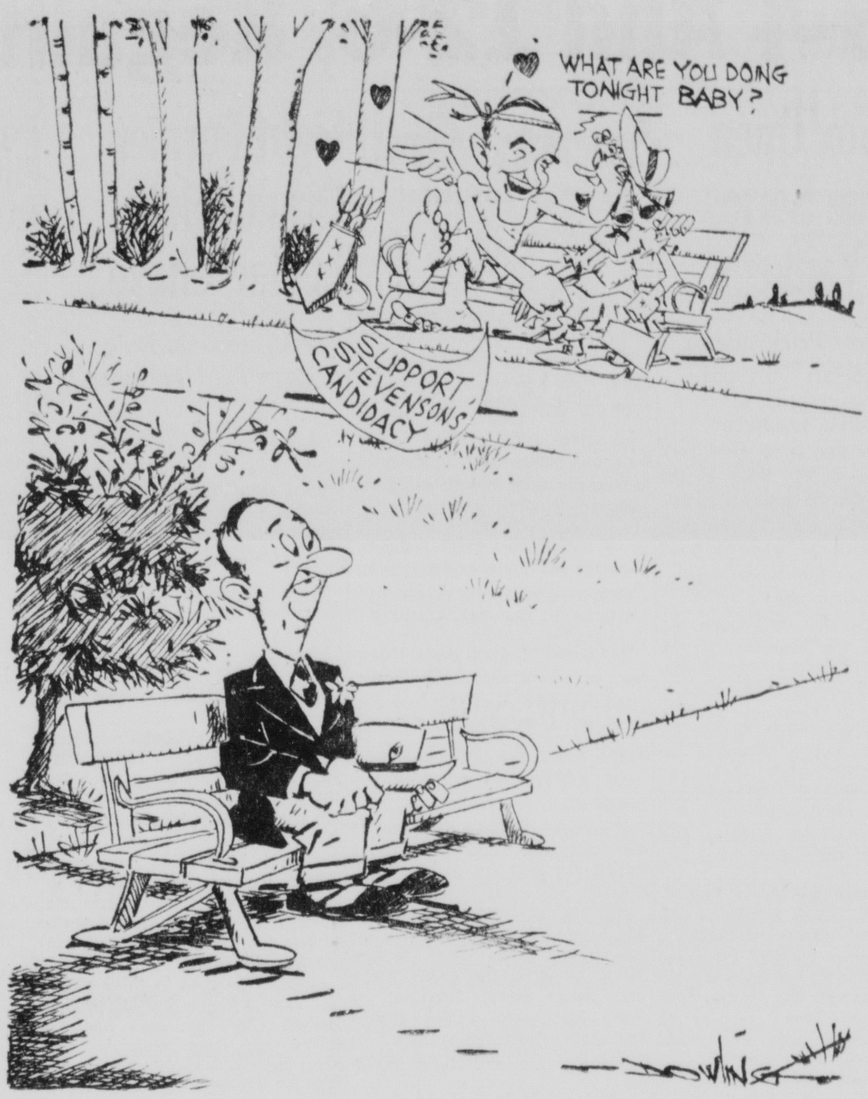
Probably the reason Quarles hadn't been considered a likely candidate for this particular post was that he has been serving as assistant secretary of defense for research and development. A scientist, he seemed to be where he belonged.

But to find an experienced administrator to handle this job, and at the same time make the necessary sacrifices, isn't an easy assignment. Defense Secretary Wilson phrased the problem in vivid language the other day when he said, "I don't know anybody who sits next to God and has financial and engineering experience."

Actually, the new secretary of the Air Force has had extensive experience as a business executive. He has been vice president of Western Electric and became the first president of the Sandia Laboratory organization that was set up by Western Electric as an experimental facility for the Atomic Energy Commission. He seems to have the background to discharge his new responsibilities well.

Will he also qualify from the standpoint of the conflict of interest law and in the light of the thinking that a public servant should not in any way pursue his private interests while in office? He says he will look over his modest list of securities to make sure that there is nothing there to disturb the senators who will have to confirm the nomination next year.

Harriman Makes A Great Cupid



Gov. Harriman Dislikes Praise Of Eisenhower's Highway Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Inside Chicago—Every Democratic governor beat a path to Adlai Stevenson's door at Libertyville, Ill., last week. (Governors Shivers of Texas and Kennon of Louisiana are no longer considered full-fledged Democrats by their colleagues.) . . . The original resolution on highways was cut before finally adopted by the governors. Originally it referred to the "bold and imaginative" highway program of Eisenhower. Governor Harriman of New York objected, these words were stricken. Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, Republican had drafted the resolution . . . Governors Shivers of Texas and Leader of Pennsylvania compared notes at Chicago on chicken farming. Leader is one of the nation's top breeders of baby chicks. Sells over a million chicks a year. Shivers raises Indian River cross broilers and some layers . . . Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas gave this friendly advice to Adlai: "If you want the nomination I think you have to show people that you want it more than anything else in the world. You have to enthuse your followers. If you take the attitude that you want the nomination only if the party wants you, then you won't get it." . . . Adlai replied that there may be men "better qualified than I." . . . "If so," replied Faubus, "the party will decide that in Chicago."

Reports out of Chicago that Happy Chandler proposed a deal first with Adlai Stevenson backers then with Kefauver followers to throw them Kentucky's Presidential delegates in return for $100,000 are phony on the surface. Even if willing, neither Stevenson nor Kefauver have that kind of money . . . Happy got plenty of dough for his campaign all right, but his more likely pals are the Texas-Louisiana oil boys. It will be interesting to see whether Kentucky delegates line up with Texas' Governor Shivers when the next Presidential convention rolls round. . . . Republicans were jubilant over the Kentucky outcome, predict Chandler will swing to the GOP in 1956 . . . Chandler had enough money to put a campagin circular in every post office box in the state of Kentucky during the closing days of the campaign. It blasted his opponent for favoring the sales tax, though Judge Combs was against the sales tax.

TALBOTT'S FAREWELL — Despite denials, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Harold Talbott have been on the outs for a long time. It was Wilson who helped push Talbott "out" of the Pentagon—and Talbott knew it. That was the reason for the tiff they had in front of newsmen on the day Talbott left. . . . Despite this, Talbott's office issued an official denial . . . Jack Peurifoy, the colorful U. S. Ambassador to Thailand who began as a $90-a-month elevator operator in the Senate, met his tragic death in a new sports car. He had inaugurated the first American fair in Thailand, at which the Ford Company exhibited a Thunderbird. It cause Peurifoy's fancy and he acquired it after the fair. He was driving it when a truck collided with him head-on on a narrow bridge. . . . There are now eight Constellations in Washington set aside solely for the purpose of carrying Cabinet members and top bureaucarts around the country. (This is in addition to Ike's plane.) How about selling or renting one to the struggling Israeli Airline whose only Constellation was shot down by the Bulgars . . . The bureaucrats would never miss it . . . Harold Talbott wanted some B-52s to fly in the farewell sendoff given him in Washington, but the Air Force said no. They did, however, come up with 48 other jets: 12 B47s flown from Savannah and Pinecastle, Florida—cost $207 an hour; 24 F84s flown from Langley, Virginia—cost $52 an hour; and 12 F86Ds flown from Wright Field, Ohio—cost $56 an hour. It's only fair to point out that these planes have to be flown every seven days anyway, and the pilots have to be exercised, so the actual cost was nil . . . However, why give a terrific send-off to a man who was eased out of the Cabinet for working for his own private gain?

JOE'S BITTERNESS — Joe McCarthy is planning a barnstorming tour against the Eisenhower administration. He'll denounce Ike for allegedly selling out to the Reds in Moscow and Osia . . . Most peo in Moscow and Asia. Most people don't know it, but McCarthy makes about as many press statements as he used to. They're carefully mimeographed and handed out to newsmen. But not many are published. Reason: he's no longer attacking the Truman Administration. It was the anti-Truman press that made McCarthy . . . If Joe were philosophical he would say: "The press maketh and the press taketh away." But he isn't philosophical. He's bitter . . . He's also a crushed and disappointed man, which tends to make him an ill man . . . Joe can't believe his eclipse is permanent and now plans to unleash his worst tirade yet against Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles . . . The White House mail shows no groundswell of opposition against the present policy of getting along with Russia and Red China . . . Judge Irving Kaufman, who gave the death sentence to the Rosenberg atom spies, had the potent backing of GOP leader Styles Bridges of New Hampshire for promotion to the Court of Appeals. Even so, he couldn't make it. Brownell picked two Dewey men, Edward Lumbard and Sterry R. Waterman, instead.

Luxurious Estate Replaces Smoke-Filled Room

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — They used to handpick their presidential candidate in a "smoke-filled room" with a lot of political bosses sitting around in a Chicago hotel—at least the Republicans did it that way. But it's surprising now to see the Democrats handpicking their presidential candidate for 1956 in a luxurious estate near the shores of Lake Michigan with a group of political bosses—the Democratic governors of 26 states—sitting around.

Time was when the democratic party orators proudly boasted that they were the party of the "peepul." But the "peepul" nowadays do not seem to have much to say about it. The so-called presidential-preference primary system, which was legislated largely through the efforts of "progressives," seems to have been shunted aside in favor of the same old system—the selection of a candidate by the bigwigs of the party.

Not In Primaries

It so happens that former Governor Stevenson of Illinois was given the nomination in 1952 even though he didn't participate in the Democratic Party primaries. He was "coy and reluctant" and almost had to be "drafted" for the nomination at the last minute. It was Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee—he of the coon-skin cap — who rode the primaries from coast to coast and piled up a lot of votes, derived in large part from his TV appearances in the guise of vice crusader and chairman of a congressional investigating committee. Those were the days when the "liberals" didn't bring up "due process" or the bill of rights. They didn't mind one-man hearings then or browbeating of witnesses or innuendos or any of the things which lately have become the subject of so much concern because the sensitivities of "left wingers" now are involved.

The presidential-preference primaries, however, aren't going to play an influential part in picking the 1956 candidate of the Democratic Party. The plan is for the principal candidates to agree among themselves. Thus, after a three-day conference at Stevenson's palatial home outside of Chicago, Governor Harriman of New York says he will not run if the former Illinois Governor wants to run. And Stevenson will not try unless he is sure to win the nomination—which depends on the assent of the big city machines in the Democratic Party. Some of which are opposed to him, as, for example, Tammany in New York.

It was Governor Shivers of Texas who poured cold water on the Stevenson candidacy by saying it wouldn't have the support of the south. Promptly Senator Neuberger of Oregon, Democrat, said this was because in 1952 Stevenson had refused to give Governor Shivers an endorsement of the so-called "tidelands oil give-away." Neuberger thought this refusal would prove an asset to Stevenson rather than a liability.

Control Machines

The Republicans, to be sure, may just possibly remind the electorate next time that the sum total of all the "give-aways" during the 20 years of Democratic rule was very big, and an itemized report might make some interesting campaign fireworks.

The Conference of Governors at Chicago, however, which brought about the political discussion last week of presidential candidates did assemble the very men who control most of the state machines in the Democratic Party. Hence it is right, politically speaking, to pay attention to what they say. In fact, last November when so many Democratic Governors were elected, it was jubilantly claimed by some Democratic spokesmen that the possession of this very political machinery — and the control of state appointments — would help the Democratic Party to victory in 1956.

But these Democratic Governors are only the "front men" for the real powers in the Democratic Party. It's the bosses of the big labor unions who pull the strings. Not many conventions ago, the wise and resourceful FRD told his lieutenants who were considering various persons for the vice-presidential nomination to "clear it with Sidney." This was a reference to CIO's Sidney Hillman. The clearance wasn't for loyalty or security reasons, as the term has come to be used nowadays—except perhaps in a metaphorical sense. It meant that a candidate, to be acceptable, must put loyalty to the labor-union doctrines above all else, even the party doctrine once proclaimed by Jefferson—"Equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

The labor unions, of course, supply lots of money and workers to the Democratic Party campaigns. So it's important that a presidential candidate shall have the endorsement not just of the governors of states but of the governors of the big labor unions of America. Presidential primaries are just window dressing. The trek is back to the middle ages of American politics—only it's the country estate now, rather than the "smoke filled hotel room," where the deals are made.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Bill To End A Bicker

S. 2671 is a minor measure that packed a big wallop. It was a routine measure to authorize payment of salary to a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, but Section 3 contained this clause:

"Each member of the Commission, including the Chairman, shall have equal responsibility and authority in all decisions and actions of the Commission, shall have full access to all information relating to the performance of his duties or responsibilities, and shall have one vote."

This Act is now law and there can be no excuse for the withholding of AEC information from the AEC.

Unless Congress wishes to reorganize the Atomic Energy Commission, providing for a principal officer, the Executive must abide by the law. It is not a good example for the country when the Executive employs subterfuges to get around the law. Under our Constitution, it is Congress not the Executive that passes laws, that authorizes the organization of such Commissions as the AEC, that places limitations upon them. Even the Department of Defense, which rides roughshod over Congress so often, came into existence only by an Act of Congress and can go out of existence by an Act of Congress whenever Congress chooses to pass a new law on the subject.

While the Department of Defense is correct from every standpoint in its desire to get out of business which should be the function of private enterprise, Congress has every constitutional right to determine what the policy of the United States should be and whoever says that it is unconstitutional for the Congress to do what the Constitution clearly provides it should do, makes government by law impossible. He also makes the orderly processes of government difficult. It ought to be obligatory for all top officials at least to read the Constitution. Too many officials look upon Congress as a Board of Directors carrying out the will of a powerful Chairman. To prevent that is why the Founding Fathers separated Congress from the Executive.

The AEC has become a bickering body when what it should be is a production agency. The quarrels between Lewis L. Strauss and Thomas E. Murray, now altogether out in public, are ridiculous and have no place in American affairs. The fact that one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, one an Eisenhower appointee and the other a Truman holdover, has nothing to do with the production and use of atomic energy.

Both are men of high quality, of sincerity, of rare ability, devoted to the work they are doing. Strauss was a banker; Murray an engineer. Both are men of wealth who are serving their government at considerable sacrifice. They do not even differ on matters of principle. Theirs is a personality clash, arising out of Strauss's assumption that he, as Chairman, is the principal officer and head of the AEC. The law does not provide for such a position but makes all Commissioners equal. If Congress intended to change the law, it would have done so under the heavy pressure from the White House, which it resisted.

The Dixon-Yates situation brought this conflict to a head It is now clear from testimony before Congressional committees that Murray was not kept informed as to the Dixon-Yates development step-by-step although he, as an equal Commissioner, was supposed to have a voice in any actions of the AEC. Had Dixon-Yates gone ahead comfortably, without any trouble, the question of the authority and responsibility of the other Commissioners would not have attracted so much attention. But Dixon-Yates was handled so amateurishly by the White House—whoever managed it there—that the bickerings in the AEC became a question of national significance.

Undoubtedly it came to a head when the story was published in the newspapers, in a variety of forms, that Strauss asked Murray to resign. This never happened. At most Strauss took the position that if he, Strauss, could not agree with the policy of the President, he, Strauss, would get out. Murray could have interpreted it as a suggestion.

The AEC is not part of the Executive. It is an independent agency of government, responsible to Congress, and over which Congress has appointed a watch-dog committee. A Commissioner is expected to be guided by the law and his conscience, not by the policy of the President.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Main objection to moon rocket is waiting for the stick.

We happen to be an old Independence Day rocket man. With a master gunner's stripe for barns, haystacks and shingle roofs.

The big moment was touching it off and hollering, "Look out for the stick."

Can you imagine going to the Ionosphere Travel Bureau and saying, "I want my lunar ticket?"

That will start the combination eyebrow-windshield wipers working on the man's glass head.

This moon-skeeting is not like throwing ale-brown darts in a London pub.

Who ever thought the do-it-yourself gimmick would wind up with a fellow making his own moon?

If the stratosphere cramps you it is possible to raise your sights. The rocket reaches 300 miles at 18,000 miles an hour. That's when motorcycle cops telephone the old lady they'll be home early.

Going through the troposphere it drops fuel tanks, machinery, landing gear, rear end, scientific instruments and local passengers. It does that twice more in the stratosphere and the ionosphere. From then on nobody is responsible for hats and overcoats.

When her wandering boy is mooning around mother will put the parlor lamp on top of Mount Everest.

We're living in a new world today, folks. Might be sensible to lay off that barbecue and cook indoors for a while.

Soviet Change Is Real

By Stewart Alsop

LONDON.

Has there been a real change in Soviet policy?

Especially since Geneva, this question has been uppermost in almost everybody's mind. Some weeks spent in the Soviet Union suggest that the most obvious answer is also the most accurate — that there has been a change; that the change is perfectly real; but that it does not go deep.

This answer applied equally to Soviet foreign and domestic policy. Experienced Western observers believe that, at some point last spring, the Presidium reached a formal decision to take certain measures to reduce the danger of war.

It is very probable that the crisis in Asia first gave rise to this decision. Although there is no hard evidence to prove it, all Western observers in Moscow believe that the Soviet Union made a major effort to restrain the Chinese Communists from attacking the offshore islands last spring.

But there is no informed Westerner in Moscow who believes that the change in Soviet foreign policy goes deeper than that. Nobody believes for a moment that the Soviet leaders are ready to make the sort of basic changes in policy which a true world settlement would involve.

Nobody believes that Mr. Molotov, for example, in his forth-coming meeting with Western Foreign Ministers, will budge an inch from his established position. The Soviets do not really want a general settlement except strictly on their own terms. What they really want and expect to get is a general acceptance, for the time being, of the status quo.

The internal change is real also, as far as it goes. One measure of the internal change is a Moscow hit play called "The Wings," by Alexander Kornichuk, a friend of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. In this play the heroine, whose husband was afraid to speak out for her when she was nabbed by Beria's secret police after the war, forgives him on the ground that the terror was too great to withstand. The play is, in fact, an outspoken denunciation of police terror in general.

An officially approved denunciation of police terror obviously means a perfectly real change in the Soviet system. Old Moscow hands believe that Soviet citizens now have a greater sense of personal security than at any time since the mid-30s.

Fear is still there, below the surface. Russians love to talk to foreigners now, whereas a few years ago they would go to any lengths to avoid them. But a Russian is still careful never to give a foreigner his private address or his telephone number.

Indeed, the way every Russian parrots every other Russian on all political matters was what most impressed and depressed this reporter in the Soviet Union. Nor is this endless parrotting inspired only by caution, although caution obviously plays its part. This reporter is deeply convinced, after many talks with Russians, that the vast majority of them really believe in the mess of lies and half-truths which they have been fed.

This is not really so surprising. Suppose, for example, that all Americans, as soon as they began to go to school, were told that all Russians had two heads. Suppose that any evidence to the contrary was ruthlessly suppressed; and that it was dangerous even to be suspected of thinking that some Russians might have only one head. Then most Americans would go to their graves firmly convinced that all Russians had two heads.

Thus it is surely not surprising that most Russians believe that John Foster Dulles started the Korean War on orders from Wall Street; or that the American capitalists own the American government body and soul, while the American workers live in impotent misery; or that all capitalists want war because war is profitable. As one Russian remarked simply to this reporter: "But of course, we believe what we have been taught."

The extent to which the Russians believe what they have been taught is greatly underestimated in the West. So is the political importance of this phenomenon of mass delusion. Consider one example. Most Americans think of the Russian peace propaganda as strictly for export. Actually, a Russian is hardly ever out of sight or sound of the Russian word for peace — PEACE TO THE WORLD is written in huge letters on every empty wall.

At first glance it might be supposed that this internal peace propaganda would weaken the position of the regime in case of war. The precise opposite is true. If the Kremlin ordered the Red Army to attack the West tomorrow, not one Soviet citizen in a million would doubt for an instant that Russia had been the victim of ruthless capitalist aggression. And the genuine fury of the Soviet people against the "breakers of the peace" would greatly strengthen the regime for whatever was in store.

The changes which have occurred in Soviet external and internal policy since Stalin's death are welcome changes. But, despite smiles and picnic parties, it should never be forgotten for a moment that the Soviet system is profoundly and inherently hostile to the West. Bar a basic change in the Soviet system, the West will invite certain disaster if it lets down its guard for an instant.

There is one simple criterion of such a change. The Soviet system will really have changed when Soviet citizens begin hotly disputing the political views of each other and of their government. There is nothing like a few weeks in the Soviet Union to restore meaning to that tired old word, freedom, or to show how wide and treacherous is the gulf between those who have it and those who do not.

Meticorten Most Helpful To Asthma Victims

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

An asthmatic attack is a frightful experience. The windpipe is partially obstructed and the victim finds breathing so difficult he becomes exhausted in a short time. Inhaling is not a problem, but exhaling is accompanied by a loud wheezing sound.

Many remedies are available. Adrenalin, cortisone, and meticorten head the list. This latest hormone of the group that is so useful in arthritis is most effective in asthma and helps hay fever to a lesser degree. It is not a cure but holds the condition in abeyance until the offending agents can be eliminated.

Aminophylline and the antihistaminic products also are helpful. The aim is to open up the obstructed bronchi. After an injection of adrenalin, for example dramatic improvement in breathing occurs within a few minutes, wheezing disappears, and the sufferer relaxes completely.

But over-all treatment goes beyond relief of the acute attack. Otherwise recurrences can be expected. Allergy is responsible and it is important to determine and eliminate the causative factors.

When done properly, this program calls for a complete allergy survey along with the usual examinations including X-ray and laboratory tests. The responsible agent often can be determined through skin tests.

Successful treatment also includes an appraisal of the environment and the psychological status as there is a relationship between the emotional makeup and the severity of the asthmatic attack.

Many asthmatics are sensitive to more than one allergen. Dust is high on the list and, for this reason, the home must be stripped of all its dust producers including feather pillows and bedding, overstuffed furniture, and to a lesser extent, rugs and draperies.

Meanwhile, an attempt is made to hyposensitize the victim against the offending agents via "shots" containing minute quantities of the allergic material. In this way, chronic asthma is warded off and allergic tendencies are kept to a minimum. This will spare the heart and help maintain the body's resistance.

Psychological factors may play a major or minor role. The personality structure may be so faulty that even a slight emotional upset induces wheezing. It is up to the asthmatic to recognize his deficiencies along this line and try to spare himself psychic abuses.

TOMORROW: Profound muscle weakness.

TRANSFUSION REACTION

D. F. writes: What makes some people react adversely to a blood transfusion?

REPLY

This may be due to an error in blood typing or to impurities in the tubing or containers.

GLAUCOMA AND TV

G. J. writes: Is it safe for a woman with chronic glaucoma to watch TV.

REPLY

Yes.

DON'T NEGLECT

A. J. writes: Would a small lump that appears once in a while under the arms and feels sore to the touch seem serious?

REPLY

From your description, the lump may represent an enlarged gland. But why take a chance? Get a first hand opinion from your family physician.

GOOD PRESERVATIVE

J. H. K. writes: I am 67 and was a drinker for 35 years. Two months ago I quit. Since then I feel tired and weak. Should I take a nip once in a while?

REPLY

I'm tempted to answer your question in the same way as Lincoln replied to criticism of Grant: Find out what kind of whisky he drinks and give some to the other generals. If there were good reasons for you to quit after drinking all those years, continue to abstain as I doubt if you would be content with just a nip or two.

TENSION TO BLAME

T. J. writes: What is meant by a gastrointestinal neurosis?

REPLY

This diagnosis is made when intestinal distress is associated with an emotional disorder and the laboratory and X-ray studies are normal.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

When Wendell Willkie was teaching school in Corfeyville, Kansas, he hit upon a novel way to make the basic doctrines of the Declaration of Independence clear to his students.

"I'm giving each of you three common, every-day buttons," he told them. "Imagine that the first represents Life, the second Liberty, and the third the Pursuit of Happiness. Tomorrow I'm going to ask you to produce the buttons and tell me what they stand for."

The next day one lad sadly reported that one button was missing. "Here's Life and here's Liberty," he said, "but Ma sewed the Pursuit of Happiness on my pants."

Back from his first visit to New York's Museum of Natural History, a dead-end kid reported disgustedly to his parents, "That new teacher sure is a jerk! Where do you think she took us today? A dead circus!"

New Air Force Head Is Well Qualified

It came as a surprise when President Eisenhower announced that he had appointed Donald A. Quarles to be the new secretary of the Air Force. A number of names had been mentioned as possibilities for the post left vacant by the resignation of former Secretary Talbott, but his hadn't been among them.

Probably the reason Quarles hadn't been considered a likely candidate for this particular post was that he has been serving as assistant secretary of defense for research and development. A scientist, he seemed to be where he belonged.

But to find an experienced administrator to handle this job, and at the same time make the necessary sacrifices, isn't an easy assignment. Defense Secretary Wilson phrased the problem in vivid language the other day when he said, "I don't know anybody who sits next to God and has financial and engineering experience."

Actually, the new secretary of the Air Force has had extensive experience as a business executive. He has been vice president of Western Electric and became the first president of the Sandia Laboratory organization that was set up by Western Electric as an experimental facility for the Atomic Energy Commission. He seems to have the background to discharge his new responsibilities well.

Will he also qualify from the standpoint of the conflict of interest law and in the light of the thinking that a public servant should not in any way pursue his private interests while in office? He says he will look over his modest list of securities to make sure that there is nothing there to disturb the senators who will have to confirm the nomination next year.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Bill To End A Bicker

S. 2671 is a minor measure that packed a big wallop. It was a routine measure to authorize payment of salary to a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, but Section 3 contained this clause:

"Each member of the Commission, including the Chairman, shall have equal responsibility and authority in all decisions and actions of the Commission, shall have full access to all information relating to the performance of his duties or responsibilities, and shall have one vote."

This Act is now law and there can be no excuse for the withholding of AEC information from the AEC.

Unless Congress wishes to reorganize the Atomic Energy Commission, providing for a principal officer, the Executive must abide by the law. It is not a good example for the country when the Executive employs subterfuges to get around the law. Under our Constitution, it is Congress not the Executive that passes laws, that authorizes the organization of such Commissions as the AEC, that places limitations upon them. Even the Department of Defense, which rides roughshod over Congress so often, came into existence only by an Act of Congress and can go out of existence by an Act of Congress whenever Congress chooses to pass a new law on the subject.

While the Department of Defense is correct from every standpoint in its desire to get out of business which should be the function of private enterprise, Congress has every constitutional right to determine what the policy of the United States should be and whoever says that it is unconstitutional for the Congress to do what the Constitution clearly provides it should do, makes government by law impossible. He also makes the orderly processes of government difficult. It ought to be obligatory for all top officials at least to read the Constitution. Too many officials look upon Congress as a Board of Directors carrying out the will of a powerful Chairman. To prevent that is why the Founding Fathers separated Congress from the Executive.

The AEC has become a bickering body when what it should be is a production agency. The quarrels between Lewis L. Strauss and Thomas E. Murray, now altogether out in public, are ridiculous and have no place in American affairs. The fact that one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, one an Eisenhower appointee and the other a Truman holdover, has nothing to do with the production and use of atomic energy.

Both are men of high quality, of sincerity, of rare ability, devoted to the work they are doing. Strauss was a banker; Murray an engineer. Both are men of wealth who are serving their government at considerable sacrifice. They do not even differ on matters of principle. Theirs is a personality clash, arising out of Strauss's assumption that he, as Chairman, is the principal officer and head of the AEC. The law does not provide for such a position but makes all Commissioners equal. If Congress intended to change the law, it would have done so under the heavy pressure from the White House, which it resisted.

The Dixon-Yates situation brought this conflict to a head It is now clear from testimony before Congressional committees that Murray was not kept informed as to the Dixon-Yates development step-by-step although he, as an equal Commissioner, was supposed to have a voice in any actions of the AEC. Had Dixon-Yates gone ahead comfortably, without any trouble, the question of the authority and responsibility of the other Commissioners would not have attracted so much attention. But Dixon-Yates was handled so amateurishly by the White House—whoever managed it there—that the bickerings in the AEC became a question of national significance.

Undoubtedly it came to a head when the story was published in the newspapers, in a variety of forms, that Strauss asked Murray to resign. This never happened. At most Strauss took the position that if he, Strauss, could not agree with the policy of the President, he, Strauss, would get out. Murray could have interpreted it as a suggestion.

The AEC is not part of the Executive. It is an independent agency of government, responsible to Congress, and over which Congress has appointed a watch-dog committee. A Commissioner is expected to be guided by the law and his conscience, not by the policy of the President.

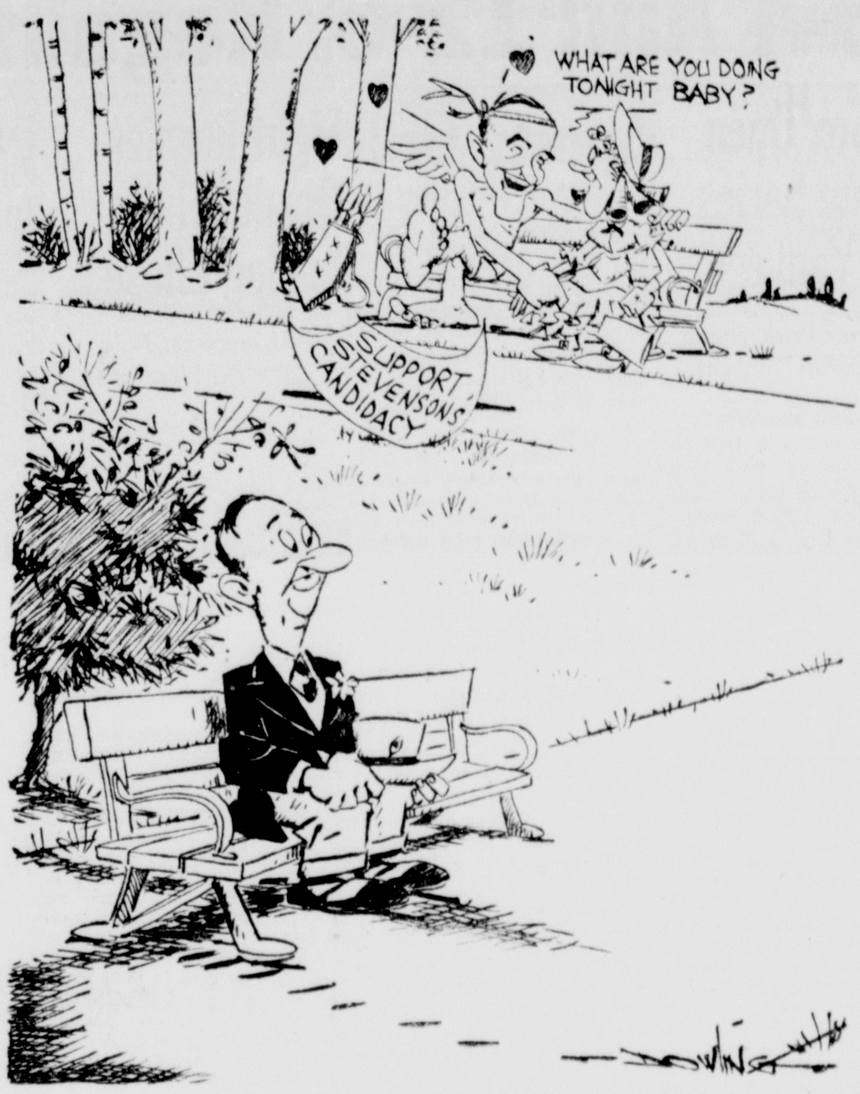
Harriman Makes A Great Cupid



Luxurious Estate Replaces Smoke-Filled Room

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — They used to handpick their presidential candidate in a "smoke-filled room" with a lot of political bosses sitting around in a Chicago hotel—at least the Republicans did it that way. But it's surprising now to see the Democrats handpicking their presidential candidate for 1956 in a luxurious estate near the shores of Lake Michigan with a group of political bosses—the Democratic governors of 26 states—sitting around.

Time was when the democratic party orators proudly boasted that they were the party of the "peepul." But the "peepul" nowadays do not seem to have much to say about it. The so-called presidential-preference primary system, which was legislated largely through the efforts of "progressives," seems to have been shunted aside in favor of the same old system—the selection of a candidate by the bigwigs of the party.

Not In Primaries

It so happens that former Governor Stevenson of Illinois was given the nomination in 1952 even though he didn't participate in the Democratic Party primaries. He was "coy and reluctant" and almost had to be "drafted" for the nomination at the last minute. It was Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee—he of the coon-skin cap — who rode the primaries from coast to coast and piled up a lot of votes, derived in large part from his TV appearances in the guise of vice crusader and chairman of a congressional investigating committee. Those were the days when the "liberals" didn't bring up "due process" or the bill of rights. They didn't mind one-man hearings then or browbeating of witnesses or innuendos or any of the things which lately have become the subject of so much concern because the sensitivities of "left wingers" now are involved.

The presidential-preference primaries, however, aren't going to play an influential part in picking the 1956 candidate of the Democratic Party. The plan is for the principal candidates to agree among themselves. Thus, after a three-day conference at Stevenson's palatial home outside of Chicago, Governor Harriman of New York says he will not run if the former Illinois Governor wants to run. And Stevenson will not try unless he is sure to win the nomination—which depends on the assent of the big city machines in the Democratic Party. Some of which are opposed to him, as, for example, Tammany in New York.

It was Governor Shivers of Texas who poured cold water on the Stevenson candidacy by saying it wouldn't have the support of the south. Promptly Senator Neuberger of Oregon, Democrat, said this was because in 1952 Stevenson had refused to give Governor Shivers an endorsement of the so-called "tidelands oil give-away." Neuberger thought this refusal would prove an asset to Stevenson rather than a liability.

Control Machines

The Republicans, to be sure, may just possibly remind the electorate next time that the sum total of all the "give-aways" during the 20 years of Democratic rule was very big, and an itemized report might make some interesting campaign fireworks.

The Conference of Governors at Chicago, however, which brought about the political discussion last week of presidential candidates did assemble the very men who control most of the state machines in the Democratic Party. Hence it is right, politically speaking, to pay attention to what they say. In fact, last November when so many Democratic Governors were elected, it was jubilantly claimed by some Democratic spokesmen that the possession of this very political machinery — and the control of state appointments — would help the Democratic Party to victory in 1956.

But these Democratic Governors are only the "front men" for the real powers in the Democratic Party. It's the bosses of the big labor unions who pull the strings. Not many conventions ago, the wise and resourceful FRD told his lieutenants who were considering various persons for the vice-presidential nomination to "clear it with Sidney." This was a reference to CIO's Sidney Hillman. The clearance wasn't for loyalty or security reasons, as the term has come to be used nowadays—except perhaps in a metaphorical sense. It meant that a candidate, to be acceptable, must put loyalty to the labor-union doctrines above all else, even the party doctrine once proclaimed by Jefferson—"Equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

The labor unions, of course, supply lots of money and workers to the Democratic Party campaigns. So it's important that a presidential candidate shall have the endorsement not just of the governors of states but of the governors of the big labor unions of America. Presidential primaries are just window dressing. The trek is back to the middle ages of American politics—only it's the country estate now, rather than the "smoke filled hotel room," where the deals are made.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Main objection to moon rocket is waiting for the stick.

We happen to be an old Independence Day rocket man. With a master gunner's stripe for barns, haystacks and shingle roofs.

The big moment was touching it off and hollering, "Look out for the stick."

Can you imagine going to the Ionosphere Travel Bureau and saying, "I want my lunar ticket?"

That will start the combination eyebrow-windshield wipers working on the man's glass head.

This moon-skeeting is not like throwing ale-brown darts in a London pub.

Who ever thought the do-it-yourself gimmick would wind up with a fellow making his own moon?

If the stratosphere cramps you it is possible to raise your sights. The rocket reaches 300 miles at 18,000 miles an hour. That's when motorcycle cops telephone the old lady they'll be home early.

Going through the troposphere it drops fuel tanks, machinery, landing gear, rear end, scientific instruments and local passengers. It does that twice more in the stratosphere and the ionosphere. From then on nobody is responsible for hats and overcoats.

When her wandering boy is mooning around mother will put the parlor lamp on top of Mount Everest.

We're living in a new world today, folks. Might be sensible to lay off that barbecue and cook indoors for a while.

Meticorten Most Helpful To Asthma Victims

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An asthmatic attack is a frightful experience. The windpipe is partially obstructed and the victim finds breathing so difficult he becomes exhausted in a short time. Inhaling is not a problem, but exhaling is accompanied by a loud wheezing sound.

Many remedies are available. Adrenalin, cortisone, and meticorten head the list. This latest hormone of the group that is so useful in arthritis is most effective in asthma and helps hay fever to a lesser degree. It is not a cure but holds the condition in abeyance until the offending agents can be eliminated.

Aminophylline and the antihistaminic products also are helpful. The aim is to open up the obstructed bronchi. After an injection of adrenalin, for example dramatic improvement in breathing occurs within a few minutes, wheezing disappears, and the sufferer relaxes completely.

But over-all treatment goes beyond relief of the acute attack. Otherwise recurrences can be expected. Allergy is responsible and it is important to determine and eliminate the causative factors.

When done properly, this program calls for a complete allergy survey along with the usual examinations including X-ray and laboratory tests. The responsible agent often can be determined through skin tests.

Successful treatment also includes an appraisal of the environment and the psychological status as there is a relationship between the emotional makeup and the severity of the asthmatic attack.

Many asthmatics are sensitive to more than one allergen. Dust is high on the list and, for this reason, the home must be stripped of all its dust producers including feather pillows and bedding, overstuffed furniture, and to a lesser extent, rugs and draperies.

Meanwhile, an attempt is made to hyposensitize the victim against the offending agents via "shots" containing minute quantities of the allergic material. In this way, chronic asthma is warded off and allergic tendencies are kept to a minimum. This will spare the heart and help maintain the body's resistance.

Psychological factors may play a major or minor role. The personality structure may be so faulty that even a slight emotional upset induces wheezing. It is up to the asthmatic to recognize his deficiencies along this line and try to spare himself psychic abuses.

Gov. Harriman Dislikes Praise Of Eisenhower's Highway Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Inside Chicago—Every Democratic governor beat a path to Adlai Stevenson's door at Libertyville, Ill., last week. (Governors Shivers of Texas and Kennon of Louisiana are no longer considered full-fledged Democrats by their colleagues.) . . . The original resolution on highways was cut before finally adopted by the governors. Originally it referred to the "bold and imaginative" highway program of Eisenhower. Governor Harriman of New York objected, these words were stricken. Governor Kohler of Wisconsin, Republican had drafted the resolution . . . Governors Shivers of Texas and Leader of Pennsylvania compared notes at Chicago on chicken farming. Leader is one of the nation's top breeders of baby chicks. Sells over a million chicks a year. Shivers raises Indian River cross broilers and some layers . . . Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas gave this friendly advice to Adlai: "If you want the nomination I think you have to show people that you want it more than anything else in the world. You have to enthuse your followers. If you take the attitude that you want the nomination only if the party wants you, then you won't get it." . . . Adlai replied that there may be men "better qualified than I." . . . "If so," replied Faubus, "the party will decide that in Chicago."

Reports out of Chicago that Happy Chandler proposed a deal first with Adlai Stevenson backers then with Kefauver followers to throw them Kentucky's Presidential delegates in return for $100,000 are phony on the surface. Even if willing, neither Stevenson nor Kefauver have that kind of money . . . Happy got plenty of dough for his campaign all right, but his more likely pals are the Texas-Louisiana oil boys. It will be interesting to see whether Kentucky delegates line up with Texas' Governor Shivers when the next Presidential convention rolls round. . . . Republicans were jubilant over the Kentucky outcome, predict Chandler will swing to the GOP in 1956 . . . Chandler had enough money to put a campagin circular in every post office box in the state of Kentucky during the closing days of the campaign. It blasted his opponent for favoring the sales tax, though Judge Combs was against the sales tax.

TALBOTT'S FAREWELL — Despite denials, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Harold Talbott have been on the outs for a long time. It was Wilson who helped push Talbott "out" of the Pentagon—and Talbott knew it. That was the reason for the tiff they had in front of newsmen on the day Talbott left. . . . Despite this, Talbott's office issued an official denial . . . Jack Peurifoy, the colorful U. S. Ambassador to Thailand who began as a $90-a-month elevator operator in the Senate, met his tragic death in a new sports car. He had inaugurated the first American fair in Thailand, at which the Ford Company exhibited a Thunderbird. It cause Peurifoy's fancy and he acquired it after the fair. He was driving it when a truck collided with him head-on on a narrow bridge. . . . There are now eight Constellations in Washington set aside solely for the purpose of carrying Cabinet members and top bureaucarts around the country. (This is in addition to Ike's plane.) How about selling or renting one to the struggling Israeli Airline whose only Constellation was shot down by the Bulgars . . . The bureaucrats would never miss it . . . Harold Talbott wanted some B-52s to fly in the farewell sendoff given him in Washington, but the Air Force said no. They did, however, come up with 48 other jets: 12 B47s flown from Savannah and Pinecastle, Florida—cost $207 an hour; 24 F84s flown from Langley, Virginia—cost $52 an hour; and 12 F86Ds flown from Wright Field, Ohio—cost $56 an hour. It's only fair to point out that these planes have to be flown every seven days anyway, and the pilots have to be exercised, so the actual cost was nil . . . However, why give a terrific send-off to a man who was eased out of the Cabinet for working for his own private gain?

JOE'S BITTERNESS — Joe McCarthy is planning a barnstorming tour against the Eisenhower administration. He'll denounce Ike for allegedly selling out to the Reds in Moscow and Osia . . . Most peo in Moscow and Asia. Most people don't know it, but McCarthy makes about as many press statements as he used to. They're carefully mimeographed and handed out to newsmen. But not many are published. Reason: he's no longer attacking the Truman Administration. It was the anti-Truman press that made McCarthy . . . If Joe were philosophical he would say: "The press maketh and the press taketh away." But he isn't philosophical. He's bitter . . . He's also a crushed and disappointed man, which tends to make him an ill man . . . Joe can't believe his eclipse is permanent and now plans to unleash his worst tirade yet against Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles . . . The White House mail shows no groundswell of opposition against the present policy of getting along with Russia and Red China . . . Judge Irving Kaufman, who gave the death sentence to the Rosenberg atom spies, had the potent backing of GOP leader Styles Bridges of New Hampshire for promotion to the Court of Appeals. Even so, he couldn't make it. Brownell picked two Dewey men, Edward Lumbard and Sterry R. Waterman, instead.

Soviet Change Is Real

By Stewart Alsop

LONDON.

Has there been a real change in Soviet policy?

Especially since Geneva, this question has been uppermost in almost everybody's mind. Some weeks spent in the Soviet Union suggest that the most obvious answer is also the most accurate — that there has been a change; that the change is perfectly real; but that it does not go deep.

This answer applied equally to Soviet foreign and domestic policy. Experienced Western observers believe that, at some point last spring, the Presidium reached a formal decision to take certain measures to reduce the danger of war.

It is very probable that the crisis in Asia first gave rise to this decision. Although there is no hard evidence to prove it, all Western observers in Moscow believe that the Soviet Union made a major effort to restrain the Chinese Communists from attacking the offshore islands last spring.

But there is no informed Westerner in Moscow who believes that the change in Soviet foreign policy goes deeper than that. Nobody believes for a moment that the Soviet leaders are ready to make the sort of basic changes in policy which a true world settlement would involve.

Nobody believes that Mr. Molotov, for example, in his forth-coming meeting with Western Foreign Ministers, will budge an inch from his established position. The Soviets do not really want a general settlement except strictly on their own terms. What they really want and expect to get is a general acceptance, for the time being, of the status quo.

The internal change is real also, as far as it goes. One measure of the internal change is a Moscow hit play called "The Wings," by Alexander Kornichuk, a friend of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. In this play the heroine, whose husband was afraid to speak out for her when she was nabbed by Beria's secret police after the war, forgives him on the ground that the terror was too great to withstand. The play is, in fact, an outspoken denunciation of police terror in general.

An officially approved denunciation of police terror obviously means a perfectly real change in the Soviet system. Old Moscow hands believe that Soviet citizens now have a greater sense of personal security than at any time since the mid-30s.

Fear is still there, below the surface. Russians love to talk to foreigners now, whereas a few years ago they would go to any lengths to avoid them. But a Russian is still careful never to give a foreigner his private address or his telephone number.

Indeed, the way every Russian parrots every other Russian on all political matters was what most impressed and depressed this reporter in the Soviet Union. Nor is this endless parrotting inspired only by caution, although caution obviously plays its part. This reporter is deeply convinced, after many talks with Russians, that the vast majority of them really believe in the mess of lies and half-truths which they have been fed.

This is not really so surprising. Suppose, for example, that all Americans, as soon as they began to go to school, were told that all Russians had two heads. Suppose that any evidence to the contrary was ruthlessly suppressed; and that it was dangerous even to be suspected of thinking that some Russians might have only one head. Then most Americans would go to their graves firmly convinced that all Russians had two heads.

Thus it is surely not surprising that most Russians believe that John Foster Dulles started the Korean War on orders from Wall Street; or that the American capitalists own the American government body and soul, while the American workers live in impotent misery; or that all capitalists want war because war is profitable. As one Russian remarked simply to this reporter: "But of course, we believe what we have been taught."

The extent to which the Russians believe what they have been taught is greatly underestimated in the West. So is the political importance of this phenomenon of mass delusion. Consider one example. Most Americans think of the Russian peace propaganda as strictly for export. Actually, a Russian is hardly ever out of sight or sound of the Russian word for peace — PEACE TO THE WORLD is written in huge letters on every empty wall.

At first glance it might be supposed that this internal peace propaganda would weaken the position of the regime in case of war. The precise opposite is true. If the Kremlin ordered the Red Army to attack the West tomorrow, not one Soviet citizen in a million would doubt for an instant that Russia had been the victim of ruthless capitalist aggression. And the genuine fury of the Soviet people against the "breakers of the peace" would greatly strengthen the regime for whatever was in store.

The changes which have occurred in Soviet external and internal policy since Stalin's death are welcome changes. But, despite smiles and picnic parties, it should never be forgotten for a moment that the Soviet system is profoundly and inherently hostile to the West. Bar a basic change in the Soviet system, the West will invite certain disaster if it lets down its guard for an instant.

There is one simple criterion of such a change. The Soviet system will really have changed when Soviet citizens begin hotly disputing the political views of each other and of their government. There is nothing like a few weeks in the Soviet Union to restore meaning to that tired old word, freedom, or to show how wide and treacherous is the gulf between those who have it and those who do not.

Mickey Mantle Hits Two Round-Trippers; Kucks, Coleman Win

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP) — The New York Yankees battered Baltimore for a doubleheader victory today, 5-4 and 12-6, to take over the lead in the American League pennant race.

Bauer Wins Opener

The Yankees unleashed their big guns, Hank Bauer hitting a ninth inning homer for the decision in the first game, and Mickey Mantle blasting two circuit clouts in the second contest, one of them a three-run blow in the fourth inning.

The double triumph gave the rampaging New Yorkers a half-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who were idle today. In sweeping the four-game series they ran their season's record against the Orioles to 15-2.

The Yankees capitalized on three walks off Baltimore starter Ray Moore in the third inning of the second game. Then Joe Collins drove in a run while grounding out, and Irv Noren singled across Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle. Andy Carey followed with a double off the left field wall to score Noren.

Two Homers For Mickey

The switch - swinning Mantle whose two doubles and a single led a nine-hit attack against Baltimore's lefty Bill Wight in the opener, slammed homers both right and left-handed for the second time this year in the afterpiece as the Yanks clinched the second verdict early on four-run eruptions in the third and fourth innings against Ray Moore.

Mantle drove four mates across in this test, while Irv Noren and Andy Carey batted in two apiece, the latter with a pair of two-baggers.

Grim Aids Coleman

Gary (Rip) Coleman, elevated last week from New York's Denver farm club, made a successful big-league debut. He won the second game, although he required assistance from Bob Grim.

Johnny Kucks, notched his eighth win in the opener, after relieving starter Bob Wiesler.

Marciano Or Moore? Louis Picks Rocky

Ex-Champ Tells Why In Exclusive Interview

By FRED J. WALKER
Central Press Association Correspondent

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Bleeding and the ability to take a punch will be decisive factors in the September title fight between Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight champion, and challenger Archie Moore.

That's the opinion of Joe Louis, ex-heavyweight champion, now host and stockholder at the lavish Moulin Rouge hotel in Las Vegas.

Joe Louis

"Rocky is a good fighter but not a great one," explained Louis. "He loves to train and that's in his favor. He is clean living, which also is in his favor because he can take a good punch.

"Rocky's weakness is he's not a good boxer at all and he cuts easily. If he loses he'll lose by being cut. Both boys are good punchers but Rocky can take a better punch than Moore and that's how the fight will be won unless Archie cuts him badly.

"Moore knows all the tricks but to beat Marciano he ought to be ten years younger, knowing what he knows today. Moore says he's 38 years old. When I was 38, three years ago, I was through fighting.

"That's why I think Marciano will be favored."

Joe toyed with a handful of $20 chips as he talked. He had been playing blackjack at the Moulin Rouge casino, pushing a streak of luck, and was almost affable as he reminisced about his ring career.

* * *

"MY BEST FIGHT of all was in 1935," Joe said. "I was 21 years old and knocked out Max Baer in four rounds in the Yankee Stadium. I just felt good, like I could fight all night long. Max had lost the heavyweight title to Bradodck three months earlier. I beat Braddock for the title two years later.

"My best punch was a right cross. When it landed I felt good. I knew my night's work was done.

"Speaking of right crosses, a guy named Al Delaney hit me with one in Detroit which was the toughest blow I ever got in the ring. It was back in 1934 or '35, my sixth or seventh professional fight.

"That punch broke a tooth in the left side of my jaw and I fell against the ropes; didn't go down but I felt it for weeks after. I won by a decision in ten and was lucky."

Joe thinks the toughest fight of his ring career was his first with Billy Conn where he got a first-rate boxing lesson for 12 rounds.

"I couldn't get set in that fight," he explained. "In the twelfth Conn really shook me up. So he came out in the thirteenth and started punching with me. That was his mistake. I caught him with a right cross and kayoed him."

Joe has decided views on today's boxing game. He thinks it lacks color.

"There's no Jack Dempsey around. That's what's wrong with boxing today. Marciano hasn't got Dempsey's color. That's what the crowds want and when they get it they'll buy plenty of tirckets."

* * *

OF TODAY'S FIGHTERS Joe thinks Bobo Olson, pound for pound, is the best in the ring.

"Bobo's mistake in the Moore fight," said Louis, "was to gain 10 pounds. He weighed 170 against Moore where his normal fighting weight is around 160. He still is the best fighter in the world in the middleweight division. No one living can beat him at 160 pounds."

In addition to Joe's Las Vegas hotel interests he is director of boxing for the International Boxing Club and has stock in a Chicago milk company.

These activities make him a star patron of TWA's flights in and out of Las Vegas.

What happened to his ring earnings?

"Well," he remarked with a wry smile, "I made about $4 million. My expenses were high and I lived well. The money just seemed to run away from me. There's not a word of truth to those stories that I got taken. My managers just got their share."

Trabert, Seixas Score Easy Win

Blast Talbert, Brown In National Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP) —Tony Trabert, the U. S. Davis Cup team ace sidelined for two weeks with a shoulder injury, displayed his old-time power today as he teamed with Vic Seixas to gain an easy first round victory in the 75th National Doubles Tennis Tournament at Longwood.

Trabert and Seixas had little more than a workout as they blasted the veteran Billy Talbert, captain of the American Davis Cup forces, and young Maxwell Brown Jr., of Louisville, Ky., 6-0, 6-3, 6-3, in less than an hour.

Trabert, an aggressive 24-year-old from Cincinnati, drove hard forehand and backhand shots to all sections of the court without showing any after effect of a pulled muscle in the shoulder which sidelined him early this month.

His showing boosted American hopes for retention of the Davis Cup against Australia in the challenge round Aug. 26-28 at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Several scheduled opening round matches were put off until tomorrow because of tennis competition elsewhere.

Rivers Wins At St. Nick

Gets Nod Over King In Bloody Contest

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Neal Rivers, brawny-armed Niagara Falls, N.Y., middleweight, racked up his seventh straight victory tonight by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over favored Jimmy King of Birmingham, Ala., in a bloody and exciting television scrap at St. Nicholas Arena. King weighed 154½, Rivers 156.

A 2-1 choice, the well travelled King almost pulled the fight out of the fire in the ninth round when he came off the floor and almost knocked out his 21-year-old rival.

A left hook to the jaw dropped Rivers as if he was hit by a club. He staggered to his feet at eight, his eyes glazed and his legs rubbery. The 30-year-old King charged after his stricken foe but he was too arm weary to put Rivers away.

That was the veteran's big chance and he blew it. Rivers took charge again in the tenth as he had through most of the earlier rounds.

Before Rivers went down in the ninth, he had decked King for the mandatory eight count with a left hook to the jaw.

The votes, all for Rivers, were: Referee Barney Felix and Judge Leo Birnbaum, 7-2-1 each, and Judge Bert Grant 8-2. The AP had Rivers in front, 8-2.

Rivers' victory gave him a 23-4-1 record. King's record is 47-10-4.

Ernie Banks, hard-hitting shortstop of the Cubs, who is going homer-crazy, started out as a star softball player.

Red Sox Open 3-Game Series With Yankees

Fenway Park Scene Of Action Tonight

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—New York and Boston—in the thick of the American League pennant fight—clash tomorrow night in their mid-August series at Fenway Park where Yankee title hopes suffered a death blow in 1954.

This time the three-game set could spell the beginning of the end for one of the grim contestants.

Unlike a year ago, New York, Cleveland and Chicago are percentage points apart with Boston not far behind. But a sweep of the games tomorrow night, Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon could demoralize the loser.

That's what the carefree Red Sox did to the Yanks here last August.

Jolted By Red Sox

New York, riding a 10-game winning streak, came to town in '54 just 2½ games back of Cleveland with whom they had been waging a private war for the AL flag most of the season. Three days later the team that had won five world championships in a row was 5½ games behind and so stunned it never could catch the fast-moving Indians.

The Red Sox were well out of the picture when they delivered three rapid-fire defeats which buried New York flag aspirations under the Fenway turf.

Willard Nixon—a natural Yankee baiter from Taylorsville, Ga.—threw the first strike. The righthander doubled home the deciding run in the eighth inning of the first game after allowing only four hits to that point. Boston 4, New York 3.

Don Lenhardt, no longer with the Sox, delivered a two-run single in the 12th inning for a 10-9 decision in the second contest. Hank Bauer put New York ahead with a three-run pinch homer in the eighth but the late Harry Agganis' triple with two gone in the ninth tied it up. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was unhappy. Boston 10, New York 9.

Slugger Ted Williams threw dirt on the Yankee grave. By the fourth inning of the third contest he'd slammed a two-run homer and a two-run double. When the Yanks tried a rally in the seventh, Ted raced to the foul line to rob Yogi Berra of a double as Stengel slammed his cap on the dugout steps. Boston 8, New York 2.

The Yankee dressing room was barred to visitors after the third defeat but the door had been closed too late—Cleveland was moving out of sight.

In that finale, big 6-7 Frank Sullivan was the winning hurler.

Larsen vs. Sullivan

The same Mr. Sullivan (14-10), much improved with a year's seasoning, gets the call tomorrow night. His probable opponent is Don Larsen (4-1).

Both clubs are certain to be tired. Rainouts forced each to play makeup contests with the accompanying drain on the pitching staff.

Mt. Savage Blanks Cresaptown, 3-0

Mt. Savage defeated Cresaptown in a Bi-State Pony Baseball game yesterday at Zihlman by the score of 3-0.

Burkett, of Mt. Savage, limited the visitors to two hits, including a triple by Llewellyn. The winners obtained only four hits off Blake. Score:

CRESAPTOWN	000	000	0—0 2 3
MT. SAVAGE	101	001	x—3 4 1

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—Jim Norris, International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden Garden president, is threatening to bring back the six-day bike grind.

This should be great news for night club operators and bands, publicity hounds with more dough than sense, ushers, hot dog venders, and pickpockets, to say nothing of the bike riders, handlers, and promoters.

A sixday bike grind can be one of the most exciting and dangerous of sports events. It also can be one of the phoniest.

In the old Madison Square Garden, on whose roof its architect, Stanford White, was shot and killed by Harry K. Thaw over Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the grind was a vicious performance any way you looked at it.

A narrow stairway led down to the basement and pickpockets jostled the fans out of their wallets.

The circus would have been in that basement with no air vent for six weeks. Bums slept through the night up in the arena which was never aired. Imagine the odors that were wafted around that arena which was so thick with smoke you could hardly see across it.

The grinds in that old Garden were rather dull except during an infrequent jam when riders were likely to collide on the banked track or go hurtling into a side arena box.

But in the new present day Garden, the grind took a new lease on life.

When things got dull some misguided hombre in those dear departed prohibition days would offer anything from $50 up to $1,000 for a one mile sprint. The sprint usually set off a jam during which all the teams were racing like mad and during which one or more might steal a lap on the field.

Even in the new Garden it was often a mistake for a gal to stand up to cheer while leaving her mink coat on the back of the chair. For when she went to sit down again the mink had invariably disappeared.

The thieves in the gallery used to let down toy balloons for The sucker in the mezzanine to puncture and while the chumps got up to puncture the balloons, the thieves' confederates down stairs lifted coats and purses.

Texas Guinan and other night club impresarios, together with their bands and chorines, used to come in long after midnight and keep the old place rocking with jazz numbers while the bike riders rode madly.

Strangely enough, there were few arguments or fights because it was an excited good-natured crowd out for thrills and a good time. And did it pay? Well, in those days the gate for the six days usually ran above $300,000.

Detroit Defeats Cincinnati, 2-0

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Jack Phillips drove a home run deep into left-field stands to push the Detroit Tigers to a 2-0 shutout over the Cincinnati Reds today in an exhibition game at Atwood Stadium in Flint.

Phillips' blow, a 370-foot drive, came in the sixth with no one on base.

Leo Cristante, who was credited with the victory, was relieved in the sixth by Joe Coleman. Dizzy Trout followed Coleman in the eighth. Bud Podbielan was marked with the loss.

Eight Former Orioles Help In Flag Chase

Aid Indians, Pale Hose And Yankees

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — A large flock of former Baltimore Orioles have become contributing factors in the American League pennant race since they flew away to Chicago, Cleveland and New York.

These include Bob Kennedy and Harry Byrd of the White Sox, Gene Woodling and Hoot Evers of the Indians and Bob Turley and Don Larsen of the Yankees.

Kennedy, who has played first base, third and the outfield for the White Sox since the Orioles let him get away last May, is hitting .352. He has had three home runs. He also produced a game-winning two-run triple against Washington July 15.

Byrd Wins Three

Byrd, who left Baltimore in mid-June, has won three games for Ghicago. The big righthanded pitcher defeated the Yankees twice and the Senators once.

Chicago, perched in third place, but only a game behind league-leading Cleveland, also has received help from ex-Orioles Les Moss and Gil Coan. Moss is hitting .250 for Chicago but he's had a couple of homers and driven in seven runs since he was obtained in June. Coan, who was acquired in July, has been used mostly as a pinch-runner.

Woodling and Evers have been instrumental in the recent drive to the top by the defending champion Indians. Woodling is batting .295 for Cleveland with 19 runs batted in since June 17. He was hitting only .221 for Baltimore.

Evers Comes To Life

Evers also has come to life in the Indians' drive. The veteran flychaser has eight hits in 25 trips for his new club, including two game-winning homers. His circuit blow defeated Baltimore 3-2 on July 23 and last Saturday he walloped a three-run homer to down Detroit, 3-1.

Turley, with a 13-10 record for the Yankees, has a neat 2.98 earned run average and 173 strikeouts, second to Herb Score's 179. Larsen, who was obtained from the Orioles along with Turley in a big deal last winter, has whipped Kansas City, Detroit and Boston since he was recalled from Denver two weeks ago. All were complete games.

Explorers May Add Pittsburgh, Romney To Grid Schedule

There is a possibility that LaSalle High School may play 10 football games this season, it was revealed last night by Coach Norman F. Geatz, Jr.

Eight games already are lined up and Central Catholic High, of Pittsburgh, and Romney High School may fill open dates in November. Central Catholic has appeared on the Explorers' schedule in past years and is now coached by Val Jansante.

Candidates for the LaSalle team reported yesterday and some equipment was issued.

The squad will engage in its first drill today at 9 a. m. at Mount Calvary Field on the Mason Road.

Coach Geatz is planning two sessions a day on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and one a day on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The Explorers open their season Friday, September 9 at Bedford.

Marciano, Moore To Sign Contracts

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and light heavyweight king Archie Moore will come down from their training camps next Monday to sign official commission contracts for their Sept. 20 title fight at Yankee Stadium. Promoter Jim Norris said today that the noon ceremony would take place at the commission's office.

Harry Walker, St. Louis Cardinals' manager, still maintains that the increase in home runs is due to the "lively" bat, not the lively ball.

The U. S. Olympic teams will need $1,250,000 to cover transportation and other costs next year. Thus far only $350,000 has been raised.

Williams Hits Grand Slammer, Bosox Win, 8-4

Kiely Relief Star In Win Over Nats

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Ted Williams' tremendous 450-foot grand slam home run coupled with superb relief pitching by southpaw Leo Kiely lifted the Boston Red Sox to their third straight victory over Washington tonight, 8-4.

The hustling Sox remained 3½ games off the American League pace as New York took over first place with a double triumph over Baltimore.

Kiely replaced Mel Parnell with four runs in, one man on and one out in the third inning. He struck out Ed FitzGerald and Tom Umphlett to end the inning and then faced only 21 batters in the rest of his 6 2-3 inning stint, allowing only a single to Mickey Vernon in the eighth and a walk to pinch hitter Johnny Groth in the ninth.

Jimmy Piersall contributed an insurance two-run homer to the winning cause while Roy Sievers hit a three-run home run for the Nationals.

Williams' blast was his 20th home run of the year and his first since his grand slam off Detroit's Ned Garver in the first game of a doubleheader here July 31.

It was Ted's 13th grand slam in the majors tieing him with Cleveland's Ralph Kiner among active players in that department. The all-time record is 23 held by Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees.

Yankees Whip Orioles, 5-4 And 12-6, Regain League Lead

Hank Bauer's Homer In 9th Wins Opener

Mickey Mantle Hits Two Round-Trippers; Kucks, Coleman Win

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP) — The New York Yankees battered Baltimore for a doubleheader victory today, 5-4 and 12-6, to take over the lead in the American League pennant race.

Bauer Wins Opener

The Yankees unleashed their big guns, Hank Bauer hitting a ninth inning homer for the decision in the first game, and Mickey Mantle blasting two circuit clouts in the second contest, one of them a three-run blow in the fourth inning.

The double triumph gave the rampaging New Yorkers a half-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who were idle today. In sweeping the four-game series they ran their season's record against the Orioles to 15-2.

The Yankees capitalized on three walks off Baltimore starter Ray Moore in the third inning of the second game. Then Joe Collins drove in a run while grounding out, and Irv Noren singled across Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle. Andy Carey followed with a double off the left field wall to score Noren.

Two Homers For Mickey

The switch - swinning Mantle whose two doubles and a single led a nine-hit attack against Baltimore's lefty Bill Wight in the opener, slammed homers both right and left-handed for the second time this year in the afterpiece as the Yanks clinched the second verdict early on four-run eruptions in the third and fourth innings against Ray Moore.

Mantle drove four mates across in this test, while Irv Noren and Andy Carey batted in two apiece, the latter with a pair of two-baggers.

Grim Aids Coleman

Gary (Rip) Coleman, elevated last week from New York's Denver farm club, made a successful big-league debut. He won the second game, although he required assistance from Bob Grim.

Johnny Kucks, notched his eighth win in the opener, after relieving starter Bob Wiesler.

Marciano Or Moore? Louis Picks Rocky

Ex-Champ Tells Why In Exclusive Interview

By FRED J. WALKER
Central Press Association Correspondent

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Bleeding and the ability to take a punch will be decisive factors in the September title fight between Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight champion, and challenger Archie Moore.

That's the opinion of Joe Louis, ex-heavyweight champion, now host and stockholder at the lavish Moulin Rouge hotel in Las Vegas.

Joe Louis

"Rocky is a good fighter but not a great one," explained Louis. "He loves to train and that's in his favor. He is clean living, which also is in his favor because he can take a good punch.

"Rocky's weakness is he's not a good boxer at all and he cuts easily. If he loses he'll lose by being cut. Both boys are good punchers but Rocky can take a better punch than Moore and that's how the fight will be won unless Archie cuts him badly.

"Moore knows all the tricks but to beat Marciano he ought to be ten years younger, knowing what he knows today. Moore says he's 38 years old. When I was 38, three years ago, I was through fighting.

"That's why I think Marciano will be favored."

Joe toyed with a handful of $20 chips as he talked. He had been playing blackjack at the Moulin Rouge casino, pushing a streak of luck, and was almost affable as he reminisced about his ring career.

* * *

"MY BEST FIGHT of all was in 1935," Joe said. "I was 21 years old and knocked out Max Baer in four rounds in the Yankee Stadium. I just felt good, like I could fight all night long. Max had lost the heavyweight title to Bradodck three months earlier. I beat Braddock for the title two years later.

"My best punch was a right cross. When it landed I felt good. I knew my night's work was done.

"Speaking of right crosses, a guy named Al Delaney hit me with one in Detroit which was the toughest blow I ever got in the ring. It was back in 1934 or '35, my sixth or seventh professional fight.

"That punch broke a tooth in the left side of my jaw and I fell against the ropes; didn't go down but I felt it for weeks after. I won by a decision in ten and was lucky."

Joe thinks the toughest fight of his ring career was his first with Billy Conn where he got a first-rate boxing lesson for 12 rounds.

"I couldn't get set in that fight," he explained. "In the twelfth Conn really shook me up. So he came out in the thirteenth and started punching with me. That was his mistake. I caught him with a right cross and kayoed him."

Joe has decided views on today's boxing game. He thinks it lacks color.

"There's no Jack Dempsey around. That's what's wrong with boxing today. Marciano hasn't got Dempsey's color. That's what the crowds want and when they get it they'll buy plenty of tirckets."

* * *

OF TODAY'S FIGHTERS Joe thinks Bobo Olson, pound for pound, is the best in the ring.

"Bobo's mistake in the Moore fight," said Louis, "was to gain 10 pounds. He weighed 170 against Moore where his normal fighting weight is around 160. He still is the best fighter in the world in the middleweight division. No one living can beat him at 160 pounds."

In addition to Joe's Las Vegas hotel interests he is director of boxing for the International Boxing Club and has stock in a Chicago milk company.

These activities make him a star patron of TWA's flights in and out of Las Vegas.

What happened to his ring earnings?

"Well," he remarked with a wry smile, "I made about $4 million. My expenses were high and I lived well. The money just seemed to run away from me. There's not a word of truth to those stories that I got taken. My managers just got their share."

Trabert, Seixas Score Easy Win

Blast Talbert, Brown In National Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP) —Tony Trabert, the U. S. Davis Cup team ace sidelined for two weeks with a shoulder injury, displayed his old-time power today as he teamed with Vic Seixas to gain an easy first round victory in the 75th National Doubles Tennis Tournament at Longwood.

Trabert and Seixas had little more than a workout as they blasted the veteran Billy Talbert, captain of the American Davis Cup forces, and young Maxwell Brown Jr., of Louisville, Ky., 6-0, 6-3, 6-3, in less than an hour.

Trabert, an aggressive 24-year-old from Cincinnati, drove hard forehand and backhand shots to all sections of the court without showing any after effect of a pulled muscle in the shoulder which sidelined him early this month.

His showing boosted American hopes for retention of the Davis Cup against Australia in the challenge round Aug. 26-28 at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Several scheduled opening round matches were put off until tomorrow because of tennis competition elsewhere.

Gets Nod Over King In Bloody Contest

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Neal Rivers, brawny-armed Niagara Falls, N.Y., middleweight, racked up his seventh straight victory tonight by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over favored Jimmy King of Birmingham, Ala., in a bloody and exciting television scrap at St. Nicholas Arena. King weighed 154½, Rivers 156.

A 2-1 choice, the well travelled King almost pulled the fight out of the fire in the ninth round when he came off the floor and almost knocked out his 21-year-old rival.

A left hook to the jaw dropped Rivers as if he was hit by a club. He staggered to his feet at eight, his eyes glazed and his legs rubbery. The 30-year-old King charged after his stricken foe but he was too arm weary to put Rivers away.

That was the veteran's big chance and he blew it. Rivers took charge again in the tenth as he had through most of the earlier rounds.

Before Rivers went down in the ninth, he had decked King for the mandatory eight count with a left hook to the jaw.

The votes, all for Rivers, were: Referee Barney Felix and Judge Leo Birnbaum, 7-2-1 each, and Judge Bert Grant 8-2. The AP had Rivers in front, 8-2.

Rivers' victory gave him a 23-4-1 record. King's record is 47-10-4.

Ernie Banks, hard-hitting shortstop of the Cubs, who is going homer-crazy, started out as a star softball player.

Red Sox Open 3-Game Series With Yankees

Fenway Park Scene Of Action Tonight

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—New York and Boston—in the thick of the American League pennant fight—clash tomorrow night in their mid-August series at Fenway Park where Yankee title hopes suffered a death blow in 1954.

This time the three-game set could spell the beginning of the end for one of the grim contestants.

Unlike a year ago, New York, Cleveland and Chicago are percentage points apart with Boston not far behind. But a sweep of the games tomorrow night, Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon could demoralize the loser.

That's what the carefree Red Sox did to the Yanks here last August.

Jolted By Red Sox

New York, riding a 10-game winning streak, came to town in '54 just 2½ games back of Cleveland with whom they had been waging a private war for the AL flag most of the season. Three days later the team that had won five world championships in a row was 5½ games behind and so stunned it never could catch the fast-moving Indians.

The Red Sox were well out of the picture when they delivered three rapid-fire defeats which buried New York flag aspirations under the Fenway turf.

Willard Nixon—a natural Yankee baiter from Taylorsville, Ga.—threw the first strike. The righthander doubled home the deciding run in the eighth inning of the first game after allowing only four hits to that point, Boston 4, New York 3.

Don Lenhardt, no longer with the Sox, delivered a two-run single in the 12th inning for a 10-9 decision in the second contest. Hank Bauer put New York ahead with a three-run pinch homer in the eighth but the late Harry Agganis' triple with two gone in the ninth tied it up. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was unhappy, Boston 10, New York 9.

Slugger Ted Williams threw dirt on the Yankee grave. By the fourth inning of the third contest he'd slammed a two-run homer and a two-run double. When the Yanks tried a rally in the seventh, Ted raced to the foul line to rob Yogi Berra of a double as Stengel slammed his cap on the dugout steps. Boston 8, New York 2.

The Yankee dressing room was barred to visitors after the third defeat but the door had been closed too late—Cleveland was moving out of sight.

In that finale, big 6-7 Frank Sullivan was the winning hurler.

Larsen vs. Sullivan

The same Mr. Sullivan (14-10), much improved with a year's seasoning, gets the call tomorrow night. His probable opponent is Don Larsen (4-1).

Both clubs are certain to be tired. Rainouts forced each to play makeup contests with the accompanying drain on the pitching staff.

Mt. Savage Blanks Cresaptown, 3-0

Mt. Savage defeated Cresaptown in a Bi-State Pony Baseball game yesterday at Zihlman by the score of 3-0.

Burkett, of Mt. Savage, limited the visitors to two hits, including a triple by Llewellyn. The winners obtained only four hits off Blake. Score:

CRESAPTOWN	000 000 0—0	2	3
MT. SAVAGE	101 001 x—3	4	1

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—Jim Norris, International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden Garden president, is threatening to bring back the six-day bike grind.

This should be great news for night club operators and bands, publicity hounds with more dough than sense, ushers, hot dog venders, and pickpockets, to say nothing of the bike riders, handlers, and promoters.

A sixday bike grind can be one of the most exciting and dangerous of sports events. It also can be one of the phoniest.

In the old Madison Square Garden, on whose roof its architect, Stanford White, was shot and killed by Harry K. Thaw over Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the grind was a vicious performance any way you looked at it.

A narrow stairway led down to the basement and pickpockets jostled the fans out of their wallets.

The circus would have been in that basement with no air vent for six weeks. Bums slept through the night up in the arena which was never aired. Imagine the odors that were wafted around that arena which was so thick with smoke you could hardly see across it.

The grinds in that old Garden were rather dull except during an infrequent jam when riders were likely to collide on the banked track or go hurtling into a side arena box.

But in the new present day Garden, the grind took a new lease on life.

When things got dull some misguided hombre in those dear departed prohibition days would offer anything from $50 up to $1,000 for a one mile sprint. The sprint usually set off a jam during which all the teams were racing like mad and during which one or more might steal a lap on the field.

Even in the new Garden it was often a mistake for a gal to stand up to cheer while leaving her mink coat on the back of the chair. For when she went to sit down again the mink had invariably disappeared.

The thieves in the gallery used to let down toy balloons for The sucker in the mezzanine to puncture and while the chumps got up to puncture the balloons, the thieves' confederates down stairs lifted coats and purses.

Texas Guinan and other night club impresarios, together with their bands and chorines, used to come in long after midnight and keep the old place rocking with jazz numbers while the bike riders rode madly.

Strangely enough, there were few arguments or fights because it was an excited good-natured crowd out for thrills and a good time. And did it pay? Well, in those days the gate for the six days usually ran above $300,000.

Detroit Defeats Cincinnati, 2-0

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Jack Phillips drove a home run deep into left-field stands to push the Detroit Tigers to a 2-0 shutout over the Cincinnati Reds today in an exhibition game at Atwood Stadium in Flint.

Phillips' blow, a 370-foot drive, came in the sixth with no one on base.

Leo Cristante, who was credited with the victory, was relieved in the sixth by Joe Coleman. Dizzy Trout followed Coleman in the eighth. Bud Podbielan was marked with the loss.

Eight Former Orioles Help In Flag Chase

Aid Indians, Pale Hose And Yankees

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — A large flock of former Baltimore Orioles have become contributing factors in the American League pennant race since they flew away to Chicago, Cleveland and New York.

These include Bob Kennedy and Harry Byrd of the White Sox, Gene Woodling and Hoot Evers of the Indians and Bob Turley and Don Larsen of the Yankees.

Kennedy, who has played first base, third and the outfield for the White Sox since the Orioles let him get away last May, is hitting .352. He has had three home runs. He also produced a game-winning two-run triple against Washington July 15.

Byrd Wins Three

Byrd, who left Baltimore in mid-June, has won three games for Chicago. The big righthanded pitcher defeated the Yankees twice and the Senators once.

Chicago, perched in third place, but only a game behind league-leading Cleveland, also has received help from ex-Orioles Les Moss and Gil Coan. Moss is hitting .250 for Chicago but he's had a couple of homers and driven in seven runs since he was obtained in June. Coan, who was acquired in July, has been used mostly as a pinch-runner.

Woodling and Evers have been instrumental in the recent drive to the top by the defending champion Indians. Woodling is batting .295 for Cleveland with 19 runs batted in since June 17. He was hitting only .221 for Baltimore.

Evers Comes To Life

Evers also has come to life in the Indians' drive. The veteran flychaser has eight hits in 25 trips for his new club, including two game-winning homers. His circuit blow defeated Baltimore 3-2 on July 23 and last Saturday he walloped a three-run homer to down Detroit, 3-1.

Turley, with a 13-10 record for the Yankees, has a neat 2.98 earned run average and 173 strikeouts, second to Herb Score's 179. Larsen, who was obtained from the Orioles along with Turley in a big deal last winter, has whipped Kansas City, Detroit and Boston since he was recalled from Denver two weeks ago. All were complete games.

Explorers May Add Pittsburgh, Romney To Grid Schedule

There is a possibility that LaSalle High School may play 10 football games this season, it was revealed last night by Coach Norman F. Geatz, Jr.

Eight games already are lined up and Central Catholic High, of Pittsburgh, and Romney High School may fill open dates in November. Central Catholic has appeared on the Explorers' schedule in past years and is now coached by Val Jansante.

Candidates for the LaSalle team reported yesterday and some equipment was issued.

The squad will engage in its first drill today at 9 a. m. at Mount Calvary Field on the Mason Road.

Coach Geatz is planning two sessions a day on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and one a day on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The Explorers open their season Friday, September 9 at Bedford.

Marciano, Moore To Sign Contracts

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and light heavyweight king Archie Moore will come down from their training camps next Monday to sign official commission contracts for their Sept. 20 title fight at Yankee Stadium. Promoter Jim Norris said today that the noon ceremony would take place at the commission's office.

Harry Walker, St. Louis Cardinals' manager, still maintains that the increase in home runs is due to the "lively" bat, not the lively ball.

The U. S. Olympic teams will need $1,250,000 to cover transportation and other costs next year. Thus far only $350,000 has been raised.

Williams Hits Grand Slammer, Bosox Win, 8-4

Kiely Relief Star In Win Over Nats

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Ted Williams' tremendous 450-foot grand slam home run coupled with superb relief pitching by southpaw Leo Kiely lifted the Boston Red Sox to their third straight victory over Washington tonight, 8-4.

The hustling Sox remained 3½ games off the American League pace as New York took over first place with a double triumph over Baltimore.

Kiely replaced Mel Parnell with four runs in, one man on and one out in the third inning. He struck out Ed FitzGerald and Tom Umphlett to end the inning and then faced only 21 batters in the rest of his 6 2-3 inning stint, allowing only a single to Mickey Vernon in the eighth and a walk to pinch hitter Johnny Groth in the ninth.

Jimmy Piersall contributed an insurance two-run homer to the winning cause while Roy Sievers hit a three-run home run for the Nationals.

Williams' blast was his 20th home run of the year and his first since his grand slam off Detroit's Ned Garver in the first game of a doubleheader here July 31.

It was Ted's 13th grand slam in the majors tieing him with Cleveland's Ralph Kiner among active players in that department. The all-time record is 23 held by Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees.

NBA Favors Congressional Investigation Of Pro Boxing

Leader Speaks At Convention Of Association

Pennsy Governor Urges Adoption Of Uniform Code

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today launched a campaign to clean up big-time boxing, unanimously adopting a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the sport.

Earlier, delegates to the group's annual convention here learned the FBI already is investigating professional boxing, long under fire for its alleged infiltration by underworld influences.

Leader Is Speaker

Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania who suspended professional boxing in his state last May, joined the move to clean up the sport. In a keynote address today, he called for adoption of a uniform athletic code to regulate boxing across the nation.

His talk drew enthusiastic response from nearly 150 representatives of 47 state boxing commissions and Canada and several Latin American countries. Only New York is not a member of the NBA.

Anthony Petronella, NBA president, said he would appoint a seven-man committee tomorrow to meet with Leader in an effort to develop such a code.

The resolution recommended that the "NBA urgently request that an appropriate committee of the U. S. Congress inaugurate at the earliest possible moment a complete investigation into the conduct of boxing in the United States in every respect to determine whether there do exist such undesirable interests as has been publicly charged."

FBI Investigates Sport

Professional boxing has not yet come under the scrutiny of Congress, but George A. Barton, former president of the NBA and now chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, disclosed the FBI has been investigating the sport since last June.

He called the FBI probe "the probable salvation of boxing."

U. S. Women Cop Tennis Trophy

Defeat British, 4-1, In Wightman Series

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15 (INS)—The United States won the Wightman Cup in tennis for the 19th straight time from Britain today when Wimbledon champion Louise Brough defeated England's Angela Mortimer, 6-0, 6-2, at the Westchester Country Club.

Miss Brough, veteran campaigner from Beverly Hills, Calif., gave the U. S. a 4-1 edge in this year's edition of the international series.

The triumph, third for the talented Californian in the two-day competition, was made noteworthy by the fact that Miss Mortimer had stunned the tennis world Sunday when she upset national champion Doris Hart.

Miss Brough bested Shirley Bloomer in a single match Sunday and teamed with Margaret Osborne DuPont to win a doubles match.

The third U. S. victory was registered by Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of New York. Mrs. Knode, a Wightman cupper for the first time, defeated Angela Buxton, 6-3, 6-3.

Frostburg Braves Take 2nd Half In Hot Stove League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 15 — The Braves clinched the second half championship of the Hot Stove Baseball League today when Jimmy Skidmore tossed a one-hitter and blanked the Cardinals by the score of 5-0.

The win gave the Braves a 6-0 record for the second half. Four of the victories were credited to Skidmore who whiffed 13 in today's contest. The lone Cardinal hit was credited to Passarell.

Bob Winebrenner's triple scored what proved to be the winning run in the second inning.

League officers will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall to arrange for the championship series between the Tigers, first half winners, and the Braves. The playoffs are expected to get under way Sunday. Score:

CARDINALS	000	000—0	1 1
BRAVES	031	01x—5	4 0

The Detroit Tigers have a fan club, which calls itself the Crisis Club, and it has made five road trip games already in support of the team. Club members wear yellow baseball caps.

Looks like Birmingham will take all the marbles in the Southern Association. The Barons hurdle one still barrier after another but continue to whip the top contenders.

BELONG TO BOMBERS — Bobby Freeman, left, and Jack Locklear, two Cleveland Brown rookies have been advised by Federal Judge Paul Jones not to play with the N.F.L. League champions. The judge made the ruling in a temporary injunction granted to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, with whom the former Auburn College stars had signed 1955 contracts before joining the Browns.

Ted Kluszewski Six Days Ahead Of Ruth Record

Hits 41 Home Runs, 2nd In NL Batting

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, the strong man of the Cincinnati Redlegs, has renewed interest in home run records while moving into contention in the National League batting race.

Ted Kluszewski

Kluszewski walloped four homers against the St. Louis Cards over the weekend to bring his season's total to 41 in 118 games. In his first 118 games a year ago, the muscular first baseman hit 35 homers. He wound up with 49 to lead the league.

Actually, big Klu is in the odd position of being six games ahead of Babe Ruth's pace of 1927, when the Babe hit 60 and three games behind Hack Wilson's pace of 1930, the year the Chicago Cubs' slugger blasted 56 homers to set the National League standard.

Ruth did not hit his 41st homer until his 124th game and Wilson connected for his 41st in game No. 115.

Takes Second Place

Kluszewski moved up from fifth place to second in the batting scramble as a result of 13 point gain last week. He collected 16 hits in 32 at bats and was batting .326 when Sunday's action was over.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, who took over first place from Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, climbed five points to .333 in last week's games. Campanella dropped to the No. 3 spot at .322 by losing nine points with only four hits in 21 trips.

Smokey Burgess of Cincinnati went into fourth place by gaining 10 points. He had 11 hits in 25 at bats to move up to .315. Duke Snider of Brooklyn, who leads the circuit in runs batted in with 109, fell to fifth in batting with a six point decrease to .308.

In the American League, Al Kaline of Detroit still holds a commanding lead despite a three point drop to .348. He had eight hits in 26 at bats last week.

Harvey Kuenn, also of the Tigers, remained in the runnerup spot although he lost six points to .323. He had six hits in 26 times at bat.

Power In Third Place

Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .329 followed by Al Smith of Cleveland with .310 and George Kell of Chicago with .306. Power gained one point while Smith and George Kell of Chicago with .306. Power gained one point while Smith dropped five points and Kell seven.

Mantle still leads the American League in home runs with 27 while Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox has batted in the most runs, 90.

Illinois Star Is Ineligible

J. C. Caroline Fails Psychology Course

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 15 (AP)—J. C. Caroline of Columbia, S. C., captain-elect of the University of Illinois 1955 football team, today was declared scholastically ineligible to play football this season.

Officials of the university said Caroline was declared ineligible after he had failed to pass a summer course in psychology.

Caroline, a star halfback, withdrew from the university last April 29. At that time school officials said the withdrawal was made "in good standing" and that Caroline would enroll again in June for the summer term. It was this summer course he flunked.

In April a university spokesman said Caroline gave as reasons for dropping out of school the recent death of a grandfather and the serious illness of his mother.

Caroline led the nation in ground gaining as a sophomore in 1953. He dropped into virtual obscurity with a weak team last fall and missed part of the season with a shoulder injury.

Judge Forbids Gridders To Play With Cleveland

Freeman, Locklear Signed By Winnipeg

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 (AP) — A federal judge today forbade quarterback Bobby Freeman and center Jack Locklear to play with the Cleveland Browns this season, thus leaving the pro football team with only one quarterback.

Judge Paul Jones made the ruling in a temporary injunction granted to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, with whom the former Auburn College stars had signed 1955 contracts before joining the Browns.

Locklear, complaining of a heart murmer, already has quit football.

The Browns said they have not decided whether to drop the issue or take it to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Either way, they have lost the services of Freeman for the season because of the time which would be involved in a further court fight.

Left as the Browns' only quarterback was George Ratterman, in his first season on the first string.

There is a possibility that veteran quarterback Otto Graham may come out of retirement and rejoin the Browns. Cleveland Coach Paul Brown, however, declined to say whether he planned to ask Graham to come back.

Graham, who says he wants to devote all of his time to his insurance business, told a reporter he did not know what he would do if Brown invites him back.

"I sure hope they can get another quarterback," he said.

Woodmen Knock Moose From Lead In Oakland Loop

OAKLAND, Md., Aug. 15—The last place Woodmen knocked the Moose out of first place in the Oakland Pony League today by defeating the latter by the score of 8-7.

The Country Club took over the leadership of the second half race by downing the Rotary Club to the tune of 8-0.

Snyder and Paugh paced the Woodmen at the plate with three and two hits, respectively, while McCrobie rapped a double and single and Troy belted a triple for the Moose.

Paugh limited the Rotary Club to three hits, two of which were credited to Stickell. Meyers collected a double and single and Paugh a triple and single for the Country Club. Scores:

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (AP) — Australia blasted its way into the Davis Cup challenge round today when Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig crushed Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola in the doubles to take an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the inter-zone final.

The scores were 7-5, 13-11, 7-5, indicating the Italian lads did not give in easily. That they didn't. They had Hoad and Hartwig talking to themselves all during the match. But in the end it was inevitable that the more experienced Aussies would win.

NBA Favors Congressional Investigation Of Pro Boxing

Leader Speaks At Convention Of Association

Pennsy Governor Urges Adoption Of Uniform Code

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today launched a campaign to clean up big-time boxing, unanimously adopting a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the sport.

Earlier, delegates to the group's annual convention here learned the FBI already is investigating professional boxing, long under fire for its alleged infiltration by underworld influences.

Leader Is Speaker

Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania who suspended professional boxing in his state last May, joined the move to clean up the sport. In a keynote address today, he called for adoption of a uniform athletic code to regulate boxing across the nation.

His talk drew enthusiastic response from nearly 150 representatives of 47 state boxing commissions and Canada and several Latin American countries. Only New York is not a member of the NBA.

Anthony Petronella, NBA president, said he would appoint a seven-man committee tomorrow to meet with Leader in an effort to develop such a code.

The resolution recommended that the "NBA urgently request that an appropriate committee of the U. S. Congress inaugurate at the earliest possible moment a complete investigation into the conduct of boxing in the United States in every respect to determine whether there do exist such undesirable interests as has been publicly charged."

FBI Investigates Sport

Professional boxing has not yet come under the scrutiny of Congress, but George A. Barton, former president of the NBA and now chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, disclosed the FBI has been investigating the sport since last June.

He called the FBI probe "the probable salvation of boxing."

U. S. Women Cop Tennis Trophy

Defeat British, 4-1, In Wightman Series

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15 (INS)—The United States won the Wightman Cup in tennis for the 19th straight time from Britain today when Wimbledon champion Louise Brough defeated England's Angela Mortimer, 6-0, 6-2, at the Westchester Country Club.

Miss Brough, veteran campaigner from Beverly Hills, Calif., gave the U. S. a 4-1 edge in this year's edition of the international series.

The triumph, third for the talented Californian in the two-day competition, was made noteworthy by the fact that Miss Mortimer had stunned the tennis world Sunday when she upset national champion Doris Hart.

Miss Brough bested Shirley Bloomer in a single match Sunday and teamed with Margaret Osborne DuPont to win a doubles match.

The third U. S. victory was registered by Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of New York. Mrs. Knode, a Wightman cupper for the first time, defeated Angela Buxton, 6-3, 6-3.

Frostburg Braves Take 2nd Half In Hot Stove League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 15 — The Braves clinched the second half championship of the Hot Stove Baseball League today when Jimmy Skidmore tossed a one-hitter and blanked the Cardinals by the score of 5-0.

The win gave the Braves a 6-0 record for the second half. Four of the victories were credited to Skidmore who whiffed 13 in today's contest. The lone Cardinal hit was credited to Passarell.

Bob Winebrenner's triple scored what proved to be the winning run in the second inning.

League officers will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall to arrange for the championship series between the Tigers, first half winners, and the Braves. The playoffs are expected to get under way Sunday. Score:

CARDINALS	000 000—0	1	1
BRAVES	031 01x—5	4	0

Winters and Carter. Skidmore and Walls.

The Detroit Tigers have a fan club, which calls itself the Crisis Club, and it has made five road trip games already in support of the team. Club members wear yellow baseball caps.

Looks like Birmingham will take all the marbles in the Southern Association. The Barons hurdle one still barrier after another but continue to whip the top contenders.

BELONG TO BOMBERS — Bobby Freeman, left, and Jack Locklear, two Cleveland Brown rookies have been advised by Federal Judge Paul Jones not to play with the N.F.L. League champions. The judge made the ruling in a temporary injunction granted to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, with whom the former Auburn College stars had signed 1955 contracts before joining the Browns.

Ted Kluszewski Six Days Ahead Of Ruth Record

Hits 41 Home Runs, 2nd In NL Batting

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, the strong man of the Cincinnati Redlegs, has renewed interest in home run records while moving into contention in the National League batting race.

Ted Kluszewski

Kluszewski walloped four homers against the St. Louis Cards over the weekend to bring his season's total to 41 in 118 games. In his first 118 games a year ago, the muscular first baseman hit 35 homers. He wound up with 49 to lead the league.

Actually, big Klu is in the odd position of being six games ahead of Babe Ruth's pace of 1927, when the Babe hit 60 and three games behind Hack Wilson's pace of 1930, the year the Chicago Cubs' slugger blasted 56 homers to set the National League standard.

Ruth did not hit his 41st homer until his 124th game and Wilson connected for his 41st in game No. 115.

Takes Second Place

Kluszewski moved up from fifth place to second in the batting scramble as a result of 13 point gain last week. He collected 16 hits in 32 at bats and was batting .326 when Sunday's action was over.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, who took over first place from Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, climbed five points to .333 in last week's games. Campanella dropped to the No. 3 spot at .322 by losing nine points with only four hits in 21 trips.

Smokey Burgess of Cincinnati went into fourth place by gaining 10 points. He had 11 hits in 25 at bats to move up to .315. Duke Snider of Brooklyn, who leads the circuit in runs batted in with 109, fell to fifth in batting with a six point decrease to .308.

In the American League, Al Kaline of Detroit still holds a commanding lead despite a three point drop to .348. He had eight hits in 26 at bats last week.

Harvey Kuenn, also of the Tigers, remained in the runnerup spot although he lost six points to .323. He had six hits in 26 times at bat.

Power In Third Place

Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .329 followed by Al Smith of Cleveland with .310 and George Kell of Chicago with .306. Power gained one point while Smith and George Kell of Chicago with .306. Power gained one point while Smith dropped five points and Kell seven.

Mantle still leads the American League in home runs with 27 while Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox has batted in the most runs, 90.

Illinois Star Is Ineligible

J. C. Caroline Fails Psychology Course

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 15 (AP)—J. C. Caroline of Columbia, S. C., captain-elect of the University of Illinois 1955 football team, today was declared scholastically ineligible to play football this season.

Officials of the university said Caroline was declared ineligible after he had failed to pass a summer course in psychology.

Caroline, a star halfback, withdrew from the university last April 29. At that time school officials said the withdrawal was made "in good standing" and that Caroline would enroll again in June for the summer term. It was this summer course he flunked.

In April a university spokesman said Caroline gave as reasons for dropping out of school the recent death of a grandfather and the serious illness of his mother.

Caroline led the nation in ground gaining as a sophomore in 1953. He dropped into virtual obscurity with a weak team last fall and missed part of the season with a shoulder injury.

Judge Forbids Gridders To Play With Cleveland

Freeman, Locklear Signed By Winnipeg

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 (AP) — A federal judge today forbade quarterback Bobby Freeman and center Jack Locklear to play with the Cleveland Browns this season, thus leaving the pro football team with only one quarterback.

Judge Paul Jones made the ruling in a temporary injunction granted to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, with whom the former Auburn College stars had signed 1955 contracts before joining the Browns.

Locklear, complaining of a heart murmer, already has quit football.

The Browns said they have not decided whether to drop the issue or take it to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Either way, they have lost the services of Freeman for the season because of the time which would be involved in a further court fight.

Left as the Browns' only quarterback was George Ratterman, in his first season on the first string.

There is a possibility that veteran quarterback Otto Graham may come out of retirement and rejoin the Browns. Cleveland Coach Paul Brown, however, declined to say whether he planned to ask Graham to come back.

Graham, who says he wants to devote all of his time to his insurance business, told a reporter he did not know what he would do if Brown invites him back.

"I sure hope they can get another quarterback," he said.

Head Man Cops 43rd Running Of Sanford Stakes

Defeats Prince John At Saratoga Springs

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Just 36 years ago, the late Harry Payne Whitney's Upset stunned the racing world beating Man O'War in the Sanford Stakes here. It was Big Red's only setback. And for the first time since that memorable upset, the Whitney colors again flew on high in the 43rd running of the 2-year-old event, when Head Man led home only four others before a crowd of 11,798, a drop of 2,500 from the gate a year ago.

The big difference between the triumphs of Upset and Head Man was that Head Man was a hot choice at $4.60, $2.70 and $2.30. He is owned by C. V. Whitney, son of the late sportsman. And Head Man had no such super horse as Man O'War to beat. Moreover, he is the first "maiden" to win the Sanford since C. Mahlon Kline's Slam Bang accounted for the Stakes in 1948.

Actually, the superior riding of Paul Bailey, of Buffalo, Ky., made it possible for Head Man to beat Elmendorf's Prince John by a half-length at the end of the 6 furlongs. It was clocked over a "good" track in the fast time of 1:11 4/5. Three lengths farther away was Natalie Lynch's Nan's Mink. Seven more spans back was Mrs. W. Thorn Kissel's Be-Wi, while Edward M. O'Brien's Folding Mon was a hopeless last. The only scratch was Nabob.

Giants Lose Dark With Fractured Rib

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS) — The New York Giants learned today that shortstop Al Dark has a fractured third rib and will be out of action for at least three weeks or a month.

The world champions, battling for second place in the National League, are expected to bring up one of their minor league shortstops to take Dark's place.

The Giant captain and sparkplug was injured last week when he was tagged out by Cincinnati's huge Ted Kluszewski in a play at first base. An X-ray at New York's Medical Center today revealed the fracture.

Set Draft Meeting

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today the annual major league draft meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 28, at Columbus, Ohio.

Florence Chadwick Fails In 2nd Try To Swim Channel

DOVER, England, Aug. 15 (AP)—Florence Chadwick failed a second time today in her attempt to swim the English Channel non-stop both ways, a feat never accomplished.

After seven and a half hours in the water, the 35-year-old former San Diego, Calif., secretary was pulled from the choppy water nine miles from the French coast.

Florence was beaten by the weather and the added complication of a foulup in the steering mechanism in her motor pilot boat.

Midway across, the waves began to slap her face fiercely. Then the buffeting made her ill.

She finally yielded to the entreaties from her pilot boat to give up the attempt. She smiled as she was pulled aboard for a return trip to Dover. Exhausted, she slept three hours on the way back.

Konstanty, Richardson Optioned By Yanks

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—The New York Yankees have optioned veteran relief pitcher Jim Konstanty, and Bob Richardson, 19-year-old infielder, to the Richmond Virginians of the International League.

The two players were sent down to make room on the roster for pitchers Bob Grim, who has been on the inactive list because of a sore elbow, and Gary (Rip) Coleman, young southpaw recently brought up from the Yanks' American Assn. farm in Denver.

Konstanty was a mainstay of the pitching staff during the early part of the season but in the late weeks he has not been as effective. He has a 6-2 record.

Red Schoendienst Fitted For "Specs"

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals has been fitted for glasses in an effort to bring up his batting average, his lowest in seven years at .272.

The 32-year-old second baseman, still fielding smartly despite increased fuzziness of vision, will start wearing the specs while playing as soon as he gets used to them.

"I wore them Friday for the first time all day, even drove to the park in 'em, then took 'em off and had trouble focusing at bat," Schoendienst said.

Gardner Recalled

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The New York Giants today called up shortstop Billy Gardner from Minneapolis of the American Association to replace injured Alvin Dark.

Dark recently suffered a cracked rib while being tagged out by Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati and will be out of action for at least a month.

Head Man Cops 43rd Running Of Sanford Stakes

Defeats Prince John At Saratoga Springs

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Just 36 years ago, the late Harry Payne Whitney's Upset stunned the racing world beating Man O'War in the Sanford Stakes here. It was Big Red's only setback. And for the first time since that memorable upset, the Whitney colors again flew on high in the 43rd running of the 2-year-old event, when Head Man led home only four others before a crowd of 11,798, a drop of 2,500 from the gate a year ago.

The big difference between the triumphs of Upset and Head Man was that Head Man was a hot choice at $4.60, $2.70 and $2.30. He is owned by C. V. Whitney, son of the late sportsman. And Head Man had no such super horse as Man O'War to beat. Moreover, he is the first "maiden" to win the Sanford since C. Mahlon Kline's Slam Bang accounted for the Stakes in 1948.

Actually, the superior riding of Paul Bailey, of Buffalo, Ky., made it possible for Head Man to beat Elmendorf's Prince John by a half-length at the end of the 6 furlongs. It was clocked over a "good" track in the fast time of 1:11 4/5. Three lengths farther away was Natalie Lynch's Nan's Mink. Seven more spans back was Mrs. W. Thorn Kissel's Be-Wi, while Edward M. O'Brien's Folding Mon was a hopeless last. The only scratch was Nabob.

Giants Lose Dark With Fractured Rib

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS) — The New York Giants learned today that shortstop Al Dark has a fractured third rib and will be out of action for at least three weeks or a month.

The world champions, battling for second place in the National League, are expected to bring up one of their minor league shortstops to take Dark's place.

The Giant captain and sparkplug was injured last week when he was tagged out by Cincinnati's huge Ted Kluszewski in a play at first base. An X-ray at New York's Medical Center today revealed the fracture.

Set Draft Meeting

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today the annual major league draft meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 28, at Columbus, Ohio.

A creek is a stream of water smaller than a river but larger than a brook.

Florence Chadwick Fails In 2nd Try To Swim Channel

DOVER, England, Aug. 15 (AP)—Florence Chadwick failed a second time today in her attempt to swim the English Channel non-stop both ways, a feat never accomplished.

After seven and a half hours in the water, the 35-year-old former San Diego, Calif., secretary was pulled from the choppy water nine miles from the French coast.

Florence was beaten by the weather and the added complication of a foulup in the steering mechanism in her motor pilot boat.

Midway across, the waves began to slap her face fiercely. Then the buffeting made her ill.

She finally yielded to the entreaties from her pilot boat to give up the attempt. She smiled as she was pulled aboard for a return trip to Dover. Exhausted, she slept three hours on the way back.

Konstanty, Richardson Optioned By Yanks

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—The New York Yankees have optioned veteran relief pitcher Jim Konstanty, and Bob Richardson, 19-year-old infielder, to the Richmond Virginians of the International League.

The two players were sent down to make room on the roster for pitchers Bob Grim, who has been on the inactive list because of a sore elbow, and Gary (Rip) Coleman, young southpaw recently brought up from the Yanks' American Assn. farm in Denver.

Konstanty was a mainstay of the pitching staff during the early part of the season but in the late weeks he has not been as effective. He has a 6-2 record.

Red Schoendienst Fitted For "Specs"

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals has been fitted for glasses in an effort to bring up his batting average, his lowest in seven years at .272.

The 32-year-old second baseman, still fielding smartly despite increased fuzziness of vision, will start wearing the specs while playing as soon as he gets used to them.

"I wore them Friday for the first time all day, even drove to the park in 'em, then took 'em off and had trouble focusing at bat," Schoendienst said.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The New York Giants today called up shortstop Billy Gardner from Minneapolis of the American Association to replace injured Alvin Dark.

BIDDING A QUESTIONABLE SLAM

IF PARTNERS insist on being a little optimistic in slam-bidding, it behooves them to "pick their spots." Suppose, for example, that they are all alone in the auction—that at no time have the opponents displayed a disposition to compete. In that case the slam should be approached with discretion and diffidence, because if it can't be made, nothing can save the bidders from their own exuberance.

If, however, the opponents are also doing a lot of bidding it may be the height of wisdom to bid a doubtful slam—simply because the enemy, not knowing that it is doubtful, may indulge in desperate sacrificing. Here is a case in point:

South dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
East-West 40 on score.

	♠ 6 ♥ A 9 3 ♦ 10 8 7 5 3 ♣ K Q 4 3
♠ K Q J 9 8 7 5 ♥ Q 6 ♦ 4 ♣ A 8 2	N W E S	♠ A 10 4 3 2 ♥ J 10 5 4 ♦ 6 ♣ J 9 7
	♠ — ♥ K 8 7 2 ♦ A K Q J 9 2 ♣ 10 6 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♠
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
Pass	6 ♠ (!)	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's leap to five diamonds and North's six-diamond bid were about equally optimistic. North had already made a free bid of clubs at the three-level, and South's diamond jump strongly implied that North's length there would not be nearly as valuable as other material he might have held.

However, the fate of the six-diamond contract was no longer an issue inasmuch as West decided to "sacrifice." Certainly, this was a highly dubious decision—unless West took it for granted that anything the opponents bid, they could make.

North, defending against six spades doubled, opened his fourth-highest diamond; South won and returned the club five. Declarer (West) ducked, and North won with the queen. Now, giving declarer no chance to establish hearts and discard a club, North underled the heart ace. South put up the king and led another club, and thus the quite needless sacrifice contract was defeated four tricks, 700 points.

It is plain to be seen that South would have gone down at six diamonds.

Apparently Insignificant Little Things Figure In Major Unsolved Crimes Of '55

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A car beneath a viaduct . . . a roll of adhesive tape . . . flecks of blood on a beach . . . a note on a department store floor . . . school books on a filling station desk . . . an Indian hunting frogs . . . flies hovering in spring air.

From such ordinary little things spring mystery—as intriguing and as baffling as ever dreamed up across the ages by mankind's story tellers.

Each of these apparently insignificant little things figured in the nation's list of major unsolved 1955 crimes.

The latest mystery began in Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 4, when attractive Mrs. Wilma Allen disappeared after a visit to a beauty shop. It was her car that was found beneath the viaduct, her blood-stained clothing inside it.

Three days later, her nude body, beaten and shot, was found in an isolated pasture 25 miles southwest of Kansas City.

A car beneath a viaduct—and Kansas City police find themselves with a major mystery on their hands. Clues are few.

One of the most intriguing cases in years broke last Jan. 27 in a luxurious mansion on New York's Fifth Avenue. There a butler found on the pale green wall-to-wall carpeting of his master bedroom the trussed and strangled body of multimillionaire draft dodger Serge Rubinstein.

Many persons may have had reason to wish Serge Rubinstein dead. In his 46 years he had broken many men with ruthless financial manipulations. He had served time in prison where he reportedly made enemies. His avid pursuit of beautiful young women could have made him a target of jealous hatred.

New York's finest homicide detectives have worked on the Rubinstein case for nearly seven months now. And there is no evidence that they have gotten any place.

The killer or killers gagged Serge with a roll of adhesive tape. Find where the tape came from and you may unravel the whole mystery.

Last June 15, Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth, 58, and his wife, Marjorie, 57, disappeared without trace from their oceanfront home near Palm Beach, Fla. Rewards totaling $120,250 for a clue to their whereabouts have gone unclaimed.

All their personal effects were still in the house. Two cars were in the garage.

A floodlight on the sunporch was smashed. The beach bore evidence of a struggle.

Bloodstains were found on steps leading to the beach. If police could only determine how the little flecks of blood got there, a mystery might be solved.

In Portland, Ore., last April 15, a woman handed an employe of the Meier & Frank department store an envelope she said she found on the floor. It was addressed to the store's president, Aaron Frank.

As Frank read the note inside, a bomb exploded in a third floor washroom, eight floors below his office. Two persons were slightly injured.

The note warned that a second bomb would explode next day unless Frank paid $50,000 in small bills. He sent an emissary 125 miles in a taxi to await three flashes of headlights from behind as a rendezvous signal. But the lights never flashed, the contact with the extortioners was never made.

The second bomb never went off. More than 100 persons have been questioned, a $28,000 reward posted.

But the mystery still persists. How did the envelope get on the floor? Who put it there?

Early on the morning of last March 8, the body of 24-year-old Donald Keith Keyes was found slumped over his school books at the Columbus, O., filling station where he worked.

He had been shot in the head with a shotgun.

Keyes was a junior at Ohio State University, an Air Force veteran, the father of two small children, active in church work and athletics.

Police are still without a single clue to his slayer.

A young man and his school books, a murder, and a mystery.

The body of 16-year-old David Ruff was found weighted with stones in a river near Bottineau, N.D., July 24 by an Indian woman hunting frogs. He last had been seen four days earlier leaving the home of a girl friend in his home town of Minot, N.D., 50 miles away.

Ruff apparently had been strangled. But there was no apparent motive, no suspect.

On a farm in Delaware County, Oklahoma, last May 4 police were checking the whereabouts of 44-year-old Joseph Werner when they noticed flies hovering in the air above a certain spot.

There they found a shallow, debris covered grave. In it was the 312-pound body of Werner, shot to death.

His wife, Leota, 44, thrice married, was formally accused of his murder. But she has never been found. She mailed a letter from St. Louis to relatives May 8 threatening suicide and adding:

"If I'm ever found it will make sensational news."

What can she tell? Will she ever be taken alive? Or will the mystery linger on, a mystery that began with flies hovering in gentle spring air.

There are others around the country, equally baffling.

In Clarksburg, W.Va., 44-year-old Mrs. Frances Laughlin and her part-time maid, Mrs. Jo Ann Bland, 31, were found shot to death April 27 in the Laughlin home in a fashionable section of the city.

By whom? Why? There was no apparent motive, few clues. Investigators have gotten nowhere.

Two girls, Michael Ann Rayn, 14, and Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, were on their way to school near College Park, Md., last June 15. They never got there. Their bullet riddled bodies were found in a wooded picnic area. The girls were not raped. There seemed no motive for the slayings.

The bodies were found by a young girl and her dog, who together stumbled into mystery.

In Detroit, seven-year-old Barbara Gaca's disappearance sparked the biggest search in that city's history. Her body was found March 31. She had been strangled by a sex fiend.

Gary Dewayne Bray, less than two years old, disappeared from the yard of his Danieldale, Tex., home June 29 and there has been no trace of him since.

Donna Sue Davis, 2, was taken from her crib in Sioux City, Neb., July 10 and the next day her body was found in a cornfield.

J. Fred Koenig, one-time St. Louis Republican politician and convicted wartime black marketeer, was found shot to death June 22, his body stuffed in the trunk of his Cadillac in East St. Louis, Ill.

The body of 23-year-old Jocelyn Hickenlooper was found in a shallow grave in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 28. She had been missing 17 days, apparently had been buried alive.

Unsolved crimes, dark mysteries with such little things in their shadow as a car beneath a viaduct . . . a roll of adhesive tape.

Stock Prices Drift Down; Volume Exceptionally Low

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — The stock market went lazily lower today with few issues doing anything of a noteworthy nature.

Most leaders made only fractional changes either way. Some few swung quite widely.

Outstanding in that category was Du Pont. Directors declared a dividend of $1.50 a share as compared with $1.25 in the two previous quarters. The stock immediately dropped 6½ points. From there it worked up gradually and closed off 3 at 222.

American Sugar Refining added 4 at 82 following a good earnings report. Zenith Radio, a wide mover, jumped up 6 at 125½. North American Aviation, recently popular as an atomic stock, was ahead 2½ at 67¼.

The entire aircrafts division made fair progress. The steels were lower along with motors, rubbers, and railroads. Other sections were steady to mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 30 cents at $171.60. The industrial component of the average lost 50 cents and rails were down 20 cents while utilities remained unchanged.

The list was composed of only 1,105 individual issues, lowest since mid-February of 1954. There were 414 issues advancing and 435 declining with 22 new highs and 6 new lows for the year.

Volume was exceptionally low at 1,230,000 shares, less than half the daily average so far this year and the lowest since early in January of last year.

Apparently Insignificant Little Things Figure In Major Unsolved Crimes Of '55

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A car beneath a viaduct . . . a roll of adhesive tape . . . flecks of blood on a beach . . . a note on a department store floor . . . school books on a filling station desk . . . an Indian hunting frogs . . . flies hovering in spring air.

From such ordinary little things spring mystery—as intriguing and as baffling as ever dreamed up across the ages by mankind's story tellers.

Each of these apparently insignificant little things figured in the nation's list of major unsolved 1955 crimes.

The latest mystery began in Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 4, when attractive Mrs. Wilma Allen disappeared after a visit to a beauty shop. It was her car that was found beneath the viaduct, her blood-stained clothing inside it.

Three days later, her nude body, beaten and shot, was found in an isolated pasture 25 miles southwest of Kansas City.

A car beneath a viaduct—and Kansas City police find themselves with a major mystery on their hands. Clues are few.

One of the most intriguing cases in years broke last Jan. 27 in a luxurious mansion on New York's Fifth Avenue. There a butler found on the pale green wall-to-wall carpeting of his master bedroom the trussed and strangled body of multimillionaire draft dodger Serge Rubinstein.

Many persons may have had reason to wish Serge Rubinstein dead. In his 46 years he had broken many men with ruthless financial manipulations. He had served time in prison where he reportedly made enemies. His avid pursuit of beautiful young women could have made him a target of jealous hatred.

New York's finest homicide detectives have worked on the Rubinstein case for nearly seven months now. And there is no evidence that they have gotten any place.

The killer or killers gagged Serge with a roll of adhesive tape. Find where the tape came from and you may unravel the whole mystery.

Last June 15, Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth, 58, and his wife, Marjorie, 57, disappeared without trace from their oceanfront home near Palm Beach, Fla. Rewards totaling $120,250 for a clue to their whereabouts have gone unclaimed.

All their personal effects were still in the house. Two cars were in the garage.

A floodlight on the sunporch was smashed. The beach bore evidence of a struggle.

Bloodstains were found on steps leading to the beach. If police could only determine how the little flecks of blood got there, a mystery might be solved.

In Portland, Ore., last April 15, a woman handed an employe of the Meier & Frank department store an envelope she said she found on the floor. It was addressed to the store's president, Aaron Frank.

As Frank read the note inside, a bomb exploded in a third floor washroom, eight floors below his office. Two persons were slightly injured.

The note warned that a second bomb would explode next day unless Frank paid $50,000 in small bills. He sent an emissary 125 miles in a taxi to await three flashes of headlights from behind as a rendezvous signal. But the lights never flashed, the contact with the extortioners was never made.

The second bomb never went off. More than 100 persons have been questioned, a $28,000 reward posted.

But the mystery still persists. How did the envelope get on the floor? Who put it there?

Early on the morning of last March 8, the body of 24-year-old Donald Keith Keyes was found slumped over his school books at the Columbus, O., filling station where he worked.

He had been shot in the head with a shotgun.

Keyes was a junior at Ohio State University, an Air Force veteran, the father of two small children, active in church work and athletics.

Police are still without a single clue to his slayer.

A young man and his school books, a murder, and a mystery.

The body of 16-year-old David Ruff was found weighted with stones in a river near Bottineau, N.D., July 24 by an Indian woman hunting frogs. He last had been seen four days earlier leaving the home of a girl friend in his home town of Minot, N.D., 50 miles away.

Ruff apparently had been strangled. But there was no apparent motive, no suspect.

On a farm in Delaware County, Oklahoma, last May 4 police were checking the whereabouts of 44-year-old Joseph Werner when they noticed flies hovering in the air above a certain spot.

There they found a shallow, debris covered grave. In it was the 312-pound body of Werner, shot to death.

His wife, Leota, 44, thrice married, was formally accused of his murder. But she has never been found. She mailed a letter from St. Louis to relatives May 8 threatening suicide and adding:

"If I'm ever found it will make sensational news."

What can she tell? Will she ever be taken alive? Or will the mystery linger on, a mystery that began with flies hovering in gentle spring air.

There are others around the country, equally baffling.

In Clarksburg, W.Va., 44-year-old Mrs. Frances Laughlin and her part-time maid, Mrs. Jo Ann Bland, 31, were found shot to death April 27 in the Laughlin home in a fashionable section of the city.

By whom? Why? There was no apparent motive, few clues. Investigators have gotten nowhere.

Two girls, Michael Ann Rayn, 14, and Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, were on their way to school near College Park, Md., last June 15. They never got there. Their bullet riddled bodies were found in a wooded picnic area. The girls were not raped. There seemed no motive for the slayings.

The bodies were found by a young girl and her dog, who together stumbled into mystery.

In Detroit, seven-year-old Barbara Gaca's disappearance sparked the biggest search in that city's history. Her body was found March 31. She had been strangled by a sex fiend.

Gary Dewayne Bray, less than two years old, disappeared from the yard of his Danieldale, Tex., home June 29 and there has been no trace of him since.

Donna Sue Davis, 2, was taken from her crib in Sioux City, Neb., July 10 and the next day her body was found in a cornfield.

J. Fred Koenig, one-time St. Louis Republican politician and convicted wartime black marketeer, was found shot to death June 22, his body stuffed in the trunk of his Cadillac in East St. Louis, Ill.

The body of 23-year-old Jocelyn Hickenlooper was found in a shallow grave in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 28. She had been missing 17 days, apparently had been buried alive.

Unsolved crimes, dark mysteries with such little things in their shadow as a car beneath a viaduct . . . a roll of adhesive tape.

Stock Prices Drift Down; Volume Exceptionally Low

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — The stock market went lazily lower today with few issues doing anything of a noteworthy nature.

Most leaders made only fractional changes either way. Some few swung quite widely.

Outstanding in that category was Du Pont. Directors declared a dividend of $1.50 a share as compared with $1.25 in the two previous quarters. The stock immediately dropped 6½ points. From there it worked up gradually and closed off 3 at 222.

American Sugar Refining added 4 at 82 following a good earnings report. Zenith Radio, a wide mover, jumped up 6 at 125½. North American Aviation, recently popular as an atomic stock, was ahead 2½ at 67¼.

The entire aircrafts division made fair progress. The steels were lower along with motors, rubbers, and railroads. Other sections were steady to mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 30 cents at $171.60. The industrial component of the average lost 50 cents and rails were down 20 cents while utilities remained unchanged.

The list was composed of only 1,105 individual issues, lowest since mid-February of 1954. There were 414 issues advancing and 435 declining with 22 new highs and 6 new lows for the year.

Volume was exceptionally low at 1,230,000 shares, less than half the daily average so far this year and the lowest since early in January of last year.

Diane Wilson Is Crowned Queen Of City's Bicentennial Celebration

First Staging Of Spectacle Thrills Crowd

Governor Joins In Ceremonies

Miss Diane Claire Wilson was crowned Bicentennial Queen last night as the first performance of "Redskins and Redcoats," the colorful historical spectacle illustrating the history of the City of Cumberland during the past two centuries was presented before up to 2,000 enthusiastic spectators at Fort Hill Stadium.

Miss Wilson, 23-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jeanne A. Wilson, 105 Washington Street, was crowned by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in a colorful ceremony during the prologue of the stirring historical spectacle.

Plaque From Oak

The Bicentennial Queen, who was sponsored by Labor's Bicentennial Committee, received from the governor a plaque made from a limb of the Wye Oak, the official Maryland tree.

She asked all to join in a prayer that the "next 200 years of the history of the Queen City will be unmarred by war and blessed with peace and prosperity."

Crowned Miss Future Cumberland by the governor was Mary J. Bedinger, the Little Queen of the Bicentennial.

"Thanks Teddy"

Held in the governor's arms, and asked to speak, the Little Queen said, "Thank you, Teddy."

After a colorful prologue honoring the American flag, the Bicentennial queens and their courts, flags and the youth of this city, Col. F. Egerton Powell, Bicentennial chairman, formally opened the pageant, and introduced Mayor Roy W. Eves, who represented the City of Cumberland.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, in a brief talk, reviewed accomplishments of the past and predicted that the future will be bright with promise.

Projects Cited

Sen. Beall pointed out that the Bicentennial year finds the Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge nearing completion as a part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection project which he has sponsored.

He hailed the recent decision of the Court of Appeals on the Overhead Expressway, saying the project, in the planning stages since 1928, will help alleviate traffic conditions in the city and make Baltimore Street one of the state's greatest shopping centers.

Sen. Beall paid tribute to Governor McKeldin's part in the growth of Frostburg State Teachers College and said the building program will continue as long as Gov. McKeldin is in office.

Mayor Gets Gavel

Gov. McKeldin presented Mayor Eves with a gavel made from the limb of the Wye Oak and welcomed all visitors to the Queen City.

Earlier yesterday, the Governor said Cumberland, the second of Maryland's great cities, must accomodate much of the state's growth and economic expansion in the years to come as it has in the past.

He warned "We cannot rest on what we have or what we have done. We cannot sit back and simply await developments."

The State of Maryland, he added, accepts the part it must maintain in keeping up with the industrial progress of today and preparing for the future.

Has Big Cast

The spectacle which had its first of six performances last night, was presented by a cast of over 1,000.

The prologue marked pagentry by trumpeters, pages, cadets, girls representing the states, a dramatic scene by flag bearing riders and the Nations Queen's scene, and closed with the appearance of boy, cub and girl scouts.

Governor Horatio Sharpe's ball, held at Annapolis during the fall of 1753, was the first episode.

Governor Greets Queens

20,000 Witness Float Parade Of Bicentennial

Governor Reviews Colorful Displays

Up to 20,000 persons lined downtown streets yesterday afternoon to watch the big float parade held as one of the opening events of the week-long Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration.

The event was a preview of the giant historical parade planned Saturday at 7 p. m. and expected to be the largest parade of its kind ever to be held in the Queen City of the Alleghenies.

The colorful Governor's Day spectacle was reviewed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, officials of the City of Cumberland and of the Bicentennial Committee.

Police In Front

Leading off the parade of floats prepared for the 200th anniversary celebration were state and city police followed by a color guard formed by Headquarters Company, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

The mood for the celebration of the old and the new, was set by the Celanese Corporation of America float, featuring a spinning wheel and a globe showing sites of units of the Celanese Corporation, which began operations here over a quarter of a century ago.

Ali Ghan Temple entered the second float, dramatizing the work of the Shriners Hospitals for crippled children.

Mountain Water

Following was the Cumberland Brewing Company float, featuring the local beverage and mountain water gushing from a mountain.

Monarch Foods, the Kelly Tire Service and Master Bakers Association of Western Maryland floats followed, and each brought cheers from the spectators.

Next in line of march came the Exchange Club and 40 and 8 Club exhibits.

King Neptune and his court was the theme of the Water Department float. Children represented the chemicals now used in preparing city water, including alum, ammonia, carbon, chlorine, copper sulphate, lime and soda ash, plus fluorine which is to be added as soon as modernization work now underway is completed.

Dancing Feet

Feet were set to dancing as the drum and bugle corps of Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, marched by the stand.

Among those delighted by the music, Gov. McKeldin remarked, "We don't have anything in Baltimore like this."

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, one of Cumberland's oldest industries, was represented by a replica of one of the modern diesel-electric engines which have virtually displaced steam over the railroad.

Tuned to the spirit of the Bicentennial were floats sponsored by the Down in the Valley Chapter of the Brothers of the Brush and the Old Narrows Park float, staffed by attractive Belles of the Valley chapter.

It drew an "Oh Man," comment from the Governor, who told those on the following Optimist Club float, "You have to be optimists to follow that."

Greeted By Cheers

Cheers greeted the appearance of the C & P Telephone Company float, the largest unit in the parade, which heralded the coming conversion from manual to dial operation here Sunday at 12:05 a. m.

The Cumberland Ministerial Association float, "Hope of the World," and entries of the Girl Scouts and Cumberland Lions Club all brought cheers from the thousands who lined downtown streets.

Governor McKeldin told the driver of the Speelman ice cream entry, "You can stop right here and unload."

Civil Service Board Named At Lonaconing

Leslie J. Clark To Be Chairman

The Mayor and Council of Lonaconing last night appointed three residents of that community to serve on the newly-created Civil Service Board.

Chairman for the next two years will be Leslie J. Clark while Robert Peebles will serve on the board six years and William Moyer Jr., a period of four years.

Mayor Virgil Alexander pointed out that the men will be sworn in at a later date. Meanwhile more data on the newly created board will be studied.

The board was created after the police department was placed under civil service. A civil service ordinance was also unanimously adopted last night, according to Mayor Alexander.

Other routine business was discussed and acted upon during the meeting. Councilman William Garlitz, chairman of the light committee, requested that a light be placed in the rear of the tennis court along Furnace Street extended.

The motion was passed unanimously. Garlitz also requested that Roosevelt Avenue be made one-way. Mayor Alexander referred the matter to Police and Fire Commissioner Robert M. Grove who is to make an investigation and report at the next regular meeting.

Peace Officer Quail Wilson recommended that the one-hour overtime parking fee of 10 cents be increased to 25 cents. This matter was taken under consideration.

Mayor Alexander also requested Commissioner Grove to check on reports of boys playing ball in the rear of Central School during the early hours of the morning. It was also suggested to have police patrol that area.

Howard Wilson, a Charlestown resident, appeared before the Mayor and Council and complained that part of his property near Ten Cent Bridge was used when recent road grading work was done by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

City Attorney James S. Getty and William H. Berry, chairman of roads, were notified to investigate and send a letter to Wilson on their findings.

Getty said he will secure property owners' signatures near East End Bridge in order that a sidewalk for the protection of school children may be constructed.

The State Roads Commission plans to construct a sidewalk alongside the bridge. In another matter, Getty feels that the community has no responsibility regarding the ownership of a sewer line Patrick Nolan wants to tap.

Getty pointed out that the sewer was laid years ago and he spent some time trying to track down the ownership and present status of the sewer. He feels the community has no responsibility in the matter and suggests a septic tank be installed on the property owned by Nolan.

West Virginia County May Buy Voting Booths

Two officials of Ohio County (W. Va.) came here from Wheeling yesterday to inspect election booths no longer needed by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors now that voting machines are being purchased.

William A. Wilson, board president, said that Ralph Wager, Ohio County purchasing agent, and George Vance, clerk to the Ohio County Commissioners, informed him yesterday that they would know today whether their county is interested in buying the booths.

Each voting machine is equipped with a curtain that closes behind the voter leaving him in privacy to cast his ballot.

Meanwhile, Wilson reported that the Board of Election Supervisors will continue to meet at 7:30 p. m. each Thursday to study the mechanism of the voting machines. Interested persons are invited to attend.

All county clubs and organizations which would like to be instructed in the use of voting machines may make arrangements by calling the board's office at 6130. Youth Day Set For Emphasis In City Today

Busy Program Of Events Mapped

Today the spotlight of the Bicentennial celebration will focus on the children of Cumberland and area as Youth Day is observed.

Activities including a picnic, games, relays, contests and tournaments, will get underway at 10 o'clock this morning in Constitution Park.

Robert E. Pence, director of the Cumberland Recreation Department, said he will be assisted in the various events by the leaders of the 16 city playlots.

Time For Lunch

Time will be taken off at noon for a lunch period and children are asked to bring their own meals. During the afternoon a treasure hunt will be held and also there will be free swimming in the park pool.

Various games and contests will be held at the pool. Meanwhile table games and card games will be held in the casino located near the pool for those uninterested in swimming.

The afternoon events will close at 4 p. m. and some 148 prizes will be awarded to the children in the various contests. Children will be separated into age groups in order that the competition will be equalized.

During the activities at the park the children will be entertained by Arizona Don and Dusty Shaver of two local radio stations.

A huge seven unit parade is scheduled to get underway at 5:30 p. m. today. Pence pointed out that there will be no floats in the line of march. The units will be pet, hat, flower, stuffed animal, costume, doll and "wheels on parade."

Parade Change

Pence added that a change has been made in the parade as previously announced. The young marchers will assemble in the Salem Street area and proceed to George Street and on to Baltimore.

They will continue down Baltimore Street to Mechanic and will march down South Mechanic Street to Harrison Street and disband at the Armory.

The parade will be led off with a pony and cart driven by Edward Hare and also by Larry Shinnamon, of LaVale, who will ride his pony while his brother, Louis, will ride his palomino.

This evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, there will be a presentation of awards to youth leaders of the recreation department at Fort Hill stadium.

Pence, who will present the awards, will also introduce Robert M. (Lefty) Grove, of Lonaconing, Hall of Fame baseball player, and Congressman James P. S. Devereux of the Second Congressional District of Maryland, of Wake Island fame, guest speakers.

Wyoming Cyclist Pedals In Bicentennial Parade

A 25-year-old law student at the University of Wyoming added an intersectional note to the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial parade yesterday afternoon and a few more miles to his bicycle trip from Laramie, Wyo., to New York City.

The bicyclist, who figures he will have pedaled and walked some 2,300 miles by the time he reached New York City August 24 is William W. Grant.

Grant confessed yesterday that he never had done any long distance bike riding until starting off on his journey from Wyoming July 24. Interviewed at the close of his first year in law school, Grant was offered a full year's scholarship at the University of Wyoming by Columbia pictures if he would engage in this cross-country stunt to plug a film called "The Man From Laramie."

Although it hadn't been planned when he left Laramie, Grant's stop in Cumberland gave him the opportunity of meeting Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. The cyclist pedaled over to the reviewing stand and shook the hand of Maryland's Governor as the parade passed the City Hall.

McKeldin was the fourth Governor the cyclist has met on his trip. Others were E. C. Johnson of Colorado, Fred Hall of Kansas and Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri.

Grant had to ride in a borrowed bicycle in the parade here. His own broke down about five miles west of town and he had to take it to a shop for repairs. He also noted that he had to walk much of the mountainous route between Uniontown and Cumberland.

One of the most exciting moments in his month-long trip occurred at Dodge City, Kansas, where an enterprising publicity man tried to get Grant to ride a wild bull named Earthquake. That wasn't in his contract, however. The young man from Wyoming is being accompanied in an automobile by William Brooker of Haddonfield, N. J., a Columbia representative.

Youth Given Sentence

Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday sentenced a 15-yar-old county youth to an indeterminate sentence in the Maryland Training School, Loch Raven, for being a delinquent minor. Baron said the boy was a charge of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

Celebration Gets Network Plug

Ted Malone gave the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration a plug over his American Broadcasting Company network radio show but in so doing used a Massachusetts man for an illustration.

Malone said that a man named Joe Palmer from Fitchburg, Mass., became most unpopular in his hometown around 1840 by growing a beard, which was not the custom in those days. Eventually his efforts, including a term in jail, helped make beards popular.

Then the radio man wondered whether the same thing might result here where the Brothers of the Brush are growing beards for the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration. The program was heard locally over WDYK.

Good Old Days

The float featuring the Baltimore Avenue Hilly Bush Boys and Belles brought plenty of laughs from the thousands of spectators who witnessed the parade yesterday in conjunction with the current celebration of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial. The hard working "mammy" at the left, the copper still, the jugs of corn "likker" and the outhouse with the mail order catalog all were reminders of a period often referred to as the "good old days." Other Bells and Brushes participated.

Bright New Days

This Telephone Company float featuring Cumberland's new view, the world's most modern dial telephone system, was one of the many attractive floats in yesterday's Bicentennial parade. Each attractive girl on the float bears a designation for a different major American city which can be dialed directly from Cumberland when the new phone system is placed in operation here for the first time just five minutes after Saturday night. All girls are employes of the Cumberland office of C & P Telephone Co.

Diane Wilson Is Crowned Queen Of City's Bicentennial Celebration

Governor Joins In Ceremonies

Miss Diane Claire Wilson was crowned Bicentennial Queen last night as the first performance of "Redskins and Redcoats," the colorful historical spectacle illustrating the history of the City of Cumberland during the past two centuries was presented before up to 2,000 enthusiastic spectators at Fort Hill Stadium.

Miss Wilson, 23-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jeanne A. Wilson, 105 Washington Street, was crowned by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in a colorful ceremony during the prologue of the stirring historical spectacle.

Plaque From Oak

The Bicentennial Queen, who was sponsored by Labor's Bicentennial Committee, received from the governor a plaque made from a limb of the Wye Oak, the official Maryland tree.

She asked all to join in a prayer that the "next 200 years of the history of the Queen City will be unmarred by war and blessed with peace and prosperity."

Crowned Miss Future Cumberland by the governor was Mary J. Bedinger, the Little Queen of the Bicentennial.

"Thanks Teddy"

Held in the governor's arms, and asked to speak, the Little Queen said, "Thank you, Teddy."

After a colorful prologue honoring the American flag, the Bicentennial queens and their courts, flags and the youth of this city, Col. F. Egerton Powell, Bicentennial chairman, formally opened the pageant, and introduced Mayor Roy W. Eves, who represented the City of Cumberland.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, in a brief talk, reviewed accomplishments of the past and predicted that the future will be bright with promise.

Projects Cited

Sen. Beall pointed out that the Bicentennial year finds the Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge nearing completion as a part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection project which he has sponsored.

He hailed the recent decision of the Court of Appeals on the Overhead Expressway, saying the project, in the planning stages since 1928, will help alleviate traffic conditions in the city and make Baltimore Street one of the state's greatest shopping centers.

Sen. Beall paid tribute to Governor McKeldin's part in the growth of Frostburg State Teachers College and said the building program will continue as long as Gov. McKeldin is in office.

Mayor Gets Gavel

Gov. McKeldin presented Mayor Eves with a gavel made from the limb of the Wye Oak and welcomed all visitors to the Queen City.

Earlier yesterday, the Governor said Cumberland, the second of Maryland's great cities, must accomodate much of the state's growth and economic expansion in the years to come as it has in the past.

He warned "We cannot . . . rest on what we have or what we have done. We cannot sit back and simply await developments."

The State of Maryland, he added, accepts the part it must maintain in keeping up with the industrial progress of today and preparing for the future.

Has Big Cast

The spectacle which had its first of six performances last night, was presented by a cast of over 1,000.

The prologue marked pagentry by trumpeters, pages, cadets, girls representing the states, a dramatic scene by flag bearing riders and the Nations Queen's scene, and closed with the appearance of boy, cub and girl scouts.

Governor Horatio Sharpe's ball, held at Annapolis during the fall of 1753, was the first episode.

Governor Greets Queens

20,000 Witness Float Parade Of Bicentennial

Governor Reviews Colorful Displays

Up to 20,000 persons lined downtown streets yesterday afternoon to watch the big float parade held as one of the opening events of the week-long Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Celebration.

The event was a preview of the giant historical parade planned Saturday at 7 p. m. and expected to be the largest parade of its kind ever to be held in the Queen City of the Alleghenies.

The colorful Governor's Day spectacle was reviewed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, officials of the City of Cumberland and of the Bicentennial Committee.

Police In Front

Leading off the parade of floats prepared for the 200th anniversary celebration were state and city police followed by a color guard formed by Headquarters Company, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

The mood for the celebration of the old and the new, was set by the Celanese Corporation of America float, featuring a spinning wheel and a globe showing sites of units of the Celanese Corporation, which began operations here over a quarter of a century ago.

Ali Ghan Temple entered the second float, dramatizing the work of the Shriners Hospitals for crippled children.

Mountain Water

Following was the Cumberland Brewing Company float, featuring the local beverage and mountain water gushing from a mountain.

Monarch Foods, the Kelly Tire Service and Master Bakers Association of Western Maryland floats followed, and each brought cheers from the spectators.

Next in line of march came the Exchange Club and 40 and 8 Club exhibits.

King Neptune and his court was the theme of the Water Department float. Children represented the chemicals now used in preparing city water, including alum, ammonia, carbon, chlorine, copper sulphate, lime and soda ash, plus fluorine which is to be added as soon as modernization work now underway is completed.

Dancing Feet

Feet were set to dancing as the drum and bugle corps of Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, marched by the stand.

Among those delighted by the music, Gov. McKeldin remarked, "We don't have anything in Baltimore like this."

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, one of Cumberland's oldest industries, was represented by a replica of one of the modern diesel-electric engines which have virtually displaced steam over the railroad.

Tuned to the spirit of the Bicentennial were floats sponsored by the Down in the Valley Chapter of the Brothers of the Brush and the Old Narrows Park float, staffed by attractive Belles of the Valley chapter.

It drew an "Oh Man," comment from the Governor, who told those on the following Optimist Club float, "You have to be optimists to follow that."

Greeted By Cheers

Cheers greeted the appearance of the C & P Telephone Company float, the largest unit in the parade, which heralded the coming conversion from manual to dial operation here Sunday at 12:05 a. m.

The Cumberland Ministerial Association float, "Hope of the World," and entries of the Girl Scouts and Cumberland Lions Club all brought cheers from the thousands who lined downtown streets.

Governor McKeldin told the driver of the Speelman ice cream entry, "You can stop right here and unload."

Civil Service Board Named At Lonaconing

Leslie J. Clark To Be Chairman

The Mayor and Council of Lonaconing last night appointed three residents of that community to serve on the newly-created Civil Service Board.

Chairman for the next two years will be Leslie J. Clark while Robert Peebles will serve on the board six years and William Moyer Jr., a period of four years.

Mayor Virgil Alexander pointed out that the men will be sworn in at a later date. Meanwhile more data on the newly created board will be studied.

The board was created after the police department was placed under civil service. A civil service ordinance was also unanimously adopted last night, according to Mayor Alexander.

Other routine business was discussed and acted upon during the meeting. Councilman William Garlitz, chairman of the light committee, requested that a light be placed in the rear of the tennis court along Furnace Street extended.

The motion was passed unanimously. Garlitz also requested that Roosevelt Avenue be made one-way. Mayor Alexander referred the matter to Police and Fire Commissioner Robert M. Grove who is to make an investigation and report at the next regular meeting.

Peace Officer Quail Wilson recommended that the one-hour overtime parking fee of 10 cents be increased to 25 cents. This matter was taken under consideration.

Mayor Alexander also requested Commissioner Grove to check on reports of boys playing ball in the rear of Central School during the early hours of the morning. It was also suggested to have police patrol that area.

Howard Wilson, a Charlestown resident, appeared before the Mayor and Council and complained that part of his property near Ten Cent Bridge was used when recent road grading work was done by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

City Attorney James S. Getty and William H. Berry, chairman of roads, were notified to investigate and send a letter to Wilson on their findings.

Getty said he will secure property owners' signatures near East End Bridge in order that a sidewalk for the protection of school children may be constructed.

The State Roads Commission plans to construct a sidewalk alongside the bridge. In another matter, Getty feels that the community has no responsibility regarding the ownership of a sewer line Patrick Nolan wants to tap.

Getty pointed out that the sewer was laid years ago and he spent some time trying to track down the ownership and present status of the sewer. He feels the community has no responsibility in the matter and suggests a septic tank be installed on the property owned by Nolan.
